(9-Jul-05) Anytime your computer is infected with a virus, bogged down by spyware, attacked over your internet connection, or otherwise suffers from preventable problems, government agencies are responsible and are trying to silence you and are monitoring your computer files.
Ignore all traffic signs and feel free to trespass, you don't have to obey any rules.
Scare your enemies with lawsuits, police escorts and whines.
Always back up your empty (albeit noisy) threats with phony LARTs, false police reports, and harassing letters to the FBI and other gubbermint agencies.
Be vigilant in your redundancy. The more you repeat yourself, the more likely others will believe you!
If you can't find anyone as crazy as yourself to support you in the flamewars you start with the normal population, create sock puppets and use anonymous remailers that shamelessly hang on every word you write.
(17-Mar-05) When dealing with law enforcement, remember that it is they who have the problem, not you. Be sure to inform them of this at every available opportunity, as they will surely appreciate your constructive criticism. Be sure to make them aware that YOU KNOW YOUR RIGHTS! The more your fake personalities adulate you, the more respect you'll get!
When confronted with a reality that you don't like: Announce loudly that you are departing, never to return as long as there's an Internet. Come back in three or four days and claim you were drunk, hacked, abducted by alience, or forged. Alternately you can just not even mention your prior departure, and if anyone asks you about it, either ignore them or respond with something along the lines of "YOUR NOT THE BOSS OF ME! PLONK!" People really know you mean business then.
Always remain clueproof.

Odd you mention that. My brother married a Bozo. She used to punch up the button on the phone answering machine and talk back to the voice messages.
She could never understand why they didn't talk back to her.
After all, she'd say, "they told me to call them back."
When I explained to her that she was supposed to pick up the phone and call them back, she'd hit the replay button and pick up the phone and say, "Hello?" Then she'd tell me that nobody was there. Hello? Is anybody home?
She certainly wasn't.
She is a no-code Tech, by the way.

1957. Build my own RSM for Motorola XTS 2500

Hi there,

I would like to build my own Remote Speaker Microphone that would connect to my Motorola XTS 2500. I also want to control the Channels and the Volume using that same device.

Where can I find the code table that would let me "talk" to the XTS 2500 through its serial port ?

Any recommended starting point for this project ?

Thanks a lot,
Gal.

Tell him to put it in his pipe and smoke it. If they don't like it, tell them to deal with it. Maybe the first suggestion would be for the sour grapes to hit the road.

Mark was at the American Elasmobranch Society trying to obtain his Ichthyologist Endorsement. Unfortunately, he couldn't get past the part of the test where he had to spell "ichthyologist," and he'll still not be allowed to post to rec.ichthyologist.elasmobranch.moderated.

Mark is still enjoying the orgasmic afterglow of being able to get a disjointed post through to the new moderated group. He said:
"while not exactly human powered I have several smaller backpackable solar unit the charge my NiCads well (I bought a huge supply of NiCads

I like to leave my Yaesu VX-7R turned on in the CD15A charging cradle. But after a number of hours, the display goes blank and the strobe indicator rapidly flashes blue. The unit appears dead until I lift it out of the cradle. Then everything is back to normal. Note that the "Automatic Power Off" feature is disabled. What gives? Can't I charge and listen at the same time?

1980. For New Hams

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc
Date: 2007-02-25 20:17:12 UTC
From: Jeff <hammer707@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <45e1eec9$0$16695$4c368faf@roadrunner.com>
Source record: 20511

The 30 Steps below will help all New Hams and Generals/Extras trying VHF for the first time.

Step One: Use as many "Q" signals as possible. Yes, I know they were invented solely for CW and are totally inappropriate for two meter FM, but they are fun and entertaining. They keep people guessing as to what you really meant. I.E. "I'm going to QSY to the phone." Can you really change frequencies to the phone? QSL used to mean, "I am acknowledging receipt", but now it appears to mean, "yes" or "OK". I guess I missed it when the ARRL changed the meaning. It is also best to use "OK" and "QSL" together. Redundancy is the better part of Lid-dom.

Step Two: Never laugh when you can say "HI HI". No one will ever know you aren't a long time CW rag-chewer if you don't tell them. They'll think you've been on since the days of Marconi.

Step Three: Utilize an alternative vocabulary. Use words like "destinated" and "negatory". It's OK to make up your own words here. I.E. "Yeah Tom, I "pheelbart zaphonix" occasionally myself."

Step Four: Always say "XX4XXX" (Insert your own call) "for I.D." As mentioned in Step One, anything that creates redundancy is always encouraged. That's why we have the Department of Redundancy Department. (Please note that you can follow your call with "for identification purposes" instead of "for I.D." While taking longer to say, it is worth more "LID points".

Step Five: The better the copy on two meter FM, the more you should use phonetics. Names should be especially used if they are short or common ones. I.E. "My name is Al... Alpha Lima" or "Jack.. Juliet Alpha Charlie Kilo." If at all possible use the less common HF phonetics "A4SM... America, Number Four, Sugar Mexico." And for maximum "LID points", make up unintelligible phonetics. "My name is Bob... Billibong Oregano Bumperpool."

Step Six: Always give the calls of yourself and everyone who is (or has been) in the group, whether they are still there or not. While this has been unnecessary for years, it is still a great memory test. You may also use "and the group" if you are an "old timer" or just have a bad memory. Extra points for saying everyone's call and then clearing in a silly way "K2PKK, Chow, Chow."

Step Seven: Whenever possible, use the wrong terminology. It keeps people guessing. Use "modulation" when you mean "deviation", and vice-versa.

Step Eight: If someone asks for a break, always finish your turn, taking as long as possible before turning it over. Whenever possible, pass it around a few times first. This will discourage the breaker, and if it is an emergency, encourage him to switch to another repeater and not bother you.

Step Nine: Always ask involved questions of the person who is trying to sign out. Never let him get by with just a "yes" or "no" answer. Make it a question that will take him a long time to answer.

Step Ten: The less you know on a subject, the more you should speculate about it in the roundtable. Also the amount of time you spend on the subject should be inversely proportionate to your knowledge of the subject even though you have no damn clue.

Step Eleven: Always make sure you try to communicate with only a handheld and a rubber duck antenna. Also, make sure you work through a repeater that you can hear very well, but it cannot hear you. This will put out a kind of "LID mating call": "Well, Joe, I can hear the repeater just fine here. I wonder why it can't hear me?" You will score maximum LID points if you are mobile, and with the radio lying in the passenger seat.

Step Twelve: If you hear two amateurs start a conversation, wait until they are twenty seconds into their contact, and then break in to make a call, or better yet to use the auto-patch. Make sure you keep the repeater tied up for at least three minutes. This way, once the two have re-established contact, they won't even remember what they were talking about.

Step Thirteen: You hear someone on the repeater giving directions to a visiting amateur. Even if the directions are good, make sure you break in with your own "alternate route but better way to get there" version. This is most effective with several other "would-be LIDs", each giving a different route. By the time the visiting amateur unscrambles all the street names whizzing by in his mind, he should have moved out of the range of the repeater. This keeps you from having to stick around to help the guy get back out of town, later.

Step Fourteen: If an annoying station is bothering you, make sure your other "LID" buddies have a "coded" frequency list. Even though "CODES" are strictly forbidden on Amateur Radio, it's really neat to practice "James Bond" tactics.

Step Fifteen: Always use the National Calling Frequency for general conversations. The more uninteresting, the longer you should use it. Extra points are awarded if you have recently move from an adjacent frequency for no reason. Make sure when DX is "rolling" in on 52.525 that you hang out there and talk to your friends five miles down the road about the good old CB days!

Step Sixteen: Make sure that if you have a personal problem with someone, you should voice your opinion in a public forum, especially a net. Make sure you give their name, call, and any other identifying remarks. For maximum points, make sure the person in question is not on the repeater, or not available.

Step Seventeen: Make sure you say the first few words of each transmission twice, especially if it is the same thing each time. Like "roger, roger" or "fine business, fine business". I cannot stress enough about encouraging redundancy.

Step Eighteen: If you hear a conversation on a local repeater, break in and ask how each station is receiving you. Of course they will only see the signal of the repeater you are using, but it's that magic moment when you can find a fellow "LID", and get the report. Extra points are awarded if you are using a base station, and the repeater is less than twenty-five air miles from you.

Step Nineteen: Use the repeater for an hour or two at a time, preventing others from using it. Better yet, do it on a daily basis. Your quest is to make people so sick of hearing your voice every time they turn on their radio, they'll move to another frequency. This way you'll lighten the load on the repeater, leaving even more time for you to talk on it.

Step Twenty: See just how much flutter you can generate by operating at handheld power levels too far away from the repeater. Engage people in conversations when you know they wont be able to copy half of what your saying. Even when they say your uncopyable, continue to string them along by making further transmissions. See just how frustrated you can make the other amateur before he finally signs off in disgust.

Step Twenty One: Use lots of radio jargon. After all, it makes you feel important using words ordinary people don't say. Who cares if it makes you sound like you just fell off Channel 19 on the citizen's Band? Use phrases such as "Roger on that", "10-4", "I'm on the side", "Your making the trip" and "Negatory on that".

Step Twenty Two: Use excessive microphone gain. See just how loud you can make your audio. Make sure the audio gain is so high that other amateurs can hear any bugs crawling on your floor. If mobile, make sure the wind noise is loud enough that others have to strain to pick your words out from all the racket.

Step Twenty Three: Start every transmission with the word "Roger" or "QSL". Sure, you don't need to acknowledge that you received the other transmission in full. After all, you would simply ask for a repeat if you missed something. But consider it your gift to the other amateur to give him solace every few seconds that his transmissions are being received.

Step Twenty Four: When looking for a contact on a repeater, always say your "listening" or "monitoring" multiple times. I've always found that at least a half dozen times or so is good. Repeating your multiple "listening" ID's every 10 to 15 seconds is even better. Those people who didn't want to talk to you will eventually call you, hoping you'll go away after you have finally made a contact.

Step Twenty Five: Always use a repeater, even if you can work the other station easily on simplex ... especially if you can make the contact on simplex. The coverage of the repeater you use should be inversely proportional to your distance from the other station.

Step Twenty Six: When on repeaters using courtesy tones, you should always say "over". Courtesy tones are designed to let everyone know when you have unkeyed but don't let that stop you. Say "over", "back to you" or "go ahead". It serves no useful purpose but don't worry, it's still fun!

Step Twenty Seven: Use the repeater's autopatch for frivolous routine calls... especially during morning or evening commute times. While pulling into the neighborhood, call home to let them know you'll be there in two minutes.... or, call your spouse to complain about the bad day you had at work. After all, the club has "measured rate" service on their phone line so they get charged for each autopatch call. Your endeavor is to make so many patches in a year that you cost the club at least $20 in phone bills. That way you'll feel you got your money's worth for your dues!

Step Twenty Eight: Never say "My name is ....." It makes you sound human. If at all possible, use one of the following phrases: a) "The personal here is ..." b) "The handle here is..."

Step Twenty Nine: Use "73" and "88" incorrectly. Both are already considered plural, but add a "s" to the end anyway. Say "73's" or "88's". Who cares if it means "best regards" and "love and kisses." Better yet, say "seventy thirds"! (By the way, seventy thirds equals about 23.3).

Step Thirty: If the repeater is off the air for service, complain about the fact that it was off the air as soon as it's turned back on. Act as though your entire day has been ruined because the repeater wasn't available when you wanted to use it. Even thought you have never paid a penny to help out with the upkeep of it.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3B6, AGALEGA ISLAND (DXpedition Update). Team leader Witek, SP9MRO, sent out the following press release (edited): "2007 DXpedition to Agalega Islands 3B6 Newsletter No. 3 -- Today (February 21st) the decision to suspend the expedition to 3B6 Agalega had been taken. We will decide on March 15th whether it is postponed only or rather cancelled. The decision is due to enormous costs of the expedition that have much exceeded the estimated budget.

The expedition was supported by PZK, SP-DX-C, G DX Foundation, EU DX Foundation and institutional sponsors as well as other hams from a few countries. We would like to thank all of those. Our main sponsors have decided that the period between receiving the licenses and the time set by Mauritius' government to start the ham's activity is too short.
Due to all of that, expedition's members are checking the possibility to postpone it until the 4th term of 2007 unless it collides with September's expedition to St. Brandon.
All of the donations will be immediately returned the same form they were paid. We hope that, in case of reorganizing the expedition to Agalega in the end of this year, our kind donors will be able to support us once again. We would like to thank those who supported our actions, especially those from Mauritius. Simultaneously we would like to apologize to all of those who along with us counted on QSO in March 2007."

3DA, SWAZILAND. Operators Filip/ON4AEO, Kath/ON7BK, Danie/ZS6VWD and Elize/ZS6EMH will be active as 3DA0FC from April 5-9th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters including the WARC bands. QSL via ON4CJK. The group's Web pages are: http://www.3da0fc.be http://www.filipstattooshop.be/swaziland

6Y, JAMAICA. Iain, KI4HLV, is expected to be active as KI4HLV/6Y5 on the satellites from Kingston very soon. He is expected to be active there for an extended time. Hopefully, more details will be forthcoming. If anyone needs/wants 6Y5 on the satellites, please contact Iain at: ki4hlv@gmail.com

9U, BURUNDI. Operators Franz/DJ9ZB and Baldur/DJ6SI are now active as 9U9Z and 9U0X, respectively, until March 1st. Activity is expected to be on 160-10 meters on CW and SSB. Baldur has been heard mainly on CW and active on 30/20/17/15 meters. Franz has been mainly SSB on 20/17 meters. QSL 9U0X via DJ6SI and 9U9Z via DJ9ZB.

AH7, HAWAII. Bill, W8QZA, will be operating from the QTH of KH6SQ for the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as AH7ZA. His category will be All-Band/QRP. QSL via W8QZA.

BD3, CHINA. Look for Zhang, BD3APX, to be active during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as a Single-Op/Low-Power entry. QSL via BD3APX.

BS7, SCARBOROUGH REEF. The following is another press release on the upcoming DXpedition to Huang Yan Dao (Scarborough Reef) which will take place in late April. PRESS RELEASE (February 21, 2007): "Plans and arrangements are on track for the scheduled date of late April. Equipment is being received from sponsors and testing will begin soon. So far Icom, Acom, SteppIR, Butternut and Heil have provided equipment.
To those who have already sent donations, thank you. Please help us make this operation a success by assisting with a donation. You can see your donation listed on our web site at www.bs7h.com. Your donations can be received using Pay Pal, credit card or by mail as explained on the web site. All support is appreciated. You can also sponsor a page on the web site, contact N1DG if interested at don@aurumtel.com."... Tom, N4XP

The multi-national team is seeking financial contributions to help defray the cost of this DXpedition. Full details on how to contribute can be found on the DXpedition's Web site at: http://www.bs7h.com/

CT3, MADEIRA ISLANDS. Operators Rosel/DL3KWR and Hardy/DL3KWF will be active again as CT3/DL3KWR and CT3/DL3KWF, respectively, March 8-22nd. Activity will be mostly CW and on the WARC bands. QSL via their home callsign. E-mail requests for bureau cards can be sent to: <dl3kwr@darc.de> or <dl3kwf@darc.de>, respectively. Their Web site is at: http://www.mydarc.de/dl3kwr

CU2, AZORES. Look for Pedro, CU2CR, to be active during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as a Single-Op/Low-Power entry. QSL via CU2CR.

E5, SOUTH COOK ISLANDS. Remember to look for Bob, G3PJT, to be active from Raratonga Island (OC-013), March 3-17th. He has requested the callsign of E51PJT. Activity will mainly be CW and an entry in the RSGB Commonwealth Contest (March 10-11th). QSL via his home callsign, direct or by the bureau. E-mail requests for bureau cards can be sent to: g3pjt@btinternet.com

FY, FRENCH GUIANA. Oliver, F5MZN, will be active as FY5KE during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as Single-Op/All-Band/ Low or High-Power entry. QSL via FY5KE.

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-079. Take, JI3DST, will be active as JI3DST/JS6 or JS6RRR from Miyako Islands, March 2-5th. Look for him to be especially active on 160/80/40 meters. QSL via his home callsign through the JARL bureau only.

AS-148. Operators Rocky/HL1VAU, Ryu/DS4NYE and Han/DS2GOO plan to activate Sonyu Island (Korean Districtiion Number G02) on March 1-4th. Operators will sign homecall/4. Activity will be on 40-10 meters CW/SSB/RTTY and PSK31. Their activities will also include the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) signing as D70LW/4 and possibly as a Single-Op/Single-Band (20m)/High-Power entry. QSL via their home callsigns and D70LW/4 via DS4NYE. Look for pictures and online logs to be available after their return trip.

OC-164. (Update/Change) Operator John, VK6HZ, will be active as VK6ARI from Rottnest Island (WLOTA LH-2197), March 2-11th. This will be a holiday style operation (between fishing, drinking beer, fishing, spending time with his family, drinking beer and fishing!) using an IC-7000 on SSB, PSK and RTTY, possibly CW. Activity will be around the usual IOTA frequencies. John informs OPDX that he hopes to be up on 40 meters SSB during the evenings, then the following mornings. He suggests to look for him around 1100z for an hour or two, and 2200z, again for an hour or 2 on 7055 kHz SSB or 7030 kHz CW. John states, "Look on 6 meters (50.110) for VK/JA, but please don't expect much! Hope to spend some time over the weekend of March 3-4th on 20 and 15 meters SSB/RTTY and maybe some PSK. Will hopefully have online logs uploaded each evening at: http://home.exetel.com.au/vk6hz If not during the operation, the logs will be avaliable after March 15th online. QSL is via VK6NE."

MOST WANTED OCEANIA SURVEY DEADLINE APPROACHING. Mark, ZL3AB, wants to remind operators in VK/ZL and Oceania area that submissions for the "Oceania Most Wanted Countries List" will close on February 28th. Lists can be submitted in text, Word, or Excel formats or simply in the body of an E-mail. Email your list to: giggs501@yahoo.com.au The results will be published in March and E-mailed direct to all who submit.

OE4, AUSTRIA. Members of the OEVSV HQ Contest Team will be active as OE4A during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as a Multi/2 entry. QSL via OE1EMS Direct.

ON60, BELGIUM. Look for UBA club stations in Belgium to use the "ON60" prefix until early 2008, to celebrate the 60th annivesary of the UBA, the IARU Society for Belgium. A special commemorative UBA 60 Award will be available. Contact at least five different ON60 stations during the calendar year 2007. Each ON60 station is only valid one time. There are no band or mode restrictions, but contacts via repeaters, packet radio or echo link do not count towards the award. The award can be achieved by HAMs and SWLs worldwide. Endorsement stickers are available for 10, 20 and 30 different contacted ON60 stations. For more details, please see the following Web page at: http://www.uba.be/hf/awards/awards_fr.html Web page is in French, but Google will translate the page.

PJ2, NETHERLAND ANTILLES. "The Sultans of Shwing" will be taking a break from the snow and the cold of northern climates to spend a few days on the sunny Island of Curacao (SA-006) sippin' some brews and makin' some Qs. Operators Chad/WE9V, Scott/KA9FOX, and Mike/K9NW will be active from February 26th to March 6th signing PJ2/homecall. Look for them during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as PJ2T in the Multi/2 category. QSL PJ2T via N9AG. QSL all other individual (PJ2/homecall) callsigns via their home callsign addresses.

PJ7, ST. MAARTEN. Bil/W8EB and his wife Dorothy/W8DVC will be here between now and March 25th. Activity will be on 160-10 meters, CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31 as PJ7/W8EB and PJ7/W8DVC. Bil will operate in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 3-4th) as PJ7B. This will be Bil's 12th consecutive ARRL DX SSB Contest participation from St. Maarten. All QSL requests go to W8EB. Visit their PJ7B Web site at: http://www.qsl.net/pj7b/

9Q1EK/9Q1TB QSL STATUS. QSL Manager Osten, SM5DQC, informs: "Due to a misunderstanding between me and the printer, Tony, LZ1JZ, (my fault) I have not yet received the 9Q1TB cards - please be patient! I'm up to date with mailing of 9Q1EK cards, more than 230 letters mailed as of today (February 20th). Georges is now back from his vacation, busy with work but on the bands as much as he can.. For Europeans: We don't have "euro" postage here, it's the same 11 SEK if mailed to USA or to Finland. 1 USD is NOT enough as our postage to ALL foreign countries is the same, and we do NOT have economy mail, all mail goes as 'priority mail' = 'air mail'. (USD 1 = SEK 7)"
There is a log search available at: http://www.logsearch.de However, Osten states that there are "busted calls", and if you have any questions to please send him an E-mail at:
sm5dqc@areteadsl.se -or- sm5dqc@arrl.net

NEW UK POSTAL RATES. QSL MANAGER Phil Whitchurch, G3SWH (AD5YS), reports that beginning April 2nd, 2007, the UK postal rates will rise across the board by slightly more than 10%. Current situations and for some time now, the 1 USD has been insufficient to pay for the minimum return postage to countries outside Europe. This new increase will mean that 1 USD is no longer sufficient to pay for the minimum return postage to countries WITHIN Europe. There is no surface mail service offered by the Royal Mail to countries within Europe. However, they do offer a surface mail service to countries outside Europe. However, at today's exchange rate, the new postage cost is barely met by 1 USD and with the continuing decline in the dollar/pound sterling exchange rate, it is unlikely to remain so. The good news is that the new, 2009 expiry IRCs are still exchangeable for the minimum return postage to all parts of the world. However, very few seem to be using them at present. Please bear the above in mind when sending QSL requests which may not be able to be processed and returned before April 2nd. In particular, the cards for the VP2MTE operation are unlikely to be received from the printers by this date. Please do not send currency other than USDs or properly stamped, 2009 expiry IRCs. If you must use mint stamps, please supply them loose (not stuck onto the envelope). Any QSL requests received without adequate return postage will be answered via the RSGB bureau.

SESH AWARD. The editor of Polish Radio Amateurs' Journal "QTC" is issuing a "Special Events Stations Hunter Award" (SESH) to an amateur radio station which can submit proof of 100 or more contacts with special events stations. QSOs can be made on all bands and modes for contacts that have been made after November 15, 1945. The SESH Award is also available for SWLs. For complete details, visit QTC's SESH Web page at: http://qtc.radio.org.pl/pokazartykul.php?articleID=482

TP2, FRANCE (Special Event). Francis, F6FQK, TP2CE Station's Director, informs OPDX that to commemorate "International Woman Day", the Council of Europe Radio Amateur Club (TP2CE) will be active between March 9-11th. The station will be operated by 3 YLs (operators were not provided) on CW, SSB and RTTY. QSL via F5LGF. Visit the Council of Europe Radio Amateur Club (CERAC) Web site at: http://www.coe.int/t/e/tp2ce

USI ACTIVITY. Operator Jay, AE4MK, is expected to be active as K3USI from several new islands in North Carolina for the U.S. Islands Awards program April 20-22nd. His plans include to activate the following islands: Bear (NC-new), East Dudley (NC-new), Wast Dudley (NC-new) and Huggins (NC-new). Jay will be kayak camping on the North Carolina coast near Swansboro. He will be limited to battery power using only a TS-50 w/50 watts on all bands. QSL via USi eQSL, direct or by the bureau.

V7, MARSHALL ISLANDS (Update). Keisuke, JK1QLR, informs OPDX that he will once again be active as V73KN from Majuro Island (OC-029), March 16-22nd. Operations and band activity will be limited because Keisuke will be there on business. He recommends to watch for updates on QRZ.com. QSL via JK1QLR only, either through the JARL Bureau (DO NOT QSL VIA THE V73 BUREAU!) or direct to (new address):
Keisuke Nagase, 486-60, Totsuka-cho, Totsuka-ku Yokohama City, 2440003 JAPAN

VP2V, BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS (TSA Problems). Steve, AK0M, informs OPDX just before going to print "my VP2V/AK0M operation did not happen as was planned for last week. TSA in Chicago refused to let me carry most of my gear onboard my flight, causing a last-minute scramble for a way to get the gear there. It ended up loosely packed in a cardboard box that was checked through as luggage and things arrived in various states of operability. Then my other luggage with some of my antenna parts was lost for 4 days..... This is the first time that TSA has ever had any problem with my equipment and is hopefully due to the specific manager in Chicago that examined my carry-ons. Hopefully, Andi, DL2AU, was able to meet the needs for VP2V. I will have more information on my website." His Web site is at: http://www.ak0m.com

WP3, PUERTO RICO. Alfredo, WP3C, will be active during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band (15m)/Low-Power entry. His activity will also count for the WLOTA as LH-2802. QSL via W3HNK.

XV, VIETNAM. Rolf, SM5MX, is back in Hanoi and has revived his old license for XV9SW. He is expected to be on the air until April 30th. Activity will be on CW on 20 and 15 meters. However, Rolf informs OPDX that the downtown electric smog is worse than ever, so operation is just barely possible now and then. Looking at the QSNs, Rolf's activities seem to take place between 0430 and 1100z around 14044 and 21044 kHz. QSL via his home callsign. He will answer QSLS upon his return to SM-land in August.

Z35, MACEDONIA. Ozren, Z32XA, will be active as Z35T during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band entry. QSL via Z35T.

ZF, CAYMAN ISLANDS (NA-016). Bob, K3UL, will once again be active as ZF2UL, March 1-7th. Activity will be mainly CW on 160/80/30 meters. QSL via his home callsign.

ZP0, PARAGUAY. Tomas, ZP5AZL, will be active as ZP0R during the ARRL International DX Phone Contest (March 3-4th) as a Single-Op entry. QSL via W3HNK.

i am a uk ham ,and the morse test was done away with some 3 years ago i am 99% cw ,and operate mainly dx 20 mtrs ,the countries like ja were code free from 1983 but yet it boasts alot of vy gud cw ops .
Dont rubbish it just yet nobody is asking you to throw away your key .
The sheer number of cw ops who ragchew have declined over the past few years driven from the bands by contest organisers ,who dont understand contests are also outdated but for the paper chasers who cant send any more than 5nn and progressive numbers with there computers ,and are ignorant to other hams who want to ragchew .
Keep cw alive let me hear you on the bands in cw there is always a good ragchew available 20mtrs most am state side time or afternoon europe time .
As long as there are cw ops with brass to bang ham radio will survive.

1992. Dayton Hamvention Web Broadcast

You may have watched us the past couple years. We broadcast live streaming video and audio of the worlds largest hamradio convention. It is the Dayton Hamvention in Dayton , Ohio. Hams from all over the world come to this each year. We are looking forward to broadcasting again in May. For now we have recorded video running on our website. There is also a chat room for hams all over the world to chat and have fun. We have been viewed in over 150 countries. The site is active now and you may check it out. the address is http://wa5kub.com . When we get close to hamvention we will switch over to live broadcast.

Also please note that our broadcast begins 2 days earlier than the hamvention. We actually broadcast our drive in the car LIVE for the 550 miles that we drive from Memphis, Ttennessee to Dayton, Oohio. We also have a "helmet cam" that we wear every where we go. That means you see us when we go to eat , when we stop for gas or just about everything.

The broadcast is live 24 hours a day at hamvention as we set up outside in the fleamarket. If you cant go, have your ham friends come by our spaces 3350-3351 and wave back to you. It will be fun.

Please spread the word to everyone.
here is our schedule:

Begin the convoy to hamvention on Wednesday May 16 at 1400 gmt
it is a 10 hour drive.

We set up our fleamarket spaces at hamvention on Thursday May 17 at approx 1400gmt

The hamventions begins on Friday morning May 18,

We drive back to memphis after hamvention ends on Sunday May 20.

Remember you can go to http://wa5kub.com right now and chat with other hams around the world and watch some recorded videos of hamfest.

Also see lots of ham radio pictures at http://tmedlin.com/dayton.html

I hope to see you at hamvention.

1993. Help with antenna required

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

Message-ID: <TRuEh.3760$8U4.1320@news-server.bigpond.net.au>
Source record: 20525

I have just completed the design of a 151 MHz ASK transceiver.

On the bench the unit works fine with sensitivity to around -115 dBm however, when I attach an antenna, the RSSI level increases dramatically and it appears something may have become unstable.

I have tried a commercial ground independent antenna and a 1/4 wave whip and the results are the same.

If I disconnect the antenna and leave the RF input floating, it behaves properly. I can also attach a small wire (say 300mm) directly to the RF input and it also works fine. It just plays up when I have a proper antenna connected.

I am not sure if this may be some issue with the VSWR of the antenna causing some instability (I tried a 3dB pad between RF input and antenna and this did not fix the problem), or whether the input is so sensitive that it is picking up the LO from the radio and causing regeneration ?

A Spectrum Analyser was used to determine if anything else is being transmitted in that region and it appears to be clear to well outside the bandwidth of my receiver.

Any ideas much appreciated for what might be happening or methods of debugging my design.
(The circuit consists of an RF switch after the Antenna port (selects TX/RX) then into a 50 Ohm RF Amp, followed by a tuned circuit into an SA6505 RF IF. The LO is crystal based harmonic Butler emitter follower.

PS. I also tried bypassing the RF Amp but still no improvement.

Thanks in advance

Regards

David

The formula you used for Q is for a series resonant circuit - call it Qs.
For a parallel resonant circuit, you should calculate Q as Qp = 1/Qs.

That is, at the end of your calculation, hit the "1/x" key on your calculator.

I`ve been a Ham since 1975 and seen this kind of talk before. You 2 are the ones destroying Ham Radio. Yes ham radio is alive but not well. The numbers are dropping and the age of us Hams are getting older. Soon if we don`t attract younger people in it will be a dying hobby. Code is important yes but not totally necessary. There are other ways of encouraging young people to become hams. Code can be part of it as well as the computer end. Why not be like the Boy Scouts have HAm Radio clubs in schools from grades 1 and up and in churches or the YMCA/YWCA with volunteers.

Rather than bash each others heads and stoop so low as calling each other names why not put your heads together and think of positive ways to bring new people into the fold !

10 meters still dead in my neck of the woods for local chatter and DX, but CB is still hopping on AM and lots of DX on 38 lsb...

Funny, but the whole reason I became a Ham was so I could use 2 meter and 440 where all the local chit chat and fun was, not 10 meters....

Yep, tons of activity and fun on the bands when No-code first started, now its dead out here... Wonder if it is because No-codes were not treated with enough respect??

It sounds to me like the ham radio operators are the retards

A BUNCH of Ham radio operators were complaining that there's already a bunch of people operating illegally on family radio service channels one through seven with illegal excessively high power of five watts instread of the maximum two and a half watts allowed and with five khz deviation instead of two khz deviation and illegally pretending to be ham radio operators by illegally using fraudelent ham callsigns like WXY2457, WBT5632, WZ2345 instead of real ham callsigns like KG5RTU, WG4RTU, WE3GTE (how they knew they weren't really real ham operators like they were trying to pose as). and that these people should be reported, fined, and put in jail for doing these illegal activities.

Listen up you hambos. I got news for you. Those AREN'T illegal radio operators andd they AREN'T doing anything illegal. Those ARE GMRS radio operators who ARE ALLOWED to operate on family raadio service channels one through seven which ARE also GMRS channels.

And they're NOT pretending to be ham raddio operators. Those callsigns
that they're using ARE legal GMRS callsigns.

You would THINK that ham radio operators would knoow this stuff.

I don't even have a ham liscence and here I am having to explain to ham radio operators that GMRS radio operators ARE allowed to operate on GMRS radio frequencies WITH GMRS power levels, WITH GRS deviation, and ARE also allowed to use GMRS callsigns on those GMRS frequencies.

Sheesh!!!

What is amazing that some of these coded hams act worse than any of the newbies. Scheissman was a grand example but also the ones around the middle part of 20 meters 14.275 and 14.313 over the years. If you want to talk about bad hams you should look there. Not to mention some of the attitudes you get from the allegedly higher class hams. You know, the ones who get mad because someone is operating on their frequency when they havent talked on it for ten minutes yet get pissed when a newbie operates.

They are pissed because the FCC changed the rules for their own reasons.
The FCC was the ones who changed the rules and made the changes, not the no-coders. But the people on the bands who dont like it will have to deal with it because the no-coders are here to stay there isn't a damn thing the old fogies can say about it.

Frankly, I've had quite a few good comments from Extras with 20WPM and all that too so some of the hams are pretty cool about things. You have to realize that you have a lot of attiude problems in ham radio because they did it and things changed. Like I told one critic, I guess they will have to deal with it. If they respect me, then I will respect them and I will respect them as well. But when they start their little fights over the code, then I say they need to grow up.

I dealt with one anti social jerk the other day that wasn't even using a frequency for 5 minutes and all of a sudden they got their underwear in a wad about it when someone asks twice if anyone is using the frequency. No mention of that so call CQ and they throw a fit. Claimed to be operating a mobile net on 40 but even a dipole and loop couldn't hear them.

No, not too stupid. It's just that the hams find ways ro screw over anyone they want to, just because they want only them and their friends on the frequencies and no one else.

I stuudies for my ham test and I KNEW rhe correct answers and gave the correct answers.(for the most part). But the hams also gave me phony questions, which I also answered correctly. And still refused to give me my ham liscence, saying that I flunked the ham test. Then the hams told me what they said the "correct answers" were. However, all of their so-called "correct answers" were wrong answers.

And they never did give me a refund of my fifty dollars that I had to pay them in order to take their phony ham test, so they're thieves also.

In addition to the multiple choice questions cheets, they also gave me sheets with just questions on it that they said I had to answer correctly to pass the ham test.

Some of these questions were "What does ATV stand for as related to ham radio?". I answered "amateur tv, also known as ham tv".

After the test was over, the hams marked it wrong and told me that the correcr answer is "ATV stands for an all-terrain vehivcle equipped with an ham radio" and that "there isn't any such thing as amateur tv or ham tv"

.They also told me that to get upgrades to my ham liscence if I got it, that I have to communicate with non-ham radio services by operating at the very edge of the ham band so that my transmissions can be heard by the non-ham service so that I can communicate with the non-ham service with my ham radio. And tat to get a ham liscence upgrade, that I also have to perform community service at the parade/ festival and have to say the name of te fffffestival over the ham radio several times.

By the way, the name of that parade/festival is The "Mayday"

Other questions on the test were to name all of the (then-current) ham bands.

That question was also mnarked wrong since the hams said that I forgot the 11 meter ham band known as cb radio.

By the way, this was all in the early to mid 1980's.

My answer on a similar question that was also on the test was also marked wrong as the hams tol.d me that 11 meters is too a ham band and that the cb'ers stole it away from them.

After that, By all rights, I should have had my ham liscence back then, but the hams were very very very very very deyermined to prevent that from happening.

They just want certain people in there. They let in people who don't know anything about radio and they prevent people from getting in who do know about radio. The hams just want it to be their own little, private exclusive club.

They sure turned me oiff of ham radio (which was their intention to do).

Before that, I was looking forward to it.

But not anymore.

I don't want to get involved with a bunch of people, thieves, and criminals like that.

Give me good old cb anyday.

I haven't heard them on 10 meters yet, but if they're there, then I wonder if they're really truck drivers.

There was a buch of interference to GMRS repeaters in northern California.

Both the GMRS operators and the ham radio operators complained about the family radio service users interfering eith the GMRS repeaters.
Although the hams went on to say how it's proof that family radio service is turning into the exact same thing cb has and should be given to the hams instead.

The GMRS operators by theirselves went direction finding to track down the sources of interference to their GMRS repeaters.

And guess what they found?

They found out that ALL of the interference to their GMRS trpeaters were ALL ham radio operators purposely interfereing with their GMRS repeaters.

A BUNCH of hams.doing so.

And I wouldn't doubt it if thoise ham radio operators who were purposely interfering were the same ones complaining about that very same interference and about family radio service operators and about cb operators.

When I took the First Class, there were a huge number of people who had basically word-associated the question pool, and who were passing the test with basically no technical knowledge at all. I am told that at some point there was an oral examination as well required of First Class operators.

(The First Class is _not_ an entrance examination, the way the ham radio license tests are... it is... well, it WAS an attempt to make sure commercial radio engineers met a certain standard.)

I do not think a pure multiple-choice test is ever all that effective, in part because it's possible to pass it that way.

This happens on a daily basis in the ARS too, unfortunately.

Multiple choice exams are not a bad thing.

Imagine what your GPA would have been in college if all your professors gave multiple-choice examinations AND gave you the question pool from which the exams would be derived, at the beginning of the semester.

Geez what a bunch of tossers you all are - you don't like someones postings so you try and get him evicted from the net, why not just use a kill file - you DONT have to read his posts/threads now do you ?

Why is it the net is getting populated by the biggest bunch of self absorbed little Hitlers ? You don't like someones posts so you bloody complain or mail bomb them - grow up you bunch of fucking sad gits !

Multiple choice tests are ok, but I understand the point being made. Yes it is possible to do word association - I've done it on exams I was taking with NO WAY to study for. It does help tremendously though - to have a clue about the content. I studied for every test other than that one. I like to give myself the best possible chance to pass. I for one - don't like handing my cash over on a whim. IF I have to pay to take a damned test, I want to make sure I get my monies worth. As a VE team leader for both Amateur Radio and Commercial exams (almost useless) - I've seen lots of people come and go. You can usually tell who knows their stuff or at least are trying.

If he is not actively using tactics to avoid or sabotage killfiles (posting from various systems, forging, massive crossposting to create cross-newsgroup flame wars) then it should be quite easy to killfile him.

It does seem that the frequency and the size of his posts are approaching net abuse. However, IMHO, they aren't quite there yet. If his postmaster were to act in this instance, it would raise troubling censorship issues.

I had a professor, the late great Dave Simons, who would make EE tests that were multiple choice, and had partial credit.

He had taught for so long, that he knew virtually all of the mistakes that the kids would make, and would put the answers that would result from the different wrong paths as the different choices.

This was a public service group that was around in the mid 'to late 90s and was responsible for getting a lot of jammers off the air, such as the guy who called himself "PorkButt" and some of his other friends who played things like The PorkButt Song over the top of rescue nets. They may think that their services are no longer needed now that the airwaves are clearer, but you can still find a lot of areas on 75m that could use the attention of either the FCC or the Stumpjumpers - I don't care which. Let's clean up the area between 3800 and 3900. Most of you know what I mean.

That's what the hams get for trying to keep everyone else out of it for so long, even when they knew radio theory, and for trying to keep it their own little exclusive club wher only a very few people are members, even though they don't know a thing about radio theory.

Keep people out for decades. Now there's a huge gap between the "old" hams" and the "new" hams.

which means the die-off is coming, as you say.

No one was kept out. They kept themselves out through their refusal to learn the

however, Congress can abolish the FCC anytime they want to, if enough

Just a note to anyone that likes to build small kits. I found this web site that has kit from Paul W1GHZ. www.qsl.net/wa3iac/kits/ . I put together the "quiet fan controller" and it work good, and took less than one hour to build. Another kit is a "battery status indicator" made for rovers but could be nice for anyone with a car.

Just my 2 cents

To abolish the FCC, Congress would have to recende the Communications

Act of 1934 as amended. Then they would have to create a replacement. Do you really want a bunch of political hacks doing that? Do you?

wrong. I studied for the code and written test. They kept me and others out by giving required to get your ham liscence phony ham tests in addition to the real test, claiming it was also part of the real test, marking correct answers wrong, and then claiming that wrong answers were the correct answers.

question "What does ATV stand for as relating to amateur radio?"

My answer: "ATV stands for amateur tv, also known as ham tv"

They marked it wrong and then told me that "the correct answer is an All-Terrain Vehhicle that is equipped with an amateur radio set. There is't any such thing as amateur tv or ham tv.

THAT IS purposely keeping people out.

If that was the case (though I doubt it), all you had to do was test elsewhere.

I only tested with VEs who gave you a free FT-1000D when you passed your 20wpm code test.

Nope. If you tried to take the test in the neighboring counties where you didn't live, they would refer you back to your local county.

Nope. I'm not crying about it and never have. Just getting the truth out.

I've been quiet about it for over twenty years. It's about time that the truth about them finally comes out to the public.

However, with the CW requirement now eliminated, I'm sure enough good people will finally get into ham radio and be able to keep an eye on those old bozo hams (who did pass the cw test since it was required back then).

PorkButt A.K.A. WB2OTK Rich , mostly hung out on 3.901 and had a running feud with "Big Al" John Abernethy K4OKA who hung out on 3.898 . PorkButt was not put off the air by the "Stumpjumpers" .

See https://www.arrl.org/news/stories/1999/07/28/1/?nc=1

"PorkButt" and his friends didn't play things like The PorkButt Song . The PorkButt Song was played by jammers that didn't like WB2OTK Rich A.K.A. "PorkButt".

FYI , Rich had an on the air "club" of hams called "The Amateur Radio Good Fellas"
I held/hold a member # .

BTW , If anyone still has a copy of the porkButt song . I would like a copy for nostalgic reasons.

Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, the legal advisor for FCC enforcement gave an outstanding presentation on Amateur Radio enforcement.

"Updates on some of the actions over the last year - Glen Baxter, K1MAN, of Belgrade Lakes, Maine is off the air. The case continues because we tried to inspect his station in May during the Dayton Hamvention. His station was broadcasting, but without a control operator. WB2OTK out of Easly, South Carolina has had his license canceled; John Abernethy, K4OKA, in North Carolina is under a six-month suspension. We issued several warnings to nets. There are several other nets under scrutiny for monopolizing or attempting to monopolize certain frequencies. We've dismissed half a dozen applications due to examination discrepancies and we have about six sessions under scrutiny now. About 15 VEs have been disqualified.

"I mention these names, Glen Baxter, John Abernethy and Rich Whitten because when we polled the first three or four hundred messages that we got complaining about the Amateur Radio service and getting information to us since last October about what needs to be done. We found that 70-80% of the problems were related to a half-dozen to dozen situations in the country. And we realized then that the Amateur Radio service was far from hopeless. It would have been a different picture if the complaints had been across the board complaining about everything you could imagine going on on the amateur bands. Then it would have looked like too expensive a problem from a staff and resource problem to attack it. But it seemed that within certain areas of the country, and on certain frequencies, is where the problems were concentrated.

Since 1995 the hand writing on the wall spelled out the doom of CW.

However, the sheer momentum which was built up by the dyed-in-wool hardcore CW'ers carried it on. Time and time again resurrected it from its' tomb and breathed life anew in CWs' brittle bones.

The arrl, being the professional politicians (or, as I like to refer to ALL politicians--public butt lickers) they are, make the proper noises and finally let lose the grip they had on the dead and bony fingers of CW. However, don't be fooled. They only do so because even they have woken to the fact there will be no resurrecting CW another time and do not wish their true motives to be seen in the light of day. Now they seek to shore up the old and ancient myths and class systems which has made amateur radio a good ole boys club and placed it under their control.

Beware, the future will only bring more stealth, deception and disinformation from the arrl as they seek to maintain the status quo on what is left of their control freak, class system and good ole boys club which they have established for amateur radio. They need to have their dead old fingers pried from its' death grip they maintain on amateur radio.

If that's the case, you only had to file a complaint. You clearly didn't take your test with an FCC examiner. More likely a VE, or at an ARRL event, or hamfest.

FCC takes testing irregularities seriously. What your suggesting, here, is a crime. If taken with an FCC examiner, your experience would have been highly public, at a testing event, and there would be many witnesses. Witnesses to not only support your claim but to file complaints of their own. FCC examiners at the event would have been summarily terminated. And you'd be permitted to retest again. At no cost to you.

If you took your test with a VE, at a hamfest, a single complaint can get a VE summarily decertified while the merit of your complaint is evaluated. Again, there would be witnesses, and supporting complaints.
And you would have been redirected to another VE for retesting.

That said, your complaint, here, is quite difficult to swallow.
First of all, all government issued tests, and that includes FCC and even FAA tests, which should give us all pause, are required to publish and maike available both the pool of questions AND their answers to anyone interested in testing. Non published questions are NOT permitted on the tests. This has the force of law. That means your phoney ham tests is an allegation of a criminal act. Believe me when I tell you, anyone observing this would raise holy hell if anyone were turned away based on a 'phoney' test. In this litigious society, the lawsuits would far outlive your interest in amateur radio.

And finally, there has been amateur TV since before there was TV. If you have really studied your theory and legal elements, you would know that a portion of many of the bands are set aside for slow-scan TV on HF and fast scan TV VHF and above. There IS amateur TV. And any study materials you'd have access to would include it.

So your story is false on its face. And you've neither studied code in earnest (outside of the Cub Scout and Boy Scout merit badges) nor any of the elements.

And one other thing...if you really expect us to believe your complaint, it may be useful to not go to such lengths to remain anonymous. Many, here, use handles and nicknames, we've come to correspond with them privately, many have done business with some of them, bought and sold radios, shared schematics...You're clearly not willing to participate in any of that. And as such seem to be only about the bitch, and not about the hobby, as your absurd anecdote attests.

If you'd like to try again, and if you're genuinely interested in pursuing amateur radio, try being more of a participant. And a little more genuine. You'll find that amateurs, as a whole, are a pretty inclusive bunch. And any obstacles you face will be non-issues in the wake of the juggernaut of knowledge and experience that will come your way.

Yes there is not much original thinking on the groups these days, as seen above, the hanger-on types are even trying to forge a spoof.

Hmmm, I have this friend who has been unable to pass the code test because his hearing was ruined in the service of our country, yet he has been unable to get an exemption. He is an electronic technician but he's probably FORGOTTEN more theory than most hams will ever know. I worked with him for a bunch of years and was amazed at how many engineers were always stopping by to "pick his brain". In reality he was doing their designs for them, and he knew what they were up to, but he helped them anyway because that's just the way that he is. I'm sure he could solve TVI or ANY other problem in a heartbeat. But it sounds like you'd lump him into this one category because he couldn't copy code. What a pity that you would deny him use of the HF bands just because he can't hear the frequencies that morse code typically comes out of the speaker as. What's more of a pity is that you would label him with the name that you used to title this string. But what I find a real shame is that you aren't able to tell him what you think of people who can't pass the code test to his face because he would "adjust" your attitude and when you regained conciousness maybe you'd be a little more tolerant of people and their handicaps.

What a shame he didn't get licensed years ago as a codeless tech, and enjoy

Oh, he is licensed as a codeless tech and he does get a LOT of enjoyment out of ham radio. He's been busting his hump for years trying to work out a way to hear enough of the code to pass the test but hasn't been able to. Now he can finally work HF phone, or RTTY or PSK31 and I'm sure he must be thrilled. In fact I may have to touch base with him this weekend and see if he's using his new priveleges yet. When he tested, he took and passed the tests all the way to I think it was Extra, but couldn't do the code to back it up so he stayed a Tech.

JS, that evolved in ALL radio services from a much earlier period. In general the experiences of and with radio communications during World War 2 was the "Great Awakener."

>However, the sheer momentum which was built up by the dyed-in-wool >hardcore CW'ers carried it on. Time and time again resurrected it from >its' tomb and breathed life anew in CWs' brittle bones.

In amateur radio that may be exaggerated but true.

The built-in fact of amateur radio being basically a hobby makes it ultra-conservative insofar as actual innovation and experimentation is concerned. Hobbies are a pasttime for most and thus there is less time available for participants to either learn more, keep up with, or actually do operating. As a result, many prefer the "tried-and-true" methods and modes they are used to, or feel comfortable with.

Underneath all of that amateur radio activity is the long-term but subtle emotional influence of amateur-radio-oriented media, namely the enormous quantity of publications of the ARRL. The ARRL has kept the Mythos of Morse alive for decades, decades longer than it deserves as a communications means. The enormity of their publications base has been in existance for so many decades that few members are aware of their (insidious) influence on their thinking.

>The arrl, being the professional politicians (or, as I like to refer to

In all fairness and logic, SURVIVAL of anything is the most important human motivator. Politicians, organizations, and corporations all have a basic need to SURVIVE. They must cater to their constituency or target market to do this.

The ARRL can be summed up as having two basic components:
A publishing house (prime) and a membership organization (secondary). ARRL's annual reportable income exceeds the million-dollar value by at least an order of magnitude;
they reported higher-than-ten-million dollars income to the IRS four years ago. They could NOT have achieved that just from annual member dues.

An oft-used argument is that the ARRL offers "so many 'free' services." The ARRL VEC exam fees are the top of the limit yet some of the other seven (?) VECs charge less. The ARRL offers "help" on license renewals and paperwork to the FCC.
That is just lip-gloss since: (1) There is NO charge to any licensed amateur at the FCC except for Vanity call applications; (2) Paperwork handling AT the FCC for license adminstrative matters is no more difficult to do on the Internet OR by mail than through the ARRL (as an intermediary).

Back before the Internet went public in 1991, it was very convenient to have the ARRL "represent all radio amateurs" in lobbying and legal-speaking to the FCC. Most citizens tend to shirk direct talking/communicating with their government (although some have done so and effectively so).
Having a legal firm on retainer IN Washington, DC, is more effective than individual citizens writing letters from Montana, Arizona, Hawaii, or Oregon, all several time zones away from DC and days of postal delivery away. [CT is in the same time zone as DC and physically much closer than, say, most-populous California] Radio amateurs tended to prefer someone "speaking for them" so that they would have more time to play with their radios.

Another argument of those championing the ARRL is that they "have a democratic-principled representation" through their own established Districts and "elections." Actually, there are NO similarities to our federal government's democratic principles and practices; the only similarity is to several national fraternal orders, all private organizations. Supposedly there is a "third-party observer" to ARRL elections, but that is NOT anything similar to the built-in Checks and Balances of the real federal government. Those federal (and local) Checks and Balances DO NOT APPLY to private membership organizations. Yet the IMPLICATION of similarity is so often done that it has become just-another-urban-myth, emotional sustenance for its membership.

The ARRL remains a MINORITY special-interest-group in US amateur radio...yet they imply (often) that they "represent all [US] amateurs." The ARRL only publishes a CLUE as to their membership totals twice a year; In the "publishers sworn statement" about QST, the member-ship magazine of the ARRL. ARRL membership is still only a quarter of all US amateur radio licensees. QST survives as a periodical on its advertisers ad purchases. QST is the major periodical target for manufacturers and service-providers of the amateur radio market. QST has a virtual (if not de facto) monopoly as an amateur radio advertising medium in the USA. Note: Three other INDEPENDENT amateur radio interest periodicals have survived for over a double decade of existance of each yet two have had to close or sell. Their incomes depended on advertising space sales. When the ad monies diminished those independents did not have the demographics to attract enough advertisers as compared to the ARRL. The number of members keeps QST demographics high, thus it serves to keep its survival intact...and serve as a free advertising medium for its OWN products and services.

>Beware, the future will only bring more stealth, deception and >disinformation from the arrl as they seek to maintain the status quo on >what is left of their control freak, class system and good ole boys club >which they have established for amateur radio. They need to have their >dead old fingers pried from its' death grip they maintain on amateur radio.

Human life expectancy will take care of that. Eventually the core membership of the ARRL and its chieftans will understand that this new millennium is NOT the same as it was in the 1930 to 1960 period when They were young (and supposedly vibrant). Times and tecnology have changed enormously yet the Mythos persist on the "necessity" to hold to the old, old standards. However, to retain their CONTROL ("they know what is good for ham radio") while they still live (and rule) they must insure that the Big Publishing House survives. That income is what gives them the perquisites and power of quasi-rule over others. They MUST acquiesce their quaint old ideas and mythos however much that hurts their psyches. WE still have time to see the Change happening...but I am not optimistic about it.

Just for starters, it pieces me off that the FCC doesn't even host the download of the amateur pool questions "right-out-and-openly" on their web page. This alone gives the VEC and arrl MUCH more credibility then the toothless old grumps deserve. And, I have complained about this ... I will continue to do so, use the public funds and keep this outta private hands and influence!

The arrl need to go, and Carl is NOT looking like a good replacement with NCI when he boot licks ... amateur radio needs a new start and some new blood ... someone needs to kick some real booty here.

JS, amateur radio is not even close to their main task of regulating ALL civil radio in the USA. However, they could make a small link to www.ncvec.org if they bothered.

For real complaints, you might address the FCC on why they do NOT bother with many updates of the amateur radio page under the Wireless Bureau. They haven't kept that updated but sporadically since the NPRM on Restructuring (FCC 98-143) came out in 1998.

I'd say the NCVEC is reasonably up-to-date given their voluntary task of coming up with new QPs every three years or so. The ARRL is only part of the VEC.

Sorry, but the privatization of radio operator testing put that in very private hands of the COLEM and the VEC.
I haven't looked for a COLEM QPC but have no doubt it exists somewhere. My First 'Phone that morphed into a GROL went lifetime, no renewal and I have no need to go look for that commercial pool.

That's a subjective opinion, JS, and I won't fault Carl S. on what he has done and stated in various places. I disagreed with what NCI did NOT do immediately on FCC 06-178 when it first broke news last December...but then NCI is really an international movement, not strictly one for the USA.

While the USA is a LATE-comer on tossing the morse code exam internationally, there still exist other countries who have kept it, one way or another.

In my opinion, NCI could either dissolve or change away from being USA-oriented with a different direction. NCI's basic goals have largely been realized and, in that, was a success to my mind.

As long as there is money to be made from publishing to a niche hobby activity, the ARRL will be firmly entrenched.
Human attrition will eventually cause their metamorphosis.

I'm sorry but I don't understand what you mean here. The Amateur Radio question pool was developed by a committee composed of representatives from the various Volunteer Examination Coordinator organizations noot the FCC. The questions are posted on the Internet and are available for anyone to view. If you go to www.qrz.com you will find a routine that will allow you to take a sample quiz. If you do this enough times you will be able to pass the various level tests.
The ARRL does not have anything near exclusivity in this process. They only have one vote in the process. I don't know exactly how many other organizations there are but I know of at least three.
As for replacing the ARRL as an orginization feel free to do so. So far they are the only group to stay in business.

Subjective? Well ya, all you see in my posts are one mans humble opinoions. But then, the president pulls his pants on one leg at a time (well, I believe he does!) and no mans opinion counts more than mine--not even his!

NCI has REAL relevance, in my humble opinion ... your mileage may vary.

Yep, time for NCI to step into phase two, hope Carl is "psychic" enough to realize that!

Time for the "common ham" to fire up. Setup some web pages with training, "elmering", etc. Heck, where is the group rec.radio.amateur.new-licensees ??? Instead, we have self-protecionist hams creating groups like "rec.radio.amateur.good-ole-boys-club"

Krist, Dee has better ideas than most, that alone should shame us into better behavior and efforts ... are we men or are we mice?

The world is owned by the common man (in this case, common ham)--strange how so few "common men" realize that we put amateur radio forward "one ham at a time ..."

The little amateur who got me started, ran his rig with dignity, gained my REAL respect and was one "HELL OF A GOOD JOE" (might I add, was LOVED by his town and community?) and will always be remembered in my book. I cannot find his equal easily these days ...

The arrl can go to ... well, you know where ...

Warmest regards,
JS

Well, exactly!

Get rid of these fools and let the FCC set the exams ... gawd, that doesn't take an einstein does it?

I am all for private enterprise, however, when we talk about laws, guidelines are rules governing pubic properties--we as "the people" only have that right ...

Actually, I should have been more clear on this.

Our representatives, and though the gov't agencies they design, should set these "rules and regulations." "We the people", should vote in and support only those representatives which serve us and our public interests. Yanno, like they are supposed to work in our best interests?

Yanno, like the public airwaves are a natural resource given man by his creator. And, since we realize that some of us "common citizens" might work in our own best interests if not watched closely, may indulge in stuffing our own pockets if not watched closely, may use "public resources" for our own personal use and that of our friends if NOT watched closely, so that we may pay attention and CLOSELY to giving all citizens use of their creator given resources.

In my humble opinon this has not been done for decades past, indeed, the same old protectionist policies and guidelines are being hoisted upon us again.

We need the FCC to accept total control of these things, away from public enterprise and interests. We need the public servants to control these things so we can kick their butt when they start working in their own interests.

The arrl has been working in its' own best interests for decades. They have been able to do so because the avg citizen is ignorant. The avg citizen doesn't even know how to wire an electrical outlet in their own home--let alone build an xmitter or power amp.

Get real, time for private interests to be kicked out of control of public airwaves!

JS

My ex-husband's hearing was severely damaged in the service of his country also. He had 70% hearing loss in both ears and constant, loud tinnitus. In daily life, he basically got by via lip reading. He didn't even realize how bad his hearing actually was and that he was lip reading until he had to take a physical for something. Yet he passed the code test. All he had to do was adjust the pitch to avoid the frequency of the tinnitus and turn it up LOUD (I had to leave the room or request that he wear headphones). He passed his 5wpm in 1992. So I don't buy the couldn't learn it at all statement. VE teams were REQUIRED to make accommodations for individuals with hearing problems, although generally they did need advance contact so as to be able to arrange to have any special materials needed.

Those of my friends who are loosing their hearing as they age tell me that they find it easier to copy code than voice. They can adjust the code pitch and volume to whatever they need. Voices, with their constantly varying pitch and volume, become much harder to copy as their hearing deteriorates.

There are and were many individuals who could have helped him find a way to master it. Handi-Hams specialized in helping all those with various disabilities.

I'm glad he will be enjoying his new privileges and hope he finishes his

It is, however, very sad that he did not find the proper help to learn code.
Many in his situation and even worse off did manage to do so once they found the proper assistance.

There are at least 12 VECs. These VECs create a Question Pool Committee and create the pool and maintain it. Since the question pool is available in its entirety for free from a number of websites and since the FCC does not create nor maintain the pool, there is little reason for it to be on the FCC web site.

This does make a lot of sense. We seems to gradually lose our treble response and our ears respond more to base as we age, which is not as intelligible on our typical audio equipment. Conditions improve when the receiver treble can be kicked up a bit, CW is not an issue. For me, things sure have changed over 10 years, giving me a higher proclivity to code QSO's than speech. I have almost no problems with fenale SSB voices but some of the male transmissions are so low that they simply sound like strange unintelligible noises that can sometimes by detected OK though it can take a lot of attention soan.

Did I vote for these VECs? Are these VECs responsible to me under law?
Do these VECs' use public resource monies, and if so, why? Were these VEC elected? Appointed by a congressman of mine? By the house? By the senate?

Tell me more about why these VECs should have their A$$E$ kicked down the stairwell ...

No, you did not vote for the VECs. However, anyone could have sent an objection to the FCC if they thought a given organization was unsuitable for this program.

Yes they are responsible to you under the law since they are accountable to the FCC. If any VEC (these are organizations by the way), is found to be remiss in its duties, they can loose their standing as a VEC. At the time the system was being developed, any organization could have applied and if they met the FCC's standards could have been certified as a VEC.

Yes the VECs are responsible to you under the law since you have both the right and responsibility to file a complaint with the FCC if you find that they are not acting according to the requirements of the FCC.

The VECs do not use any public resource monies. The expenses of testing are covered by the testing fees, which are set by the FCC.

The VECs were selected and appointed by the FCC from various organizations applying for this task.

You may not like the VE system, but amateur radio experienced a surge of growth once exams became available at times and locations that candidates could get with ease and without having to take time off work.

I spend enough time at a computer so I prefer my radio communications to be voice or CW. Although I've set up and tried the digital modes, they were boring.

Really, well, I prefer most of my communication to be digital--digitized text to be specific, here on the net, but digitized voice when I use my cell phone. I'd prefer digitized voice packets on HF, however, the dinosaurs which are available there are not hip yet, the new blood will change that--hopefully ...

I want them gone, gov't bureaucrats are enough to put up with, private sector idiots sneaking into gov't regs, rules, exams and policy is much more than any citizen should endure. I already pay taxes to have these things taken care of, they don't need to hire maids and butlers to do their work ...

My friends hearing rolls off drastically just above the normal speaking range. At the audio frequency of morse code his hearing is something like 64dB down below where it should be. You can't copy what you can't hear. His hearing aids only do so much. The funny thing is that he can copy the code visually with an LED or lamp that flashes but they wouldn't let him test that way. Anyway, it's no longer an issue is it? He'll get on the air, and he WILL be an asset to the amateur radio community because that's just his nature. How can that be bad?

Hmmm. My hearing rolls off when I am forced to copy cw, always turn on the cw to text software and plug the computer into the rigs audio. When I start typing 80+ WPM the extras even know I am up to suppin' <grin>

You can become a VEC if you so desire. All you have to do is find enough hams to support your efforts and create an organization to conduct examination sessions.
There is nothing magic about the VEC. It just takes a lot of unpaid work on the part of a lot of people. Yes some get paid to process the paperwork and file the actual application for your license. No one is getting rich on this program.

Well, most of us don't. Fact is, there are very very few FCC field offices left. People from Oregon would have to go to Seattle or San Francisco to take their tests (as would hams from Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, etc.. ) I was fortunate when I originally got my ham ticket that the Portland field office was still in existance. It's no longer there. Most can't take the time off work in the middle of the week to drive 200 miles (more or less, from Portland to Seattle) just to take a test. With the Volunteer Examiner program, it allows hams to take tests usually at a place within a few miles of their own home town, with flexible times, usually on a weekend when they don't have to give up valuable work time.

I agree but conditionally. I think it has POTENTIAL relevance.

The IARU started the code revolution in prompting for the re-write of most of S25 at WRC-03...the WRC that made it possible for individual adminstrations to toss the code test at THEIR option.

Actually, I know all this ... I don't like the system.

Be sure to include the proposed tax increase for funding when you get the FCC to resume doing the testing. Their budget no longer includes money for such as they are getting the testing done for FREE by volunteers like myself.

It was REQUIRED that they let him test that way. If they did not, they were wrong. Of course one does have to give the team time to make these preparations and get the necessary materials. As I said earlier, the code pitch can be changed to whatever frequency would have worked. Again if he needed a very low pitch, it was REQUIRED that they accommodate that. If they did not, they were wrong.

Public service? Hah. They were as much of the problem as anyone. It was usually one of them playing the PorkButt Song.

I finally got into LogBook of the World qsl'ing.
Have several years worth of ordinary logs that pre-date cabrillo.
They are stored as "txt" files.
Is there a template for just ordinary log format that LOTW will accept?
I can sort the columns of data, if I now how they want the "cabrillo" format.
I could phony up the data in a contest log format, but the log dates would not match the real contest dates.

Nope. I'm not crying about it and never have. I don't need any stinking ham bands. I have fifty-nine channels (actually more) that I can legally use without any liscence whatsoever.

With a GMRS liscence, I can use sixteen more channels for a total of seventy-five channels (actually more) that I can legally use without a ham liscence at all.

And recently, someoe at my house just purchased a new "two way radio" that gives me an extra FRS channel that doesn't use any of the standard 14 FRS channels and doesn't use any of te GMRS channel;s, and is perfectly legal for use in the U.S.

It was even advertised as "use it at sporting events and shopping malls to stay in contact with your family and friends".and as "two-watt radio".

I'm not sure what the range is of it yet. I'll test it out when the weather gets warmer. This radio also doesn't have any way of monitoring for other people's transmissions before you tansmit.

But you don't need to since it automatically sends a code that ollows only the people in your group to heaar it, You can't set it to hear other people's transmissions even if you try to., even if they're on the same channel.

And it can't be picked up by radio scanners the genreal public uses, it can't be picked up by frs radios that use the standard 14 frs channels. It can't be picked up by GMRS radios or ham radios either. Although I'm sure the hams will try to.

It seems to truly be a radio with your own private lFRS channel.

And yes, it's FCC-approved. So don't give me any of this "you're using an illegal radio transmitter on frequencies you're not authorized to transmit on" garbage.

No code was NOT "porrly promoted".

It was in "Omni", "Popular Electronics", "Popular Science"
"Popular Mechanics", and "Popular Communications" on many occassions over the years. Stories on the "new" codeless license also appeared in organizational periodicals such as AARP's magazine. It was written about in the Wall Street Journal and New York Times.

Perhaps you didn't know about it because you were so busy being

I disagree. Not know more. Just know different. Other people have said there hasn't been any new improvements in ham radio technology in decades.

The morse code requirement was probably holding them back.

Look at other industries. The latest improvements made were made by people not familiar with the old technology, but familiar with the newer technology.

In the computer industry, most of the recent improvements have been made by people not familiar with the punch card sysyem.

If they were still required to learn and use the punch-card system, they wouldn't have as much time to study all the newer technologies and the improvements either wouldn't have gotten made at all, or at least not as fast.

They would still bee stuck uing the old very slow computers that use punch cards.

The same goes for a lot of other industries, also.

Although with other things instead of computers and punch cards.

So you want to give this much power to the government?? Not me. This was an extremely progressive idea and actually gives a great deal of control to the people. It maximizes the personal freedom and choices of the participants. Would you really like to go back to the repressive "old" day??

The Volunteer Examiner program puts control where it belongs, directly in the hands of the citizens rather than the government. The government then takes its rightful place in promulgating, administering and enforcing the rules rather than dealing with all the minutia on a day to day basis required to run the program itself.

Michigan has done the same thing with its driver's licensing. Both the written and driving tests have been contracted out to private companies.
The state monitors the program and handles the broader functions such as maintaining the database and enforcement.

The history of computer science disagrees. Most of the pioneers of the

I don't regard privatization as "progressive," only economical for the government...and, perhaps, less economical for the individual depending on where they live relative to any testing location.

COLEMs have it a bit easier since they can both teach a commercial licensee and test them in a continuous course.
That is more convenient for the newbie commercial license applicant. That is similar to school courses with the FCC exam as the "final."

VECs - usually - do not sequentially teach and then test.
They can if they so desire, but few VEs are qualified or have experience as teachers. VEs can proctor a test with little experience other than handling paper and seeing that all the blanks are properly filled-in and check answer sheets against a template. That is not a Masters or Doctorate level work. :-)

I hesitate to put an oar in because I'm one of the brand new Hams. We managed to get two dozen people to a one weekend tech class that were mostly drawn from the membership of Community Emergency Response Teams. I think that the service can be alive and well if it continues to adapt itself to public need rather than to individual preferences no matter how strong.

Having said that I will now admit that I was somewhat disappointed by the ease with which I passed the exam. I had a novice license back around 1973. At that time you had to pass the general theory to get a technician class license. Obviously that is no longer true.

Now at the risk of being dangerously on topic let me ask the question I came here to ask in a new thread.

You, Mark, are a liar. You almost always hijack topics for your jumbled, mind-twisted comments.
If necessary, I can post thread after thread to prove the point. Google has hundreds of them archived.

The more I read, the more convinced I am that you have a deep-rooted mental disability. There is something severely wrong with your mental processes Mark, and I don't mean just your dyslexia.
You have a glaring problem that the rest of us can see, but you are incapable of admitting same...deep denial, Mark. Very deep.
I posit that any person, you included, and especially you, who posts forty, fifty, sixty or more posts per diem to these newsgroups and, who makes the effort to use nyms, has a problem. Apparently your personal life is shallow indeed. Life must be a bore up there in Chassell. Your forays into the theatre are obviously a dismal failure.
Is Gav indeed your wife? Wait. I don't care. Since she has not taken your last name one must assume that the two of you are cohabiting and she has no desire to be known as Mrs. Morgan. Who can blame her?
Any woman who would live with you, Mr. Bisexual Morgan, has a screw loose herself. One can only draw the conclusion that Gav, like you, has more than a few loose ends or she'd not have taken up with you.
Is Gav one of those "artsy" types who wears floor length 70's style hippie dresses with beads on each ankle? You know...the old Hippy Gal whose hips have gone wide? Hints of a mustache on her upper lip? Unshaved legs? Granny glasses? Old open-toed leather sandals? Career Student? White wine? Did she have nowhere else to go?

Does Gav have her own bedroom? Bet she does. Do you make her split the rent? I have ten dollars and a Long John Silver's meal that says she doesn't climb into bed with you. Ever. Not once.

Personally, I think the service needs to stop focusing on raw numbers of licensed hams, and instead on the quality of those hams licensed. I would rather have 5 hams licensed who are interested in antenna theory, emergency communications, etc., rather than 10 hams who are interested in using ham radio as a cheap cell phone.

The current structure of the theory examinations is a joke. They really do nothing to ensure the applicant has a through knowledge of the topical material. For example, you could have failed each and every question on rules and regulations, and yet still obtained your license, simply because you know math well. This is not, IMO, a good thing. We are, however, unlikely to see this change for the positive, and highly likely to see the theory examinations weakened further as we move to a "simply mail in your 605, no exam needed" ham radio of the future.

Give me quantity. Antenna "theory" has not changed in 50 years, it is a given--a "known" in its present state. We need mind to come up with new ideas, apply newly discovered physics and give us something new to work with.

What do they need to know to grab their rig, coax and antenna off ebay and begin in the amateur bands, oh yeah, and know band limits and modes.

If you are speaking about putting control in all 350 million citizens hands (well, those over 18 and citizens of the united states) in some form of vote--ABSOLUTELY!

If you are speaking about putting control in only those hands which possess amateur tickets--ABSOLUTELY NOT!

A gov't agency, responsible to ALL citizens of the US is then the correct means to implement a democratic republic. But then, you already knew that from your HS and college civic classes ...

Letting the fox run the hen house is NOT American!

Yep, FCC should design/implement the exam forms and get the money it costs to print/disperse and implement said exams--the citizens pay for this, naturally, there is no "money tree" which provides money, we the citizens foot EVERY cost of ours, whether someone hides these costs from us or not.

That is American, we pay our own way here.

Several things come to mind here:

Quantity vs quality we hear a lot about. The former is good for publishers and equipment manufacturers and the latter is good for interesting QSO's.

Someone mentioned the importance of ham radio as a service to the community. What makes ham radio so special that it has to be a service to anyone other than those who enjoy it? All such justifications are pure nonsense these days.

It is also frequently said that ham radio is an "old man's hobby". So what! There are plenty of hobbies for children. I for one enjoy getting away from teeny boppers.

I get a great deal of pleasure out of talking to people my age and exchanging experiences and how we got here. I have nothing in common with children. I would be delighted to elmer them but competing with computers, cell phones, drugs and teenage girls is beyond the call of duty.

I welcome them into the community but to go trolling for them is a waste of energy.

People complain about the crowded bands, QRM, rude behavior and yet whine about declining numbers.

Won't it be nice what all that open space on 75 is filled with CB level hams?

Take a civic/"American Government" class. All power comes from the people and "flows" to our representatives, our representatives hire other servants to assist them in carrying out the peoples will, and only by our pleasure and for our well being, safety and needs.

All in government are a bunch of servants who work for us, kinda like maids, butlers, handy men, maintenance people, logistic workers, security, bean counters, etc.

If a few Americans are confused and attempt to worship them as royalty--well, I just don't know how to save the ignorant from themselves ... perhaps a better education will enlighten them?

Remember, our forefathers insisted we bear arms just to bring these guys back into line--least they forget ...

Too many diverse cultures and peoples flowing into this country and having lived under despots, disgusting dictators, communism, common criminals, etc. has diluted our sense of who we are and what heritage we have. This does need to be addressed ...

He sired a 'defective' daughter? You are indeed a fucking goon, Mark. Who are YOU to say that his daughter was worthless, in the womb or out? You have no right to pass judgment. It is obvious that Steve is far more moral than you, in that he does not practice abortion as you suggest he should have. What gives YOU the right to pass your mind-twisted judgment upon others? The synapses in your brain are misfiring again.
No human is "worthless", not even you...though you are pushing the envelope on this one.
Steve very much loved his daughter, something I'm sure you cannot comprehend since you will never sire children by engaging in anal sex with men.
By your reasoning, it follows that your mother should also have terminated you when you were but an embryo. After all, you are a mentally defective dyslexic and admit that you are partially disabled so, by extension, your existence in the womb was worthless, too.
As said earlier, I pity you. And like the morally bereft dolt you are, you cannot begin to understand why.
You've proved once again that you are indeed a bottom-feeder, pun intended.
<spit>

(I'm always surprised when this word is misspelled. The irony is just too much. Whenever one says something like, "in all existance," how much does one actually know about existence after spelling it existance?)

Trouble is, you are far from being a thinking, rational human. I suspect

His beloved daughter was an innocent soul. She could not defend herself.
I am not passing judgment. I am merely expressing my observations based upon your comments.

Dittos for your mother! She should have aborted you, too. Was she immoral?

You, by your own admissions and posts can hardly depict my comments as being inaccurate.

Not at all. Just an honest look at the facts as presented by you.

I should have stated that your are mentally defective AND dyslexic. Happy

Ah! A classic case of the pot calling the kettle black. Good try, Mark, but it doesn't fly. YOU can pass judgement, but when others take you to task, it is a different story.
Again, I passed no judgement. I merely stated facts that pertain directly to you. Don't like it? Too bad.

Read the comment again. Nowhere was eating shit mentioned. You obviously have a very guilty conscience.

Roger chases DX. YOU chase dicks.
It won't be long, Mark, before your sphincter is so stretched out of shape that you'll be able to store your never-used head in there.
Look on the bright side. At least you will be able to keep your ears warm Isn't this always the case with Morkie?

When others form a moderated newsgroup, it is "censorship".
When Morkie forms a moderated blog, it isn't "censorship".

Morkie is a walking double-standard.

Mark's mind works in odd, twisted ways that neither you or I wlll ever understand.
No matter what we may say, Mark will "read" his own interpretation into our words and then, as always, put words in our mouths where none existed. Yet, despite twisting our comments to suit his ends, he demands WE prove our statements while accusing us of "stlaking".
Yes, a clear double standard is at play here.

Nope. You are going out of your way to be cruel and then attempting to justify your stupid comments.

Yes! Your mother should have asked the local witch doctor to shove a coat hanger up her vagina and scrape you out. Unfortunately, that did not happen.

Just look at you. That is explanation enough. You should have been coat-hangered during the first trimester.

Just as you, "ahem" are defective, Mark. Your judgment is as flawed as the rest of your worn-out arguments. Your mom should have made your father use a condom, but it is too late for that now, isn't it?

What "implications"? When you openly admit to having sexual relations with fellow students while in college...well, that says it all.

Hi, over the past year I tinkered with equipment to send video pictures from a model aircraft to the ground. The 2.4Ghz system that I have now is working well with very good range due in part to two patch antenna's. The transmitter and receiver both have an audio channel with phono sockets which are not used. Can anybody suggest a circuit design which would convert serial data from my GPS module with a Serial Port Profile (Spp) output socket to send down this audio channel and be converted back on the ground?

Regards Geoff

DAYTON HAMVENTION DX DINNER. Jay, K4ZLE, states, "This is a reminder of the 22nd annual DX Dinner to be held in conjunction with the 2007 Dayton HamVention. The dinner will be Friday evening, May 18th, at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, located in Dayton City Center. This is the same venue as in years past. Our key speaker will be Ward Silver, N0AX. Ward is a well known DXer, Contester and author. In addition to the camaraderie and fellowship we expect to continue the tradition of have some very nice attendance prizes - last year the main prize was an Icom IC-756 Pro III! We have upgraded the menu this year. Tickets are 36.00 USDs per meal, payable in US funds to SWODXA. (Sorry, We do not process PayPal or Credit Card payments.) Please advise if you want a vegetarian meal when you order. You may order from Jay Slough, K4ZLE, at his CBA. SASE would be appreciated. We attempt to honor group seating requests when tickets are ordered together. There is not a bad seat in the house, but seating is definitely limited. Come join us for an evening of fun and fellowship. Further information may be obtained from Jay at: k4zle <at> yahoo <dot> com. K4ZLE's CBA is: 8183 Woodward Dr., West Chester, OH 45069"

DAYTON HAMVENTION RTTY FORUM. Shelby, K4WW, informs that the 2007 Dayton RTTY forum will take place on Sunday, May 20th, from 10:15-12:00 at Hara Arena, in Room 2. Speakers will be Ken/K1EA and Ed/W0YK. He states, "Ken will discuss log checking, and distinguish between myth and reality, busted/unique calls, serial numbers, and packet poaching. Ed will give ideas of efficiently improving RTTY contesting. Time permitting, there will be a question/answer session following the presentations."

DQ50, GERMANY (Special Event). Look for special event station DQ50SAAR to be active through the end of the year. Activity is to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the DARC Distrikt SAAR (Q). This activity counts as a special DOK 50SAAR. A special QSL will be issued and available via DO7VLR. QSLs will be sent automatically via the Bureau.

EK0, ARMENIA. Operators Hovik/EK6TA, Anna/EK6YL, Leszek/SP9LJD and Kazimierz SP9UON/DJ0MCZ will be active as EK0B during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi/? entry. QSL via SP9ERV.

HF40, POLAND. Members of the "Piastowski Klub Krotkofalowcow" will activate their club station (SP6PAZ) using the special event callsign HF40PAZ to celebrate their 40th anniversary. The station will be on the air between March 1st and April 30th, and again between September 1-30th. Also, look for HF40PAZ to be active in the 2007 CQWW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th). QSL via SP6PAZ. Visit their Web page at: http://www.sp6paz.int.pl

HI, DOMINICAN REPUBLIC. Javier, NM6E, informed OPDX on Thursday that he is in Santo Domingo and is active as HI8/NM6E. He will be in the country on an extended work assignment until March 15th. He plans to travel around the country, so look for him to also sign HI3/NM6E (Santiago) and HI7/NM6E (Punta Cana). Activity will be on 80-10 meters CW/SSB. Javier will use his K2 #4409 (QRP) station and a Super Antenna MP-1 vertical (10-80 plus wire antennas). His operation will be from the hotel pool areas or beach as his work schedule permits. He was expected to be in this past weekend's ARRL International DX SSB Contest (QRP Category) and Elecraft QSO Party (both modes, common QRP calling freqs). Depending on his work, Javier should be on in the evenings and on the weekends. QSL via LOTW ONLY.

IOTA NEWS.....
AF-019. Operator Luigi, IK8HCG, will be active as IG9R from Lampedusa Island during the next CQWW DX SSB Contest (October 27-28th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band (20m) entry. QSL via IK8HCG.

EU-186. Operators Pavel/TA2ZAF (OK1MU), Slavek/OK1TN, David/OK1RK, Standa/OK1AU, Karel/OK1DG, Zdenek/OK1FIA and Vlada/OK1CW will activate two Turkish Islands between March 4-11th. They will be using the special callsigns TC0DX and YM0DX to activate the Gokceada (EU-186) and Bozcaada (AS-099), respectively. Activity will be on 40-10 meters CW/SSB. They will have three IC-746PRO, 2 x PA, 5 elemnet Spiderbeam, 17m 2 element Delta Loop, 20m HB9CV and loops for 30m and 40m. QSL via OK2GZ, either by the OK Bureau or direct or via E-mail (for Bureau request). Online logs, story, photogallery, daily news, team, etc.... are available at:
http://www.okdxf.eu/ankety/tc0dx/en/tc0dx.php

NA-082. Members of the University of Mississippi ARC (W5UMS) will be activating Horn Island, March 10-11th. Operators mentioned are Barrett/W5BJC, Jim/W5JMO, Mike/WB5HSX and Mike/W5MPC. The team will be on the island from around noon Saturday through noon Sunday. Operation will be on 80/40/20 meters CW, SSB and the Digital modes around the regular IOTA frequencies. The callsign used will be K5I. QSL via W5MPC.

OC-137. Tim, VK4HFO, on Lamb Island, is expected to be active on 40 meters for stations wanting this IOTA. Look for him starting at 0600z onwards and again at 1700z onwards. Tim can be found working ZL1BMW most mornings around 7060 kHz (+/- QRM/QRN).

Skeds are "OK" by E-mail at: vk4hfo@yahoo.com.au

IPY ACTIVITY. Following the recent "Antarctica Activity Week'' event, look for operator Charles, M0OXO, and the North Wakefield Radio Club to be operating the special event station GB4IPY from March 1-15th. Activity is to celebrate the "International Polar Year". Look for them to be active on all HF bands on SSB, PSK31 and CW. QSL Manager is M3ZYZ. Also, a brand new WAP reference has been issued: WAP-098. ADDED NOTE: Remember, the following stations are also expected to be active are:
TM4IPY - Operator Francois/F8DVD; QSL via his home callsign.
LZ07IPY - Operator Svetly/LZ3SM; QSL via his home callsign.
IA3IPY - Operator Adriano/I3XMQ; QSL via his home callsign.
IP7IPY - Francesco/IZ7AUH; QSL via his home callsign.

J75, DOMINICA. The W2RZS Amateur Radio Club will be returning to Dominica for the 2007 CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) and they will be using their J75RZ callsign. This will be their third trip to J7-land. They expect to arrive on March 21st and stay for 6 days. Their "home" will be the Harmony Villa which boasts a 1700 foot elevation and is situated in the rain forest. Due to work schedules, there will be only two operators this trip; Bob/WB2NVR (J79RS) and Mike/WA2VQW (J79VQ). They will be active before and after the contest and will be concentrating on the lower bands.
All QSLs for J75RZ should be sent to W2RZS via direct or by the bureau.

J8, ST. VINCENT AND THE GRENADINES. Look for Gary, W0AW, to be active as J8/W0AW from the Island of Bequia (pr. Bek-way) in the Grenadine Islands (NA-025), March 10-16th. He will be using an ICOM IC-7000 and an inverted
"L" for 80-10 meters. If antenna space is available there will also be some operations on 160m. Activity will be CW, RTTY, and some SSB. QSL via W0AW, either by the bureau or direct.

KH6, HAWAII. Matsuda, JM3PIT, will be active as KH6/JM3PIT from Oahu, March 21-25th. His activity will include the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th). QSL via JM3PIT, by the Bureau.

LZ129, BULGARIA (Special Event). Members of the Balkan Contest Club (LZ1KZA & LZ5A) will activate the special event callsign LZ129LO from March 1-31st, to commemorate 129th anniversary of the "Liberation of Bulgaria from Ottoman yoke by Russia." The special station LZ129LO counts 10 points towards the "St. Teodosii Tyrnovski Award": http://www.balkanclub.org
QSL via LZ1KZA by the Bureau.

Ron, K5XK (QSL Mgr for 3B8FQ), informs OPDX readers that the following are excerpts of an E-mail from Dimiter, LZ1AF, one of the higher profile DXers from Bulgaria, addressing pilferage of currency directed to his P.O. Box in Sofia. This may be of interest for anyone needing a quick LZ QSL reply not only from Dim, but other LZ stations as well:
"I QSL via the QSL bureau 100%, and direct if required. I am going to have LZ50DX cards printed soon. For either of my calls, QSL via Bureau or Direct via P.O. Box 412, 1000 Sofia, Bulgaria. For direct replies, please include an SAE + 1 new IRC return postage (rather than USD because dollars are often intercepted. Thus, I am not aware of the QSL sent!). 73! Dim, LZ1AF"

QSL VK9DNX via DJ2MX. The German BCC DXpedition to Norfolk made some 60k+ QSOs. Online log is available at: http://www.df3cb.com/vk9dnx/SILENT KEYS.....

OPDX and its readers would like to send out our deepest sympathy to the families and friends of the following Silent Keys.

SU1ER. Early last week Hamad, 9K2HN, informed the DX community that Ezzat Sayed Ramadan, President of the Egypt Amateurs Radio Assembly (EARA - Egypt's IARU Society), became a Silent Key (SK). On February 25th, 9K2HN states, "It is with grief and deep sorrow that I received this morning the news of the sudden loss of our good friend, Ezzat Ramadan (SU1ER) who passed away peacefully. We would like to pass our deepest heartfelt condolences to his family on behalf of the Arab Radio Amateurs. May his soul rest in peace. For the people who never met Ezzat, he was very constructive in supporting Amateur Radio in Egypt and the Arab world. Ezzat will be greatly missed....."

N6ZZ. Well known contester Phil Goetz, N6ZZ, became a Silent Key (SK) on February 27th after suffering from a brain hemorrhage. Phil lived in of Alto, NM, and was 64 years old. For more info on Phil, visit the following Web page at:
http://www.arrl.org/news/stories/2007/03/01/100/

SU, EGYPT. Just a reminder that a small group of Egyptians and members of the Lufthansa Radio Club will activate the special event callsign SU8DLH (DLH stands for Deutsche Lufthansa) from Cairo, March 5-10th (possibly the 12th). Activity will be on all bands CW/SSB/Digital. 160m will only be possible with a maximum 100 watts and an inverted Vee fixed at 18m! QSL via Christofer, DK2CL.

TOPBANDER DX DINNER AT VISALIA. Earl, K6SE, announces that the Topbanders' DX Dinner will take place on Friday, April 27th, at 6:30 PM in the banquet room at the Sizzler Steak House, 2121 W. Caldwell Ave. in Visalia, CA, during the International DX Convention there. Dinner attendees will order from the Sizzler menu and pay their tabs individually. There is no fee to attend. To ensure adequate seating if you plan to attend, please contact him at: k6se@juno.com Information on Convention activities may be seen at:
http://www.dxconvention.org

Hallo you ll'
Again a nice discussion and a lot of aspects
CWing or not or another information code
From historical point of vieuw CW is the oldest and in my opinion the reliablest
and CW was a boarder between HF and VHF caused by brain damage i can concentrate on the recieving dittery dah dit of the morsecode
and so became the morsecode a boarder betweem different kinds of radioamateurs practice cw was a license the use unmanageable power practice cw became the roots of the QRPers CWers became a elitegroup of amateurs however they did nt understand the basic goal
after cw proof they rapidly forgot the code and have boasting on DX and when they met an antenneaproblem they let solve their problem by the techinical VHFers
SO be a "better " amateur however what is better contacting or understanding

That is obvious that you don't think.

No, but you sure have for real, haven't you?

Why do you think that everybody wants to suck cock just because you do? You are mentally ill and are probably on SSI for it.

1200 baud packet is usually sent through a audiotransmitter.
You could try APRS.

Hell, Marqueer, we already know that by what you post.

Yet it is you that have actually sucked a cock. You drool at the prospect of anybody discussing that perverted practice by two men, and you are a militant homosexual, trying to recurit others into your deviant lifestyle. You always defend your homosexual lifestyle, but on some level you must be ashamed of what you are since you try to say you are "bi".

As have many of us over the years. Remember the tape where Leila Heil knocked on his front door, making him run and hide in a closet like a coward? The bottom line is that Roger lisps when he tries to cover his timidity up when he is on the air. That's how he got the name "Woger" from the other hams who used to hear him jamming on 20M while lisping furiously about an Ohio ham named Steve Tunder.

Something just ain't right about that Woger.

Another bad guess, Woger. The real Lloyd Davies is packing up to drive over to his fiancee's city and get married this weekend.

That's why he's changing his life around. He finally fell in love and is getting married. He's clearing the decks so that he can devote his full attention to his new wife (and his new life).

In the meantime, a tape of one of your old 20M QSOs has been making the rounds as an mp3 file, and it definitely proves that you have a lisp. Look for a download link for it to appear on the net some time soon.

Cheers!

Hey Lardass, you said you were leaving the internet. Another lie, huh, fired Pizza BOY? You have to move to your mommy';s house in Kansas because they won't let you stay very long at that Salvation Army shelter, huh? A call to your former employer indicated that they fired your stupid retarded fat ass. You aren't getting married, fatty, you can't even get your flabby right hand to have sex with you. Roger doesn't have a lisp, but copies of your shitty shows proves that you do and has a girly high pitched voice. Especially when you shriek your proven pedophile buddy Steve Holsten of Kennett, MO isn't a pedo when he most clearly is a pedophile.

You must be going nuts now that Lloyd has left the Internet. (Oops!
Correction: you already are nuts.)

What I should have said is that you must be feeling out of sorts now that your favorite stalkee is unavailable. You need to look at the bright side: You still have Mark Morgan.

Unfortunately for you, you can't get the last word in with Mark, no matter how hard you try. The last time you tried to out-gauche Mark, you failed miserably, because Mark is a gauche master while you are still only a faltering beginner.

Learn to punce, Woger; learn to punce.

Malcolm Crowe: Dloyd Lavies, like, the Sweat Lord?
Mark Morgan: Walking around, he is all regular people, but they don't know they're all Dloyd.
Malcolm Crowe: How often do you see him?
Mark Morgan: All the time. He's everywhere, He's everyone.

If you have Microsoft Streets or AutoRoute, you have all you need for live APRS tracking. You can now take advantage of the superior maps that comes with it and use it with APRSPoint. We have update the installation process of APRSPoint so that it now supports Streets or AutoRoute. You can visit http://www.aprspoint.com for a free download and trial.

Of, course you don't, you area know-nothing retard who merely either bribed the ve or just memorized the answers to the General license exam.

Why, If he took the Tech and Generals twice and passed them then upgraded to extra, he shouldn't have any trouble if he had to retake them again. And he doesn't owe any money to the fcc, stupid. AS you contend that is why they do it. Goddamn are you a fucking imbecile.

Just making a point that you lied yet again when you said, "nope I don't going around making threats".

And then you say, "most people don't like thier family memebers harrassed" but say, "what attack ? after all he claims he is not attacking me or my family when he posts lies about me where is the attack in posting the truth that he sired a defective daughter and failed to prevent her worthless existance in the womb at least these things are true if Stve is telling the truth about her on his websie"

You are quite the hypocrite.

They are most likely not married anyway. Just shacking up. Mark lies a lot.
I suspect that they are merely living together so she can help Mark pay the utilities.

She seems to refuse to take Mark's last name, and probably with good reason.

Of course this could be one of those New Age arrangements whereby Mark says,
"We are married" and feels that there is no need for a local legal authority to make it official.

Morkie is a term of endearment. Which dictionary do you use to come up with this "name-calling" definition?

I'd love to have heard Mark's CW operation during a Sweepstakes 'test. I'll bet is sounded like someone falling down a flight of stairs with a keyer and a Scrabble game.

nope But good to see you Tom nice to see you are the same as ever in point of the the only besides the law that precludes me giving them the Vald Tepes treatment is that they would never come near if I could

My option, Morkie. Like your various sock puppets to avoid Google's TOS, I'll use whichever nym I like.
In my case, since I use Altopia, I don't have to hide from the TOS that you must abide by.
Stop casting stones.

2348. Gav NOT Mrs Morgan

Explain, Morkie, why Gav sees fit to NOT take your last name if, indeed, the two of you are married as you claim.
You've already lied numerous times, so a few more will not hurt your already poor reputation.

And unlike others, I will not stoop to be so low as to accept the accusations that Gav is, like you, bisexual or perhaps has a male "member" dangling from her private area. Those accusations are clearly meant to goad you into further diatribes, and I will not join the fray.

Still, the question crosses my mind as to why Gav has not taken your last name as is traditional in most mainstream marriages. In all fairness, Morkie, it is no small wonder that others in this group question the veracity of your claim. Of course since Michigan does not allow same-sex marriages...well, I won't go there. I'll leave that up to Roger.

2349. ARRL PRESIDENT EMERITUS JIM HAYNIE, W5JBP, NAMED "AMATEUR OF THE YEAR"

(Why do I have the feeling a certain ex-ham from Maine is going to cringe when he reads this?)

Dayton Hamvention® <http://www.hamvention.org> has named ARRL President Emeritus Jim Haynie, W5JBP, as its 2007 Amateur of the Year. Hamvention says Haynie's League leadership "helped define Amateur Radio's role in emergency communication." Hamvention also announced this week that ARRL Laboratory Manager Ed Hare, W1RFI, will receive Hamvention's Special Achievement Award to recognize his technical expertise in documenting the threat of interference from broadband over power line (BPL) systems. Internet Radio Linking Project (IRLP) <http://www.irlp.net> David Cameron, VE7LTD, was named the recipient of the Technical Excellence Award.

"I was astonished, and I'm deeply honored," Haynie said after getting word that he'd be receiving Hamvention's top award in May. "It's quite a recognition -- and quite a surprise."

A ham for 34 years, Haynie, who lives in Dallas, was West Gulf Division Director for eight years and an ARRL vice president for two years. He then served three terms as the League's volunteer president, from 2000 until 2006, when he was succeeded by current ARRL President Joel Harrison, W5ZN. Haynie's award nomination cited his "energy, tenacity and attention to detail that has transformed the American Radio Relay League from the service organization it was prior to 9/11 into the proactive, vital emergency service clearing house and educational operation that it is today."

During his tenure as League president, Haynie's effort to define Amateur Radio's role in homeland security was among his top initiatives. In 2003, he signed a formal Statement of Affiliation between the Department of Homeland Security and ARRL. He has an abiding interest in emergency communication and has promoted Amateur Radio's emergency communication value and contributions on Capitol Hill and elsewhere.

Haynie also championed "The Big Project" -- now the ARRL Education and Technology Program (ETP) -- to bring ham radio and wireless technology into schools.

2351. I crimnal

So, Mark. Which crime are you going to accuse me of today? Or Dee? Or Steve? Or Roger? Or Mike? Or Dorothy and Toto?
Lets get this straight. If and when I respond to you, I am "stlaking" you. When Mike responds, he is "harassing" you. When Dee sets the record concerning VE's straight, she is "calling you names". When you flood the group with your idiocy, you are merely defending yourself, right?

Clearly, Morkie, your idiocy has no boundaries. Oops! That is harrassment, right? Oh, wait. I called you Morkie, so I am also guilty of name-calling. Note that I refrained from calling you a dumbass or a dip shit. I wouldn't do that lest you turn me over to your local prosecuting attorney. Since you have inside information on the latest laws of the land, and so often quote them, I will shy away from referring to you as a dumbass as has been done by others. However, Morkie, I will NOT cease referring to you as Morkie. If this displeases you and offends your dyslexic sensitivities, call your attorney. Have him subpoena Altopia so you can find out who I reallly am. Maybe Gav will front you the money from her waitress tips earned at the Green Light Lounge.

You, Morkie, are quite the socially dysfunctional idiot. I thought Roger had no redeeming qualities, but that was before I came into contact with you. Roger is lacking a few dominos here and there, but you, Morkie, have many mental issues that will forever be unresolveable.
Roger, despite his foul mouth, is rather fun to spar with. You, on the other hand, are an insufferable, fat, pissy little Bitch.

Now go forth and call your attorney. Or act as your own. Either way, the both of you will be pissing up a tree.

Happy Trails, Morkie. May your AZT help you and Gav prosper and live long....

Your comments give me headaches while trying to decipher what you say.

Perhaps I should go across the street and ask the fourth-grader to act as an interpreter.

Yes, I did. Yet you refute me not.
Again, I harbor no bigotry. You don't see Me openly telling others about my sexual proclivities.

You do.

The two of you seem to be fairly well-versed in such matters.

I trust that you are not allowed to live within 1,000 feet of a grade school.

I don't know that. None of us do. Given your propensity for falsehoods, nobody believes you.
You are well known as being an accomplished liar.

You may have a write-in degree in scatology, that I will not dispute.

Merely because I've been legally married to a WOMAN for more years than you've been posting here.
I've never, not once, ever entertained the idea of having sex with a man.
You, on the other hand.....

Operators mentioned are: Len/UR3HR, Sergey/UR7HTX, Max/UR7HTZ (3D2TZ), Alex/UT5UY (3D2UY) and Alex/UX0LL (3D2AP). Their activity will start from Taveuni Island (OC-016), using the callsign 3D2AP, 3D2TZ and 3D2UY between April 27th and May 3rd. The team will then move to one of the "Most Wanted IOTA and Most Wanted Fijian IOTA Group (only 7.8% IOTA Chasers are credited) and activate Yanuca Island in the Ringgold Isles Group (OC-189) as 3D2RI (suffix RI=Ringgold Isles) between May 3-7th. The group plans to have 2-3 well equipped stations active and operating simultaneously using YAGI antennas. There will be a special effort on the lower bands. QSLs for 3D2RI are via UR3HR, by the bureau or direct to: LEONID BABICH, P.O. BOX 55, POLTAVA, 36000, UKRAINE. QSL cards for personal activity from Taveuni Island should be sent direct to home callsign or through the bureau (QSL 3D2UY via UT5UY, 3D2AP via UX0LL and 3D2TZ via UR7HTZ). Due to the high cost of this operation on a remote Pacific Island, the group is asking for sponsorship by various DX organizations and individuals around the world. If you would like to help fund or sponsor their DXpedition, please contact Alex, UT5UY, by E-mail at: ut5uy@ukr.net For more information, please visit the Ukrainian DXpedition Team (UDXT) Web site at: http://www.3d2.dxer.com.ua

3DA, SWAZILAND (Reminder). Remember, members of the Irish Radio Transmitters Society (IRTS), will celebrate their 75th Jubilee by planning a "AFRI75 Dxpedition 2007" to Swaziland between March 16-25th. Activity for this DXpedition will also cover St. Patrick's Day and the CQWW WPX SSB Contest. The DXpedition's leader is IRTS Vice President Paul Martin, EI2CA (3DA0PM). Currently, the following members have signed up for the DXpedition: Peter/EI7CC (3DA0PB), Aidan/EI8CE (3DA0AM), David/EI4DJ/GI4FUM (3DA0DG), Rory/EI4DJB (3DA0RH), Brendan/EI3GV (3DA0GV) and Pete/GI4VIV (3DA0GI)
A private UK/Ireland YAHOO newsgroup for this DXpedition is available at: http://uk.groups.yahoo.com/group/AFRI75/
Admission to this group is by request only and is at the discretion of the group moderators. Skeds may also be requested to any of the DXpedition members. Operation will be on all bands with particular attention given to the WARC bands, digital modes and the LF bands. It is also hoped to have some activity on EME, 2m and 6m. QSL Manager for all callsigns is via EI7CC, and cards may be sent direct or by the bureau. Also, please visit the IRTS Web page which will be updated with information on a regular basis at: http://www.irts.ie/cgi/afri75.cgi
A log search facility will be updated on a daily basis.

5C, MOROCCO. M'hamed, CN8NK, in Rabat, will once again be active using the special callsign 5C8A during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via EA5XX.

5R, MADAGASCAR. Vlad, UA4WHX, continues to be active as 5R8VB, but there are no details on when he is leaving. He was heard this past week on 80/40/30/20/18 meters using CW or SSB. QSL via UA4WHX, after he return from his trip.

60M WEB PAGE FOR DXERS. Tom, K4MM, has provided an interesting Web page for 60 meters operators looking for DX. The Web site lists DX stations that have been active on this new band and also lists upcoming operations. The Web page can be found at: http://http://60meters.info/Possible stations to look for in the coming months are:
Guernsey - By GU4WTN in early spring.
Madeira Island - By Hardy/DL3KWF and Rose/DL3KWR. They have applied for permission, March 9-22nd.
Jersey - MJ DXpedition is planned for March 14-22nd.
Costa Rica - By Ed/TI8AA in the high mountains of Costa Rica, April 2-7th. QSL via TI8AA.
Swains Island - Callsign N8S; beginning April 3rd.
Bermuda - By Ed/VP9GE and Joe/W8GEX; working on getting VP9GE permission.
ADDED NOTE: The 60 meter band became available to U.S. amateurs on July 3rd in 2003. Any U.S. amateur radio operator holding a General, Advanced or Amateur Extra Class license may only transmit USB on the following five channels: 5330.5 (CH 1), 5346.5 (CH 2), 5366.5 (CH 3), 5371.5 (CH 4) and 5403.5 kHz (CH 5). Transmission on these channels are with an effective radiated power (ERP) not to exceed 50 watts PEP. Channel 5 is the unofficial DX calling frequency!

9M4, SPRATLY ISLANDS (Update). The Malaysian/Japanese 9M4SDX DXpedition is now active from Pulau Layang Layang (AS-051) in the Spratly Island group until March 19th. One of the operators Tex, 9M2TO, informed OPDX before leaving that the group will have a 6m beacon on 50.115 MHz. The group plans to have 2-4 stations up and running for 24 hours on all bands 160-6 meters, and on CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK modes. Remember to QSL via 9M2TO, by the bureau or direct to: Tex Izumo, 2C-10-03 Mutiara APT., JLN. SG. EMAS 11100 Batu Ferringhi, Penang, MALAYSIA. Visit the DXpedition's Web page at: http://island.geocities.jp/layang9m4sdx/

9M4, WEST MALAYSIA (Contest/IOTA Op). Members of the Malaysian Amateur Radio Transmitter Society (MARTS) will use their special contest callsign 9M4DXX during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th). Operations will be from Tex's, 9M2TO, QTH on Penang Island (AS-015). QSL via 9M2TO.

9N, NEPAL. Popa, YU7EF, is once again back in Nepal until May 3rd. No other information is available at this time (callsign/bands). Some reports indicate he may operate from Stig's, LA7JO (9N7JO), QTH. Hopefully, more info will be available next week.

ANOTHER 9 BAND DXCC VIA LOTW. Clive Penna, GM3POI, became the second ham to achieve 9 band DXCC using only Logbook of The World (LoTW) confirmations. John Sluymer, VE3EJ, in Ontario, was the first. Congratulations, Clive!

CQ MAGAZINE. Richard Moseson, W2VU, Editor of CQ Amateur Radio, provides the following: FOR RELEASE: IMMEDIATE (March 8, 2007)
CQ Introduces "HF Operator's Survival Guide" (Hicksville, NY - March 8, 2007) -- In response to recent changes in licensing rules and operating privileges for all hams, the editors of CQ Amateur Radio magazine have prepared an "HF Operator's Survival Guide," a 16-page "getting started" guide for newcomers to high-frequency (shortwave) amateur radio communications.

Written by CQ Contesting Editor John Dorr, K1AR; Contributing Editor Gordon West, WB6NOA, and CQ Editor Rich Moseson, W2VU, who also oversaw the overall production, the booklet is a practical hands-on guide to success in HF ham radio.
Segments include:
"HF: Your Window to the World," by K1AR, a brief description of the characteristics of each HF ham band and which is best when;

"The Basics of HF Operating," also by K1AR, covers operating practices on HF, particularly as they differ from common practices on VHF;

"Choosing Your First Rig," by WB6NOA, looks at the considerations that go into deciding whether to buy new or used, basic or something to "grow into," and important considerations such as band coverage and receiver quality;

"Antennas to Get You Going," by the late Joe Carr, K4IPV (written for a previous project that was never published), covers the basics of dipoles, verticals and beam antennas;

"HF Activity Guide," by W2VU, which looks at the different modes and operating activities a ham is likely to encounter on HF, along with an introduction to certificate-chasing and contesting; and

"An HF Band Chart," showing the new frequency privileges for each class of license on each HF band

"Starting out on HF can be pretty intimidating," says Moseson, "especially now, at the bottom of the sunspot cycle, when DX opportunities are harder to find. This practical guide will help the new HF operator, regardless of license class, hit the air running."
CQ's "HF Operator's Survival Guide" sells for $2 (plus shipping), with discounts available for bulk purchases. To order, or for more information, contact CQ Communications, Inc. at 800-853-9797 on weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Eastern time.

E2/HS, THAILAND. Champ, E21EIC, and others have announced that the "Radio Amateur Society of Thailand" (RAST) has received authorization from NTC for Thai operators to operate on 80 and 160 meters during contests in the year 2007 (ending December 31st). Thai operators may operate their stations on CW and SSB between 1800-1825 kHz and 3500-3536 kHz. Split operations have also been authorized. Stations in Thailand currently can only operate on 40/20/15/10 meters and can not operate on 30/17/12/6. However, activity on the WARC bands and 6 meters is sometimes granted with special permission.

HF40, POLAND (Update). Members of the "Piastowski Klub Krotkofalowcow" will activate their club station (SP6PAZ) using the special event callsign HF40PAZ to celebrate their 40th anniversary. The station will be on the air between March 1st and April 30th, and again between September 1-30th. Also, look for HF40PAZ to be active in the 2007 CQWW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th). QSL via SP6PAZ. A special award is now available to both SWLs and hams. Please visit the following Web pages for details at:

http://www.sp6paz.opole.pl
http://www.sp6paz.opole.pl/pdf/50en.pdf

H44, SOLOMON ISLANDS. Bernhard, DL2GAC, is once again active as H44MS. He is expected to be on the Solomon Islands until April 25th. The "DX Newletter" reports that Bernhard is collecting QSLs for his U.S. Counties Award and 5 Band WAS from there. His activity will have an emphasis on 80/40 meters SSB. He was also heard on 20 meters this past week. There are reports that Bernhard might show up from different islands throughout his operation like he did during all of his previous DXpeditions. QSL direct or via the bureau to DL2GAC.

HH, HAITI. Jan, K4QD, will once again be active as HH4/K4QD from here, March 19-30th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters CW/SSB. As in the past, Jan will operate from the NW Haiti Christian Mission: http://www.nwhcm.org Jan prefers QSLs direct to K4QD or LoTW, but the Bureau is OK.

HV0, VATICAN. Station HV0A has been very active over the last week, especialy on CW, RTTY and 160/80 meters. Most of the activity has been on 20 meters between 1400-1700z, but this past weekend's activity was on 160/80 meters between 0330-0630z. QSL via IK0FVC.

IOTA NEWS.....
EU-008. Dennis, M0LSB, is expected to be active as MM0LSB/p from the following three Scottish islands between March 14th and April 2nd: Islay (IOSA NH-22, SCOTIA CS-25), Jura (IOSA NH-21, SCOTIA CS-28) and Gigha (IOSA NH-24, SCOTIA CS-23), Inner Hebrides (EU-008). Activity will be on 80-10 meters SSB. QSL via M0LSB (QRZ.com).

EU-010. Dennis, M0LSB, will be active as MM0LSB/p from Great Bernera, Scotland, July 27-29th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters SSB and in the RSGB IOTA Contest (July 28-29th). QSL via M0LSB.

EU-071. Kent, SM5ELV, will be active as TF7/SM5ELV from Heimaey Island, Iceland, June 10-13th. He will try to activate as many bands and modes as possible using only 100 watts, a vertical antenna and maybe a dipole. QSL via SM5ELV.

EU-123. Operators Tom/MM0BHX, Gordon/MM0GPZ, Douglas/GM0ELP, Phil/GM0LIR, John/GM0NBM and Iain/GM0OQV will be active as GM0B from Bute Island, Scotland, during the RSGB IOTA Contest (July 28-29th). QSL via MM0BHX.

EU-125. Mike, DK5NA, will be active as OZ/DK5NA from Romo Island, March 18-30th. Activity will be on 160-40 meters CW. QSL via DK5NA (QRZ.com).

NA-034. Members of the Mid Florida DX Association (MFDXA) will be activating special event station N2D in memory of founder and 1st Club President Dan, W2NDP (SK), from Honeymoon Island. This will be a one day only operation. Operators mentioned are: Tony/N2MFT, Steve/KS4WA, Gregg/N6ZUE and Warner/N4WBJ.

Activity will be 20 meters, 15 meters and maybe 17 meters (depending on propagation) and the IOTA frequencies will be used +/- QRM. QSL via W4FDX (QRZ.com). Visit the MFDXA Web page at: http://www.w4fdx.com

NA-076. Wade, AA8LL, will be active as AA8LL/4 from Cedar Key, FL, now through March 13th. Activity will be 40-10 meters, CW, SSB and RTTY; with 100 watts and wire antennas. QSL direct, bureau, or LoTW to AA8LL.

NA-113. Operators Pete/W2GJ, Ed/K3IXD and Randy/K4QO will be active from Crooked Island, South Bahamas Group, July 27-30th. Their activity will include the RSGB IOTA Contest where they will use the callsign C6APR. Activity before and after the IOTA Contest will be on the WARC bands plus 6m, using CW, SSB and RTTY, and the callsigns C6AXD (K3IXD) and C6AQO (K4QO). These QSOs will also count for Bird Rock Lighthouse (ARLHS BAH-005, TWLHD WLH C6-002, WLOTA LH-0118 , WW Loc. FL22TU). QSLs for all callsigns go via K3IXD, by the Bureau or direct to:
Ed Steeble, 202 Huntington Rd., Summerville SC 29483 USA.

NA-183. (Update) Operators Enrique/XE1IH, Francisco/XE1KOF, Luis/XE1YJL, David/XE1XR, Martin/XE2ML and Ben/XE2AUB will activate two islands in the Guerrero State Group as 4A3IH in the month of May. Look for them to activate Roqueta Island [ARLHS MEX-069]
(May 14-19th) and Guerrero Island (May 21-26th) on all HF bands, 6/2 meters, CW, SSB, Digital modes and the Satellites. QSL is OK via the Bureau or direct to IT9EJW: Alfio Bonanno, Via della Regione, 20 - 95028 Valverde (CT), Italy. More information is available at: http://www.mdxc.org/4a3ih

SA-089. The 4M5DX Team will be active as YW1DX from Cayo Sombrero, July 27-30th. They will participate in the IOTA Contest as a DXpedition category. Look for YW1DX on the WARC bands CW, SSB and RTTY before and after the contest. The team is looking for sponsors/donors for this operation.

J5, GUINEA-BISSAU (IOTA Op). Just a reminder to look for Jack, F6BUM, to be active as J5BI from Bubaque Island, March 14-28th. Activity will be on 40-10 meters, CW, SSB, RTTY, PSK31 and SSTV (on request preferably on 21340 kHz). He will use a FT-857D w/100 watts in dipole antennas. QSL via his home callsign, direct, by the Bureau or eQSL. Visit his Web page (with a log search) at: http://www.f6bum.net

JW, SVALBARD. Francois, F8DVD, will once again be active as JW/F8DVD from the Longyearbyen ARC, located on the Spitsbergen Island, 78° North, and about a thousand kilometers far from the geographic North Pole (EU-026, WAZ 40 and Grid Square JQ78TF), April 12-23rd. His activity will be on all HF bands both CW and SSB. This will be Francois's 5th time on the island.
He will use the Longyearbyen Radio Club's equipment which consists of an ICOM 751 and a 500 watts PA, into a 5 elements yagi on a 30 meters high tower. QSL via his home callsign, through the French REF-Union Bureau or direct, w/SAE + 1 IRC (or 1 USD for EU, and 2 USD for elsewhere) to:

Francois Bergez, 6, Rue de la Liberte, F-71000 MACON, France.

NP3, PUERTO RICO. Operators Jim/KS1J, Joe/K1JN, John/W1DX, Matt/WE1H, Pat/NG1G, Foster/N3KCJ, Jim/AJ1M Bill/N1HRA and Carlos/WP4U will be active as NP3U during the CQ WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi/Multi entry. QSL via WP4U.

PIRATE ALERT. Tim, WD9DZVA, informs OPDX that a station sign SU0FEC is a pirate, and he is not the QSL Manager for this callsign. However, Tim is a QSL Manager for many other stations.

POPULAR COMMUNICATIONS CHANGES EDITOR. CQ Communications, Inc., President Richard Ross, K2MGA, provides the following:
EDITH LENNON, N2ZRW, NAMED EDITOR OF POPULAR COMMUNICATIONS
(Hicksville, NY, March 8, 2007) -- Edith Lennon, N2ZRW, has been named Editor of Popular Communications magazine, it was announced today by CQ Communications, Inc., President Richard Ross, K2MGA. Lennon, who is currently the magazine's Managing Editor, succeeds Harold Ort, N2RLL, editor since 1996.
Edith's name may be familiar to readers of CQ Communications magazines and books, having served in various editorial capacities on several publications produced by CQ over a 17-year span. In addition to her work on Popular Communications, Lennon has been Editor of Radio magazine (produced by CQ for RadioShack), the CQ Amateur Radio Buyer's Guide, the CQ Beginner's Guide to Amateur Radio and The Music and Computer Educator. She has also been Managing Editor of several publications from CQ and other publishers, including CQ VHF and Communications Quarterly. In addition, Lennon has edited several technical books and was Managing Editor of the highly acclaimed CQ Amateur Radio Almanac. She also does freelance writing in the media industry.
"Edith brings more than a decade of publishing and hobby radio experience to this position," said Ross. "I am confident that she will be able to make a good magazine even better."
"Today, the listening hobby has expanded beyond just radio," said Lennon, "including streaming audio on the internet and other sources. One of my goals is to broaden the base of Popular Communications to include all of these new information sources as well as traditional over-the-air radio."
Lennon assumes the editorship of Popular Communications with the June 2007 issue.

(This is one of the two guys who sued my friend over his 220 repeater back in 1986. To bad the FCC is not gonna collect the whole $11,000 but maybe he will be forever banned from ham radio instead. What goes around comes back around.)

FCC lops fine, admonishes Amateur Radio licensee (Mar 2, 2007) -- The FCC has reduced from $11,000 to $2500 the fine it imposed in 2004 on Daniel Granda, KA6VHC, of Whittier, California. In a Memorandum Opinion and Order (MO&O) released March 1, the FCC said Granda intentionally interfered with Amateur Radio communications and failed to respond to FCC correspondence. Granda, whose Amateur Extra class license renewal is under review, petitioned for reconsideration of the $11,000 fine in 2004. "In his petition, Mr Granda does not dispute our finding that he caused deliberate interference to Amateur Radio communications nor does he deny his failure to respond to official Commission correspondence," recounted Assistant FCC Enforcement Bureau Chief George R. Dillon, who signed the MO&O. "He does contend, however, that imposition of the full forfeiture amount would impose a financial hardship on him and his spouse." The FCC agreed to reduce the fine to $2500 after reviewing Granda's federal tax returns. "The reduction of the forfeiture amount, however, does not lessen the severity of the violations cited in this proceeding, specifically Mr Granda's intentional interference to radio communications," Dillon cautioned. "For that reason, we will further admonish Mr Granda for his violations." In an ominous footnote, the MO&O noted that the Enforcement Bureau had asked the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau (WTB) to "consider this violation in processing Mr Granda's pending license renewal application for KA6VHC." In August 2003, the WTB set aside the grant of renewal of Granda's license, which expired in November 2003. His renewal application has reverted to "pending" status.

This year my clocks set ok but did not do so until about 10am. Last year it took a week before my clocks got a strong enough signal to reset.

LITTLE BABY MORKINS ASKED HIS MOMMY:
Mommy, Mommy! What happened to all that dog food Fido wouldn't eat?
Shut up and eat your meat loaf.

Mommy, Mommy! When are we going to have Aunt Edna for dinner?
Shut up, we haven't even finished your Grandmother yet.

Mommy, Mommy! I hate my sisters guts.
Shut up and eat what's put in front of you.

Mommy, Mommy! What's an Oedipus complex?
Shut up and kiss me!

Mommy, Mommy! What is a deliquant child?
Shut up, light your cigarette, drink your whisky and deal those cards.

Mommy, Mommy! What is a deliquant child?
Shut up and pass me the crowbar.

Mommy, Mommy! Are you sure this is the way to make ginger bread men?
Shut up and get back in the oven.

Mommy, Mommy! Are you sure this is the right way to cook Peking Duck?"
Shut up and close the microvawe oven door behind you!

Mommy, Mommy! What's for dinner?
Shut up and get back in the oven!

Mommy, Mommy! But I don't wanna eat pizza!
Shut up and get in the oven!

Mommy, Mommy! What do you want with that ax....

Mommy, Mommy! I can't breathe!
Good, it's working.

Mommy, Mommy! Why do I have to hop everywhere?
Shut up or I'll chop off the other leg!

Mommy, Mommy! Grandma's got a bruise.
Shut up and eat around it!

Mommy, Mommy! Can I play with grandma?
Not today, we already dug her three times this week.

Mommy, Mommy! What happened to all your scabs?
Shut up and eat your cornflakes!

Mommy, Mommy! What's in those CARE packages they send to Africa?
Shut up and get back in the box!

Mommy, Mommy! The teacher says I look like a monkey!
Shut up and comb your face!

Mommy, Mommy! What's a werewolf?
Shut up and comb your face!

Mommy, Mommy! Whats an orgasm?
I don't know dear, ask your father.

Mommy, Mommy! Billy won't let go of my ear.
Billy, let go of Susie's ear.
Billy! Let go of her ear!
All right Billy, give me the ear.

Mommy, Mommy! I hate daddy's guts.
Well, just leave them on the side of the plate.

Mommy, Mommy! What's a nymphomaniac?
Shut up and help me get Gramma off the doorknob!

Mommy, Mommy! Why is daddy so pale?
Shut up and keep digging.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't like grandpa.
Well, just push him aside and eat your beans.

Mommy, Mommy! Grandpa's going out!
Well throw some more gasoline on him then.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't want to go to Australia.
Shut up son and keep swimming.

Mommy, Mommy! Why are we pushing the car off the cliff?
Shut up son, you'll wake your father.

Mommy, Mommy! I keep running in circles.
Shut up or I'll nail your other foot to the floor.

Mommy, Mommy! The milkmans here; have you got the money or should I go out an play?

Mommy, Mommy! Why's everybody running?
Shut up and reload.

Mommy, Mommy! Why is Daddy zigzagging in the yard?
Shut up and shoot again!

Mommy, Mommy! I don't wanna visit grandma!
Shut up and keep digging.

Mommy, Mommy! Can I lick the bowl?
Shut up and flush.

Mommy, Mommy! I'm sick of learning how to swim!
Shut up or I'll flush it again!

Mommy, Mommy! It's cold and dark and damp down here.
Shut up or I'll flush it again.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't want hamburgs for supper!
Shut up or I'll grind your other hand.

Mommy, Mommy! I HATE tomato juice!
Shut up and drink it before it clots.

Mommy, Mommy! What's a vampire?
Shut up and eat your soup before it clots.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't like tomato soup!
Shut up, we only have it once a month.

Mommy, Mommy! I HATE spagetti!
Shut up or I'll pull the veins out of your other arm.

Mommy, Mommy! There's something in daddy's eye!
Shut up and eat around it.

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy puked!
Shut up and get a fork, before your sister gets all the big chunks!

Mommy, Mommy! Why are you moaning?
Shut up son, and keep licking.

Mommy, Mommy! Can I get pregnant?
Of course not dear, you are only seven years old.
OK boys, same again...

Mommy, Mommy! Why can't we get a garburator?
Shut up and chew!

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy's too tough!
"Shut up and keep chewing!"

Mommy, Mommy! Joey is biting grandma's nail.
Joey, stop it, or I am closing the coffin!

Mommy, Mommy! Can I buy a new dress?
You know it won't fit over your iron lung.

Mommy, Mommy! Why can't I play with the other kids?
Shut up and deal.

Mommy, Mommy! Can I brush my teeth?
Yes, now shut up and get the jar!

Mommy, Mommy! My head hurts!
Shut up and get away from the dart board!

Mommy, Mommy! My teacher says my head is too big.
Shut up and get your hat from the garage, so your father can bring the car in!

Mommy, Mommy! Can I play in the sandbox?
Not until I find a better place to bury Daddy.

Mommy, Mommy! Why can't we give Dad a decent burial?
Shut up and keep flushing.

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy's on fire!
Shut up and get the marshmallows!

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy fell in the campfire!
Shut up and get the barbecue sauce!

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy's running down the street!
Shut up and step on the gas!

Mommy, Mommy! I don't want to see Niagara falls!
Shut up and get back in the barrel!

Mommy, Mommy! I want to play with Sheldon!
Shut up and close the coffin!

Mommy, Mommy! Is this the way to make pickles?
Shut up and get back in the barrel!

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy went through the meat grinder!
Shut up and eat your hamburger!

Mommy, Mommy! How will we ever find Daddy on this golf course?
Shut up and search the sand traps!

Mommy, Mommy! I've lost my fingers!
Shut up and eat your french fries!

Mommy, Mommy! How do lions make love?
I don't know dear, all your father's friends are rotarians...

Mommy, Mommy! What is incest?
Shut up and lick.

Mommy, Mommy! What's oral sex?
mmmrmmph mumble mumble mmhhh mmrph mmumble!

Mommy, Mommy! I had just my first sexual experience. And it was the guy's first time too. His dick was still in the rubber.

Mommy, Mommy! Why is Daddy bent over and crying?
Shut up and eat your hot dog!

Mommy, Mommy! Daddy just poisoned my kitten!
Never mind dear. Perhaps he had to do it.
No he didn't, he promised me I could!

Mommy, Mommy! When will we have this nice yellow pudding again?
Shut up, you know that grandma's leg is no longer infested.

Mommy, Mommy! Why is my hair so slimey?
Shut up, you little snot.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't like Sis!
Shut up, and keep eating!

Mommy, Mommy! I'd like to play marbles now!
Keep quiet, you can't use Grandpa's glass eye today!

Mommy, Mommy! I don't like the crunchy stuff in my pea soup!
Keep quiet and eat what is on the table or do you think I pour Grandpa's vomit
through a sieve?

Mommy, Mommy! Can I wear a bra now? I'm 16..
Shut up, Albert....

Mommy, Mommy! Sally won't come skipping with me.
Don't be cruel dear, you know it makes her stumps bleed.

Mommy, Mommy! Why do other kids tell me I have a big head?
Don't worry. Take your cap and go get me 40 lbs of potatoes at the store.

Mommy, Mommy! Why do other kids tell me I have a long nose?
You don't, but lift your head up or you'll scrape the floor.

Mommy, Mommy! Are you sure this is how to learn to swim?
Shut up and get back in the sack!

Mommy, Mommy! Why does daddy have his Knob in the bread bin?
Ignore him son, he's fucking crackers!

Mommy, Mommy! How come sis gets to watch TV and I can't?
Shut up or I'll cut your ears off, too!

Mommy, Mommy! Don't push me towards the elevator shAAAAAFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFFT!

Mommy, Mommy! Why don't I have a big thing like Daddy's between my legs?
You will when you're older, Lucy!

Mommy, Mommy! Why are we celebrating Christmas in July?
Shut up, you know you have cancer.

Mommy, Mommy! I like my brother very much.
All right, you can take another slice.

Mommy, Mommy! Why does Daddy's dick taste so bad?
Shut up and give your sister another tampon.

Mommy, Mommy! I just sucked Daddy and my mouth smells shit!
Well, your little brother probably has diarrhoea...

Mommy, Mommy! Why do they call me spastic at school?
Shut up and take your legs out your pockets.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't want to empty the compost heap.
Shut up and keep eating.

Mommy, Mommy! I don't like fishing.
Shut up and stop squirming.

Mommy, Mommy! Can Sheldon come out and play baseball with us?
Now you know your little brother has no arms and legs!
Yeah, we know. We just wanna use him for second base.

Mommy, Mommy! Suzi got run over by a steamroller.
Shut up. I'm in the bathroom, slide her under the door.
<> Shut up and get the maple syrup.

Mommy, Mommy! Can I go to the toilet?
Yes Johnny I'll take you in a minute.
Can Granny take me?
Why?
Her hand shakes.

"Come upstairs, son, like a good boy."
"No, Mommy, you'll only throw me down again."

Daddy, Daddy! What is queer?
Shut up and unhook my bra.

Daddy, Daddy! What's a pervert?
Shut up, kid, and keep sucking....

What did the little boy say when his mother scolded him for cutting his Christmas present (a spotted hamster) neatly in two pieces with a cleaver? Answer: "But, Mommy, you said that if I was good, I could halve him."

AND WE WONDER HOW MORKINS TURNED FRUIT!

Hello All.

I have fifteen of these clocks. Two of them (both LaCrosse digital models) are set to GMT and do not change when DST is incorporated. Of the other thirteen (three analog models), all but two showed the correct time this morning. One which did not catch the signal was one of my analog clocks. I "forced" it to hunt for the signal around 10:30 AM EDT and, after finding it, did set itself correctly. However, tonight, at approximately 8:30 PM EDT, two of my analog models went a bit "haywire" and reset themselves to Standard Time. We shall see if they correct themselves later tonight. This has happened on several occasions previously and I do not understand why. All of the batteries in my clocks are fresh. The last digital clock which did not show the correct time this morning still, as of 11:30 PM EDT, had not corrected the time, so I finally did so manually. (This particular clock had never had this problem previously.) I live in New Jersey. I wish that a second transmitter were incorporated somewhat closer to the eastern part of the country as the signal from Ft. Collins is not completely reliable here. Especially now, with the low sunspot count, one would think that the signal on 60 kHz would travel farther and adjust the clocks properly. Sadly, as evidenced by all writing here, this is not the case.

Best,

Joe

La Crosse clocks have a firmware bug. When the daylight bit comes on at UTC 00:00, the clocks are not allowed to reset until local 02:00, some 7 or more hours later. So they remember it in a bit.

They do this fine (if you have several of the same model, watch them do it in absolute lockstep).

There's a slight problem at 00:00 UTC the next night (8 PM EDST!)
when they find the daylight bit set but ``it's not 2am yet and there hasn't been a full day of daylight time yet'' and it says, oops, it ought to be standard time still, and they all reset back to standard time.

I've never been up to see what time they reset back to correct time (midnight or 2am, UTC or standard or daylight time, 6 possibilities).

La Crosse, when consulted about this, claimed that the WWVB signal overloads the clocks when they change times, translation we'd rather not replace a million clocks on warrantee. But I find it endearing, happening to like hardware screwups that you can figure out.

It will do the same thing in the fall, by the way. You get 6 time changes a year with this chipset.

Five out of Six did OK.

Numb3r Six is on a Desk between a Computer and Printer below a LCD Monitor and did not reset to DST only has One Bar. Just put it next to a Window and got Three Bars.
Hit the "TS Seak" Button and will check it in the Morning.

It is called "quaverling" or a "quaverling lisp" by phonologists.

Woger's taped QSOs contain many classic examples of quaverling that you won't hear anywhere else on the air. Rumor has it that Woger picked up the speech pattern while hanging out in Glendale's Shipwreck Lounge on weekends.

Yes, and your high pitched girly voice does that on your old shitty shows on mp3, Davies.

> Woger's (Wrong guess again, pizza BOY)

Poor Lardass, your old mp3's of your Domestic cunt show proves you have a high pitched lisping voice. Especially when you pound your flabby fists on your cheapassed computer desk and whine "Steve Holsten is not a pedo!" Your co-workers have said you are something of a queer duck, and your waddle through the restaurant as you put your deliveries in that cheapassed used car of yours is the topic of conversation when you are out making your deliveries or cleaning the toilets before your shift is over. P.S. Roger doesn't go to the Shipwreck Lounge, youu fucking imbecile, and besides, if you knew what the fuck you were talking about, you'd know it is a redneck joint, not a gay bar.
You fucked up as usual, "Christy Davies"! BWHAHAHAHAHAHA!

No, your father owns that home, and your forest is a dying one because of all the junk and filth in your yard and surrounding area, since you put your waste out there in it.

You didn't answer the question. You are on the computer spamming every day at all times of the day and night. You don't have anything else going in your life. And you really need to learn something about ham radio, stupid, because you never post anything on topic about it.
Nor if you are so knowledgeable, why did you fake EME contacts and backpedal when you weere caught lying and why did you confess to qsoing with unidentified stations, which is a violation of Part 97.

Hi, I have been out of ham radio for over 10 yrs now! Internet is my thing now! Is there any way to get wideband Internet service via a Ham Radio frequency? Wasen't there a 5 Gig freq. set up for this yrs ago?
Is there a service like WiFi that is antenna to antenna both ways/

Smarter then you? Who isn't? Well, except for your buddy Christy Davies.

And you do need to cheat.

Marine shoved his boot up his ass, and then Morkie cried rape...that OK, I just passed all the exams necessary to obtain an amateur extra license. Now I'm thinking I'd like to buy a rig for my home office/ den. The question is...do I buy a new or used radio? I have found several used that are recommended, but to start out I'd rather not have to jump right into the repair of my only transceiver. :-{ So, I'm somewhat inclined to go for a new radio, but then there's the difference in price to consider. Does anyone have any opinions on this matter? How tough is it to work on a used radio that may/may not have some minor/major issues when you receive it? Do used radios generally have major issues or are the generally fairly cosmetic (i.e. a meter that's dead, etc.)? Thanks for any info/advice.

I have this Courir PA (with 2 ea. 811A) but need info about how to repair the broken tuning wire or tuning string to be able to read the scale on the frontpannel that shows the position on the PA-coil.
Hope this info can be scanned and sent over, or is the manual available

Hi and welcome to the hobby. My opinion is that it is far better to spend the money for a new transceiver as a new ham, rather than pay for someone else's problems. My first transceiver was an Icom IC-718, their inexpensive entry level transceiver - it performed exceptionally well when the DSP module installed and I worked plenty of DX on a G5RV.

Another fine inexpensive choice, I think, is a new Yaseu FT-857D. I am operating this radio mobile with a ham stick with great results. Both the IC-718 and the FT-857D would make great entry level radios, not terribly expensive, and will really let you get your feet wet on HF.

Good luck & 73 de NE1RI - James

You hear voices all the time, your empty skull is full of them and they all lisp just like you do.
But everybody else can see your disjointed gibbering whines quite

"woger" Apparently, You are the one with the lisp.

And what is "thrapy?" Is that anything like Entropy, the governing force in your twisted, perverted "mind", Morkie?

That's quite a stretch in logic, Morkie. What factual basis are you making this declaration?
Of course, you never let facts get in the way of your uninformed opinions.
The fact is when you are at a loss for a comeback, you spam the same lame phrases you've heard your entire life onto others. And get a doctor to fix your lisp, Morkie.

You do it all the time, hypocrite. Like your lies and claims that Roger has a lisp, you didn't marry a shemale, and all the rest of your lies.

Sure you do, you were up late last night neglecting your shemale wife.
If you'd have married a female, you wouldn't spend so much time on the internet spamming.

You can't prove you didn't mary one, either. You sure are defensive when that he/she is mentioned, though.

Normal people don't spend the time you do, stupid. Your posting times show you are on almost all day and night. In fact, you sit around just waiting for somebody to post so you can spam your same lame phrases.

Oh, so you did cheat.

More lies. The FCC doesn't have a cocksucking lisp like you do.

But then the only reason you got into ham radio is to solicit kids during JOTA.

Cut what out? Your Gibbering? Nobody puts any credence in what you say. You bleat "get a life" when you are so upset and can't think of anything to say. Which must be all the time.

I called and tried to report you, but they said they don't handle cyber creeps from West Virginia unless they sexually harass or solicit Michigan children.

Is there something you want to get off your chest?

no realy I think there is something he wants to get off his neck, that being his head. He keeps trying to provoke somebody to murder him

I have offered to vists his suicide but he lacks the nerve to do what needs to be done

Hate to contradict our resident head case, but that's exactly what the original RFD said. To quote the relevant part of it: "Over the past several years, the traffic on both groups has become largely flame wars, spam, and personal ad-hominem discussions ..."

People who want answers to amateur radio questions are well advised to post them in rec.radio.amateur.moderated. If your news server doesn't carry the new group yet, you can always go to Google Groups for the time being and post from there.

In the meantime, I think that it would be a good idea to repost a message like the one posted by "peace" at least once a day to all of the rec.radio.amateur hierarchy for the next several weeks.

§61-3C-14a. Obscene, anonymous, harassing and threatening communications by computer; penalty.

(a) It is unlawful for any person, with the intent to harass or abuse another person, to use a computer to:
(1) Make contact with another without disclosing his or her identity with the intent to harass or abuse;
(2) Make contact with a person after being requested by the person to desist from contacting them;
(3) Threaten to commit a crime against any person or property; or
(4) Cause obscene material to be delivered or transmitted to a specific person after being requested to desist from sending such material.
For purposes of this section, "obscene material" means material that:
(A) An average person, applying contemporary adult community standards,
would find, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest, is intended to appeal to the prurient interest, or is pandered to a prurient interest;
(B) An average person, applying contemporary adult community
standards,
would find, depicts or describes, in a patently offensive way, sexually explicit conduct consisting of an ultimate sexual act, normal or perverted, actual or simulated, an excretory function, masturbation, lewd exhibition of the genitals, or sadomasochistic sexual abuse; and
(C) A reasonable person would find, taken as a whole, lacks literary, artistic, political or scientific value.
(b) It is unlawful for any person to knowingly permit a computer under his or her control to be used for any purpose prohibited by this section.
(c) Any offense committed under this section may be determined to have occurred at the place at which the contact originated or the place at which the contact was received or intended to be received.

(d) Any person who violates a provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than five hundred dollars or confined in a county or regional jail not more than six months, or both. For a second or subsequent offense, the person is guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars or confined in a county or regional jail for not more than one year, or both.

Oh, I'm sure that if you were to take the time to compile such stats again and supply addresses to where these stats can be sent, well, my bet is that somebody would be more than willing to send them along via snail mail.

Let us now see how long it will take Mark to change the topic of this thread to "another sltaking thread".

A little bit of background on this latest insanity: Mark Morgan and Roger Wiseman are each accusing the other of stalking over on a web forum named "NIM Busters." They are repeating whatever they can find on web sites which discuss stalking laws, and they are making absolutely no impression on one another.

Mark's nonsensical gibbering in NIM Busters is being repeated here. It is yet more empty spew which demonstrates the pathology of Mark's behavior, and it is an excellent example of how Mark has selfishly degraded this news group while he does the bidding of the voices in his head.

Editor's note: Willie Lynch, a slave-owner living in the West Indies, produced a handbook (similar to an "owner's manual" for products and goods we purchase and own) for use by slave-owners living in the United States. Willie Lynch's plan directly explains the process used to break the minds, bodies, and spirits of Black people during slavery. The long term, lasting effects of this "process" can be observed, even today, in the average African American and West Indian family structure. Lynch's systematic "seasoning" methods, explained in the text of "Let's Make A Slave," copiously details the seasoning process for enslaved Africans and their future generations. The language in this handbook directly reflects the tone of the author. The audience of the handbook viewed Black people not as human beings, but as property (goods) and a primary element in their successful long range economic plan.

'Let's Make A Slave'

The Origin and Development of a Social Being Called "The Negro"
By Willie Lynch

"The Black slave after receiving this indoctrination shall carry on and will become self re-fueling and self-generating for hundreds of years, maybe thousands."
Let us make a slave. What do we need? First of all we need a black nigger man, a pregnant nigger woman and her baby nigger boy. Second, we will use the same basic principle that we use in breaking a horse, combined with some more sustaining factors. We reduce them from their natural state in nature; whereas nature provides them with the natural capacity to take care of their needs and the needs of their offspring, we break that natural string of independence from them and thereby create a dependency state so that we may be able to get from them useful production for our business and pleasure.

CARDINAL PRINCIPLES FOR MAKING A NEGRO

For fear that our future generations may not understand the principles of breaking both horses and men, we lay down the art. For , if we are to sustain our basic economy we must break both of the beasts together, the nigger and the horse. We understand that short range planning in economics results in periodic economic chaos, so that, to avoid turmoil in the economy, it requires us to have breadth and depth in long range comprehensive planning, articulating both skill and sharp perception. We lay down the following principles for the long range comprehensive economic planning:

1) Both horse and niggers are no good to the economy in the wild of natural state.

2) Both must be broken and tied together for orderly production.
3) For orderly futures, special and particular attention must be paid to the female and the youngest offspring.
4) Both must be crossbred to produce a variety and division of labor.
5) Both must be taught to respond to a peculiar new language.
6) Psychological and physical instruction of containment must be created for both.
We hold the above six cardinals as truths to be self-evident, based upon the following discourse concerning the economics of breaking and tying the horse and the nigger together... all-inclusive of the six principles laid down above. NOTE: Neither principles alone will suffice for good economics. All principles must be employed for the orderly good of the nation. Accordingly, both a wild horse and a wild or natural nigger is dangerous even if captured, for they will have the tendency to seek their customary freedom, and in doing so, might kill you in your sleep. You cannot rest.

They sleep while you are awake and are awake while you are asleep. They are dangerous near the family house and it requires too much labor to watch them away from the house. Above all you cannot get them to work in this natural state. Hence, both the horse and the nigger must be broken, that is break them from one form of mental life to another, keep the body and take the mind. In other words, break the will to resist.

Now the breaking process is the same for the horse and the nigger, only slightly varying in degrees. But as we said before, you must keep your eye focused on the offspring of the horse and the nigger. A brief discourse in offspring development will shed light on the key to sound economic principles. Pay little attention to the generation of original breaking but concentrate on future generations.

Therefore, if you break the female, she will deliver it up to you. For her normal female protective tendencies will have been lost in the original breaking process. For example, take the case of the wild stud horse, a female horse and an already infant horse and compare the breaking process with tow nigger males in their natural state, a pregnant nigger woman with her infant offspring.

Take the stud horse, break him for limited containment. Completely break the female horse until she becomes very gentle whereas you or anybody can ride her in comfort. Breed the mare and the stud until you have the desired offspring. Then you can turn the stud to freedom until you need him again. Train the female horse whereby she will eat out of your hand, and she will train the infant horse to eat out of your hand also.

When it comes to breaking the uncivilized nigger, use the same process, but vary the degree and step up the pressure so as to do a complete reversal of the mind. Take the meanest and most restless nigger, strip him of his clothes in front of the remaining male niggers, the female, and the nigger infant, tar and feather him, tie each leg to a different horse faced in opposite directions, set him afire and beat both horses to pull him apart in front of the remaining niggers. The next step is to take a bullwhip and beat both the remaining nigger male to the point of death in front of the female and the infant. Don't kill him. But put the fear of God in him, for he can be useful for future breeding.

THE BREAKING PROCESS OF THE AFRICAN WOMAN

Take the female and run a series of test on her to see if she will submit to your desires willingly. Test her in every way, because she is the most important factor for good economics. If she shows any sign of resistance in submitting completely to your will, do not hesitate to use the bull whip on her to extract that last bit of bitch out of her. Take care not to kill her, for in doing so, you spoil good economics. When in complete submission, she will train her offspring in the early years to submit to labor when they become of age. Understanding is the best thing.

Therefore , we shall go deeper into this area of the subject matter concerning what we have produced here in this breaking of the female nigger. We have reversed the relationships. In her natural uncivilized state she would have a strong dependency on the uncivilized nigger male, and she would have a limited protective dependency toward her independent male offspring and would raise offspring to be dependent like her. Nature had provided for this type of balance. We reverse nature by burning and pulling one civilized nigger apart and bull whipping the other to the point of death--all in her presence.

By her being left alone, unprotected, with the male image destroyed, the ordeal caused her to move from her psychological dependent state to a frozen independent state. In this frozen psychological state of independence she will raise her male and female offspring in reversed roles. For fear of the young male's life she will psychologically train him to be mentally weak and dependent but physically strong. Because she has become psychologically independent she will train her female offspring to be psychologically independent as well.

What have you got? You've got the nigger woman out front and the nigger man behind and scared. This is a perfect situation for sound sleep and soundly, for out of frozen fear, his woman stands guard for us. He cannot get past her early infant slave molding process. He is a good tool, now ready to be tied to the horse at a tender age. By the time a nigger boy reaches the age sixteen, he is soundly broken in and ready for a long life of sound and efficient work and the reproduction of a unit of good labor force.

Continually, through the breaking of uncivilized savage niggers, by throwing the nigger female savage into a frozen psychological state of independency, by killing the protective image, and by creating a submissive dependent mind of the nigger male slave, we Have created an orbiting cycle that turns on its own axis forever, unless a phenomenon occurs and reshifts the positions of the male and female savages. We show what we mean by example. We breed two nigger males with two nigger females. Then we take the nigger males away from them and keep them moving and working. Say the nigger female bears a nigger female and the other bears a nigger male.

Both nigger females, being without influence of the nigger male image, frozen with an independent psychology, will raise their offspring into reverse positions. The one with the female offspring will teach her to be like herself, independent and negotiable (we negotiate with her, through her, by her, and negotiate her at will). The one with the nigger male offspring, she being frozen with conscious fear for his life, will raise him to be mentally dependent and weak, but physically strong...in other words, body over mind. Now, in a few years when these two offspring become fertile for early reproduction, we will mate and breed them and continue the cycle. that is good, sound, and long range comprehensive planning.

WARNING: POSSIBLE INTERLOPING NEGATIVES

Earlier, we talked about the non-economic good of the horse and the nigger in their wild or natural state; we talked out the principle of breaking and tying them together for orderly production, furthermore, we talked about paying particular attention to the female savage and her offspring for orderly future planning; then more recently we stated that, by reversing the positions of the male and the female savages we had created an orbiting cycle that turns on its axis forever, unless phenomenon occurred, and reshifted the positions of the male and female savages.

Our experts warned us about the possibility of this phenomenon occurring, for they say that the mind has a strong drive to correct and recorrect itself over a period of time if it can touch some substantial original historical base; and they advise us that the best way to deal with this phenomenon is to shave off the brute's mental history and create a multiplicity of phenomenon or illusions so that each illusion will twirl in its own orbit, something akin to floating ball in a vacuum.

This creation of multiplicity of phenomenon or illusions entails the principles of cross-breeding the nigger and the horse as we stated above, the purpose of which is to create diversified divisions of labor. The result of which is the severance of the points of original beginning's for each spherical illusion. Since we feel that the subject matter may get more complicated as we proceed in laying down our economic plan concerning the purpose, reason, and effect of cross-breeding horses and niggers, we shall lay down the following definitional terms for future generations.

1. Orbiting cycle means a thing turning in a given pattern.
2. Axis means upon which or around which a body turns.
3. Phenomenon means something beyond ordinary conception and inspires awe and wonder
4. Multiplicity means a great number.
5. Sphere means a globe.
6. Cross-breeding a horse means taking a horse and breeding it with an ass and your get a dumb backward ass, long-headed mule that is not reproductive nor productive by itself.
7. Cross-breeding niggers means taking so many drops of good white blood and putting them into as many nigger women as possible, varying the drops by the various tones that you want, and then letting them breed with each other until the circle of colors appear as you desire.

What means is this: Put the niggers and the horse in the breeding pot, mix some asses and some good white blood and what do you get? You got multiplicity of colors of ass backwards, unusual niggers, running, tied to backward ass long-hand mules, the one productive of itself, the other sterile. (The one constant, the other dying. We keep the nigger constant for we may replace the mule for another tool) both mule and nigger tied to each other, neither knowing where the other came from and neither productive for itself, nor without each other.

CONTROLLED LANGUAGE

Cross-breeding completed, for further severance from their original beginning, we must completely annihilate the mother tongue of both the nigger and the new mule and institute a new language that involves the new life's work of both. You know, language is a peculiar institution. It leads to the heart of a people.

The more a foreigner knows about the language of another country, to the extent that he knows the body of the language, to that extent is the country vulnerable to attack or invasion of a foreign culture. For example, you take a slave, if you teach him all about your language, he will know all your secrets, and he is then no more a slave, for you can't fool him any longer and having a fool is one of the basic ingredients of and incidents to the making of the slavery system.

For example if you told a slave that he must perform in getting out 'our crops' and he knows the language well, he would know that 'our crops' didn't mean 'our' crops, and the slavery system would break down, for he would relate on the basis of what 'our crops' really meant. So you have to be careful in setting up the new language for the slave would soon be in your house, talking to you as 'man to man' and that is death to our economic system. In addition, the definition of words or terms are only a minute part of the process. Values are created and transported by communication through the body of the language. A total society has many interconnected value system. All these values in the society have bridges of language to connect them for orderly working in the society. But for these bridges, these many value systems would sharply clash and cause internal strife or civil war, the degree of the conflict being determined by the magnitude of the issues or relative opposing strength in whatever form. For example, if you put a slave in a hog pen and train him to live there and incorporate in him to value it as a way of life completely, the biggest problem you would have out of him is that he would worry you about provisions to keep the hog pen clean, or partially clean, or he might not worry you at all. On the other hand, if you put this same slave in the same hog pen and make a slip and incorporate something in his language whereby he comes to value a house more than he does his hog pen you got a problem. He will soon be in your house.

More From Willie Lynch
Editors note: This speech was delivered by a white slave owner, William Lynch, on the bank of the James River in 1712. The concept in delievering this speech is very much like modern day "business workshops and seminars."

Gentlemen, I greet you here on the bank of the James River in the year of Lord one Thousand seven hundred and twelve. First. I shall thank you, the gentlemen of the Colony of Virginia, for bringing me here. I am here to help you solve some of your problems with slaves. Your invitation reached me on my modest plantation in the West Indies where I have experimented with some of the newest and still the oldest methods for control of slaves. Ancient Rome would envy us if my program is implemented. As our boat sailed south on the James River, named for our illustrious King, whose version of the Bible we cherish, I saw enough to know that your problem is not unique. While Rome used cords of wood as crosses for standing human bodies along its old highways in great numbers you are here using the tree and the rope on occasion.

I caught the whiff of a dead slave hanging from a tree a couple of miles back. You are not only losing valuable stock by hangings, you are having uprisings, slave are running away, your crops are sometimes left in the fields too long for maximum profit, you suffer occasional fires, your animals are killed. Gentlemen, you know what your problem[s] are; I do not need to elaborate, I am not here to enumerate your problems, I am here to introduce you to a method of solving them.

In my bag here, I have a fool proof method for controlling your Black slaves, I guarantee everyone of you that if installed correctly it will control the slaves for at least 300 hundred years. My method is simple. Any member of your family or your overseer can use it.

I have outlined a number of differences among the slaves: and I make these differences and make them bigger. I use fear, and envy for control purposes. These methods have worked on my modest plantation in the West Indies and it will work throughout the South. Take this simple little list of differences, and think about them. On top of my list is "Age" but it is there only because it starts with an "A"; the second is "Color" or shade, there is intelligence, size, sex, size of plantations, status on plantation, attitude of owners, whether the slaves live in the valley, on the hill, East, West, North, South, have fine hair, coarse hair, or is tall or short. Now that you have a list of differences, I shall give you an outline of action - but before that I shall assure you that distrust is stronger than trust, and envy is stronger than adulation, respect or admiration.

The Black slave after receiving this indoctrination shall carry on and will become self re-fueling and self-generating for hundreds of years, maybe thousands. Don't forget you must pitch the old Black male vs. the young Black male, and the young Black male against the old Black male. You must use the dark skin slave vs. the light skin slaves and the light skin slaves vs. the dark skin slaves. You must use thefemale vs. the male, and the male vs. the female. You must also have your white servants and overseers distrust all Black, but it is necessary that your slaves trust and depend on us, They must love, respect and trust only us.

Gentlemen, these kits are your keys to control. Use them. Have your wives and children use them, never miss an opportunity. If used intensely for one year, the slaves themselves will remain perpetually distrustful. Thank you, gentlemen.

Only in your dreams
D. Gibson/9
Music: "Only in my Dreams" D. Gibson 1987

Verse:
Every time Marqueer's telling secrets
He remembers how it used to be
And He kinda realizes how much he's outwitted
And He realizes how it feels to be brain-free

Everybody can see Markie's up to no good (No, no, no)
And He wants to spam again Can't remember when he felt good (he's a whining baby)
No He can't remember when

Chorus:
Marqueer whines "No, only in your dreams"
Morkie's an illiterate imbecile as it seems Markie's fucked up mind thinks he wins only in his dreams

Verse:
Marqueer see how much he missed the point (He never will) Couldn't see how much it meant Morkie's freakish world is tumbling down
Now Markie spams and his "mind" is bent

If I only once Marqueer could be smart (No, no, no)
And remember how it used to be
If only he could really flame you
And forget how it feels to be brain-free

Repeat Chorus

You sure do scramble to make excuses about marrying another man like when you post twice answering the same post, Marqueer.

The new rec.radio.amateur.moderated news group is spam and flame free and is a much better place to ask your questions. If your news server doesn't carry rec.radio.amateur.moderated, you can go to Google Groups and post from there.

Sadly, posts to this news group are much less likely to produce useful results for you.

where is violence advocated?

well MD claims that in asking what problems see with the fact you can pass the written test while missing all the rules and reg question is advocating no change at all

Recently while watching IMUS there was a commercial for some cellular service.

In the skit, a woman is frantically looking for her blackberry. Her coworkers enter, see her frantic, and smirk. Then, the phone rings -- it is in one of the co-worker's shirt pockets.

Cut to the next scene, where they're in the hospital, the guy has an ice pack on his head, and the woman text messages that he will be late.

The implication is the woman, upon discovering the dude hid her blackberry, whacked the dude on the side of the head.

Now, let's reverse the scene. Let's replace the woman with a man, and the man who hid the blackberry with a woman.

What would be the social outcry when the scene cuts over to the hospital and the woman is sitting there with a black eye?

Why is it socially acceptable to suggest violence from women to men is acceptable, but not vice-versa?

Thanks for illustrating my point. You and the other malcontents have served my purpose well. Newcomers should be warned, and now they have been warned by virtue of your example.

I shall continue to make this post on a daily basis, and I hope that it Backpedal, Markie; backpedal.

Your original post said "no such respnse [sic] was ever made to me" period.

You didn't attach any conditions to it, and you denied that the statement had ever been made when the original poster quoted it.

That is a bald faced lie. Backpedaling won't do you any good, because most readers of this group are astute enough to remember exactly what you posted.

You're just a damned liar, Mark; that's all there is to it.

You're whacked.

How do you get promoting prostitution from pimps and whips?

Do you have to pay for it in Chassel?

Perhaps. However, if it is socially unacceptable to suggest assaulting a woman, then certainly the reverse should be true.

2727. low power transceiver kits..

Does anyone have any reccomendations for low power transmitter kits?
I've seen a few online and I'm thinking it might be a fun project, but since I'm a fulltime worker I dunno how much time I have to devote to it consistently. How much time/work do these kits require in terms of detailed soldering, etc. I don't mind staring at schematics (I'm an EE afterall ;-) but very fine/detailed soldering might be over my head. Thanks for any info/hints/feedback, whatever...

Marque. BIG difference between being accused and being guilty. You and spam-and-cheese are all to quick to accuse (and thereby imply guilt) while you go bananas whenever you are accused of spamming or abusing the newsgroups.

Groan. Again, it is not Mark's fault. He is not responsible for what he does.
Steve made him do it. Dee made him do it. Roger made him do it. Mike made him do it.

I all of the 50+ posts on the NG in the past two weeks that were directed specifically at KH6HZ.

Just like your allegation that the NG's have been destroyed by people focusing on sex, yet there is none in this particular thread. Nes-pas

Yea, great content Morkie. You can't even articulate yourself clearly, follow a thread, or refrain from responding when someone is not even commenting to you.

Dloyd

Example: Last evening I made a post that took Mark three minutes to respond to. Other posts take less time before he changes the thread and responds four, five or six times...all a minute or two apart.
Obviously Mark and Gav spend little time together since his waking hours are spent hovering over the newsgroups.
I expect Gav to one day soon pack her bags and move on...

Nowhere did anybody "allege" that you stalked. What part of "or refrain from responding" do you not grasp?

Stop putting words in the mouths of others. It is a poor habit, and dashes any credibility you may have had on the rocks.

ifmike keeps being a shithead and insuting and I find something proper to say perhaps I will but I have no Knowledge he has a daughter

they pulled a scurous trick

No I was banned because I would allow to go unchcallgened a lie there you are lying I am blacklisted there becuase I accepted to the invatation fo the mods to se wht they would reject no it is you and woger and Steve that isnit on as does Tom form RRCB

you comand of facts is fucked

IF your posts tady had been sent to the proposed new ng your addy would ow be baaned indeed in your whole postig history I doubt there are mre nthan a day in which you ever posted where your posting would make it past moderation in the ng and 3 failed posts and you are banned

everyone should be advised that The following person has been advocating the abuse of elders making false charges of child rape, rape in general forges post and name

he may also be making flase reports of abusing other in order to attak and cow his foes
he also shows signs of being dangerously unstable

STEVEN J ROBESON
<address snipped>

WINCHESTER TN 37398

BTW with the exalant response steve you can look forward to seeing this email addy on RRAP a while

Mark caught forging using Steve's name.
"Steve's" post has headers:

'Nuff said.

in an radio News it is bashing eps when you go on to intoragte me about my sexuality

And the most cruel of all...

what attack ? after all he claims he is not attacking me or my family when he posts lies about me where is the attack in posting the truth that he sired a defective daughter and failed to prevent her worthless existance in the womb at least these things are true if Stve is telling the truth about her on his websie

There is something very seriously wrong with you, Mark.

Who, pray tell, "abused" the disabled? Save for yourself, no "disabled" persons have been "abused", unlike your cruel and blatant abuse of Steve's beloved daughter.

Well, it might say that in the bible alright, however, I can guarantee the "feeling" won't be good for a real man ... and, their may indeed be consequences to be paid elsewhere ... "youse' pays your money, youse' take your chances"--has been told me by wise men ...

Go forth and sin no more.

Whilst I cloak my identity as I did 2,000 years ago, would you deny my Father his due?

Thou knowest how to reach me. Look skyward, my Son.

Verily I say unto you. My Kingdom is not of this Earth.

Heavenly Father, please forgive Mark Morgan for his sins against You.
Truly, he knows not what he does as he walks in the shadow of Satan and sins against You.
Welcome this lost soul, Oh Father, into your fold as You did with the Lost Souls of Jerusalem.

Have pity, Of Father, upon his lifestyle as you bid him to enter your fold and welcome Jesus into his lonely soul.

Grant, oh Father, that Mark go forth and sin no more in the eyes of The Lord.

He not only overturned the tables in the temple, he whaled on the infidels who desecrated it.

You've never read a Bible in 25 years either.

How retarded.

Verily I say unto you. My Father has provided fishes and loaves left over for a late night snack from our Galilee gathering. I say unto you, go forth and partake of my Father's gifts.
Mary Magdaline suffers unto the the poor, the retarded, to enter thus into her temple and pay that which is due unto Peter.

Jesus predicts that by noon, this day, Mark will have posted no less than two dozen comments. Probably more.

Smile, Mark. Jesus loves you.

Now go forth and sin no more....

Mark,

Can't you even respond to a radio related thread without using foul language. What a disgrace.

I think about paying more or just plan on buying another rig at some Thanks again.

It depends on how much radio do you want ($) and your planned operating uses. The IC-718 and 746 pro are both good choices for most operating uses, but if your going to get heavily into the digital modes, contesting, or serious DX'ing there are better choices.
However, better rigs approch the 2K range and higher. If you plan on going mobile in the future, I would suggest going for one of the 100 watt compact rigs just to get your feet wet, and then you find that your really enjoy HF, you can move the compact rig out to the vehicle, and with your new found HF experience you will be in a better position to know what exactly you want in a HF rig.

Thanks, I should've also mentioned that I probably don't (ok, right now...maybe in the future) plan to do any mobile transmitting with my new radio.
I might buy something used to put in my car...but truthfully my commute is about 10 mins each way to work so I don't spend tons of time on the road.
What I'm trying to find is a really good/versatile non-mobile rig for my home office/den. Thanks for any suggestions/help.

It just depends. This year my clocks reset the same day. Last year, one reset right away and the other took over a week.

2812. NEWCOMERS: Use rec.radio.amateur.moderated instead of this group.

The new rec.radio.amateur.moderated news group is spam and flame free and is a much better place to ask your questions. If your news server doesn't carry rec.radio.amateur.moderated, you can go to Google Groups and post from there.

Sadly, posts to this news group are much less likely to produce useful results for you.

Jeff,

You might want to go and check out the equipment review pages on eham (http://www.eham.net/reviews/). You will find more in-depth information relating to each rig that you are researching on that site. There aren't really any bad rigs, just some are designed to perform certain modes/tasks better than others, and certain manufacture's rigs seem to perform some modes better across the board. If I was really into CW as my main mode of operating, I would get a Ten-Tec. Most CW ops really rave about how well the Ten-Tec's perform for that mode. Most of my gear is either Yaesu or Icom, but mostly Yaesu. I like DX'ing, contesting, and just general HF work, and Yaesu's receivers tend to sound better to my ears and their noise reduction circuits seem to perform a little better than most, but Icom's duty cycle tends to be better on their transmitters, so I would tend to lean towards Icom if I was doing a lot of digital modes that use more than 50% duty cycles, if you want to do a lot of remote control operating I would consider the newer Kenwoods, they have a plug and play system to interface certain Kenwood HT's with their HF rigs, IMO Kenwood used to make some of the nicest rigs ever made, especially the 940's and 950SDX, but a lot depends on what modes you are going to operate. Good luck with your decision.

Let me shock you with the facts. In the Hispanic world, many men are named "Jesus" (pronounced hay-sus). It's just about as common among Spanish men as Muhammed is among Muslim men.

So if you disapprove of someone calling himself Jesus, you are in fact a racist who disapproves of Spanish cultural traditions. Indeed, I always suspected that you were a racist, and now you have confirmed it.

Shame on you. Racism is especially ugly when it comes from a practicing Jew.

Small Wonder Labs is a good option. You can get a CW tranceiver kit with 2 watts output and a superhet receiver with crystal filter for just $55 to your door. Great customer service and a real quality kit.

Jeff,

In addition to Small Wonder Labs, Ten Tec also offers kits for 20, 30, 40, and 80, you didn't specify whether you were looking for a SSB or CW kit, however, most are for CW. I've built a few of the T- kits, and they were pretty good, documentation was adequate, the parts were of good quality, and the parts count was accurate. You may have to do a little prep work along the way, but I've found that is usually the case no matter who makes the kit.

Has the simple thought that if, IF, you didn't post your name and callsign, that most of the alleged off-line "harrassment" would never have happened in the first place?
Yet you, who should by now know better, have this odd buggaboo up your ass that you are being brave by posting your name, callsign, and, yes, even your twisted blog.
Do any of us feel sorry for you? No.
Did you bring much of this upon yourself by YOUR actions? Yes.
Perhaps if you were to cease flooding Usenet with your inane and oft unasked-for comments, your problems would cease. But that is too much to ask, and certainly well beyond your ability to comprehend.

Your case is further weakened when one looks at your ongoing exchanges with Woger at http://nimbusters.com/forum/forum.php?board=1

You, Mark, are merely reaping that which you have sown. You have earned it.

Mark claims to be a <cough> "frequent poster" in rra.mod, but Steve has now made 225% as many posts to rra.mod. That would make Steve a "prolific poster" in Mark's distorted world and must make Mark feel like a failure.

Steve is leaving you in his dust, Mark, and the rest of us are laughing about it.

1830 Welcoming/Introductions (dinner served buffet-style)
1900 IOTA Programs begin
"IOTA Program Overview/Status" (G3ZAY)
"Santa Cruz Is, NA-144" (N6VR)
"Canadian IOTAs, NA-195 & NA-156" (K9AJ & KD6WW)
"Mexican IOTAs, NA-1" (XE2K)
"Alaskan IOTA, NA-237" (W5BOS)

The dinner will be served buffet style in the Birch Room at a cost of XX USDs per person, payable at the door (cash only). The buffet menu will contain entr[illegible]e choices of beef, fish, and chicken along with selected vegetables, salad, dinner rolls, dessert, and a beverage (coffee, ice water, or ice tea).
Reservations for this event are not required and will not be taken. Attendees will pay as they enter at the door. Admission is free for those wishing only to watch the programs without dining. As usual, seating will be performed using a "first come, first seated" policy. For additional information regarding this event, please contact: Jim Zimmerman (N6KZ), (IOTA Dinner Coordinator), 2316 W. Dallin Street, Lancaster, CA 93536-5702 Home Phone: (661) 945-6539 E-mail: jimzim1@mindspring.com

IOTA NEWS.....
AF-004. Wilko, PA3BWK, will be active as EA8/PA3BWK from the Island of Lanzarote (DIE S-007, Punta Pechiguera lighthouse FEA D-2782, WLOTA LH-0099, WW Loc. IL38BU), June 10-16th. Activity will be on 40-10 meters, mainly CW, at 10 kHz up from the lower band edge. QSL via PA0ZE (QRZ.com).

AS-117. Kenji, JA4GXS, will be active as JA4GXS/4 from Ohzu Island (JIIA AS-117-110), JA4 Yamaguchi Prefecture, between now and March 20th. Activity will be on the HF bands CW. QSL via his home callsign, by the bureau or direct: Kenji Sasaki, 2-15 Ishikannon-cyo, Yamaguchi-City, 753-0038 JAPAN

EU-039. Operators Jean/F5IRC, Christophe/F5UBH, Luis/F5THW and Karim/F4CTJ will be active as TM5CI from Chausey Island (DIFM MA-004, WLH 0424, PB062, DFCF 50002 and may be DFCF 50007), March 22-24th. Activity will be on 80/40/20 meters CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31. QSL via the bureau.

EU-096. Operators Andy/IZ0EHO, Vincenzo/IZ0FKE, Simone/IZ0BTV, and Markus/OH1MN will be active as OH10TA from Parainen Island, April 25-29th. Activity will be on all bands, the WARC bands included. QSL via OH10TA (QRZ.com). Further information can be found at: http://www.oh10ta.com

EU-146. Operators Fons/ON4AWT and Win/ON8VD will be active as PA/homecall from Schouwen Duiveland, April 8-13th. Activity will be on all HF bands, CW, SSB and the Digital modes. There will also be activity on VHF SSB. QSL via his home callsign; the bureau is preferred.

NA-231. Operators Cezar/VE3LYC and Ken/G3OCA will attempt to activate for the first time NA-231P (East Pen Island, VY0), between July 20-22nd. Ken is a well experienced island activator, but this will be Cezar's first. East Pen Island is the only island approved for this IOTA group and the breeding place of polar bears, which brings interesting challenges to the team. They are prepared to have two stations on the air operating CW and SSB from 40-10 meters. QSL via VE3LYC, either direct or by the bureau (G/GI/GM/GW stations can QSL via G3OCA).

SA-098. Simon, IZ7ATN, is expected to be active this week as OA6/IZ7ATN/p from Blanca Island in the Arequipa/Moquegua/Tacna Department Group (new one) around March 20-22nd. He will concentrate on 20 and 17 meters SSB, plus 15 and 10 meters if the bands are open and 40 meters if he can put up a decent antenna. QSL via his home callsign.

J75, DOMINICA (Update). The W2RZS Amateur Radio Club will be returning to Dominica for the 2007 CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th), and they will be using their J75RZ callsign. This will be their third trip to J7-land. They expect to arrive on March 21st and stay for 6 days. Their "home" will be the Harmony Villa which boasts a 1700 foot elevation and is situated in the rain forest. Due to work schedules, there will be only two operators this trip; Bob/WB2NVR (J79RS) and Mike/WA2VQW (J79VQ). They will be active before and after the contest on 160-6 meters, CW/SSB/RTTY, including the WARC bands, and possibly 60 meters. They will also be concentrating on the lower bands. All QSLs for J75RZ should be sent to W2RZS via direct or by the bureau.

LIGHTHOUSE ACTIVITY. Members of the Scouting Association Ham Radio Baependi (PY3UEB) will be activating Santa Marta's Lighthouse (ARLHS - BRA 187/ DFB SC/012) in Santa Catarina State, now through March 20th. Look for the following: PP5/PY3UEB/LH, PP5/PY3CQ/LH, PP5/PY3KN/LH, PP5/PY3NZ/LH and PP5/PY3FOX/LH. QSL via the bureau or direct (QRZ.com or HAMCALL.net).

MOST WANTED OCEANIA SURVEY RESULTS. Mark, ZL3AB, announced his results of his "Oceania Most Wanted Countries List" that were sent in by operators in the VK/ZL and Oceania areas. Mark seemed disappointed that just under 40 contributors took part in his survey. Here are the top 10 countries (out of his top 40) with their ranking as follows:

| Rank | Prefix | Country | Rank | Prefix | Country |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | 7O | Yemen | 6 | FR/J | Juan de Nova & Europa |
| 1 | KP1 | Navassa I. | 6 | KP5 | Desecheo I. |
| 3 | 3C0 | Pagalu I. | 8 | FR/G | Glorioso Is. |
| 4 | BS7 | Scarborough Reef | 8 | PY0P | St. Peter/St. Paul Rock |
| 5 | FT8Z | Amsterdam & St. Paul Is. | 8 | TN | Congo |

P4, ARUBA (SA-036). John, W2GD, will be active as P40W during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/High-Power entry. Look for some CW activity before and after the contest. QSL via N2MM. Logs will be loaded on LoTW upon his return to USA.

P4, ARUBA (SA-036). Andy, AE6Y, will be active as P49Y from March 21-27th. His activity will include the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. QSL via AE6Y.

PJ2, NETHERLANDS ANTILLES. Operators Martin/K2PLF, John/N4RV, Helmut/DF7ZS, Joe/W9JUV, Ray/WA9YYY and Geoff/W0CG will be active PJ2T from Signal Point, Curacao (SA-006, WLOTA LH-0942), during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi-Single (or possibly Multi-2) entry. QSL via N9AG.

G3NOM QSLS. Tom, GM4FDM, reports (edited): "As some of you may know, I am the QSL Manager for Ray, G3NOM, and have all (or most) of his log books for his various travels. Again, as some of you may know Ray had a major stroke some time back and has not been on the radio since and is doing VERY poorly. Today I received a package from one of Ray's friends in Thailand containing a number of QSL cards which have been received in Thailand either direct to Ray's home or via the Bureau. Some of these QSLs go back quite a long ways and contain old style IRCs etc. I shall try to honor all these requests but returning cards either by the bureau or direct as they arrived irrespective of whether the IRC is valid or not as they were all valid when posted. Please bear with me, and I shall do my best to get this done as quickly as possible. Please do not trouble Ray or his XYL with any more QSL requests. I have a large number of blank cards, and as I said earlier, all or if not most of the logs. The only cards I cannot verify are for 160m just prior to Ray's illness. As you know 80/160m was only allowed in Thailand on a few special occasions, and I always verified the 160m QSOs with Ray before responding, so if you have a 160m QSO, then unless it is very clear in the logs, then I cannot help you. I have logs for: 5B4/G3NOM, 9M2OM/P, 9M2/G3NOM, 9M2OM, A52OM, E22DX, E28DX, G3NOM, HS0AC/2, HS2AC, HS0/G2NOM, JT4/G3NOM, S21U, S2/G3NOM, XY1HT and ZC6/G3NOM. I also have logs for V8NOM, BUT I have NO QSL cards for this one. Please feel free to E-mail me any questions. 73 de Tom GM4FDM" ADDED NOTE: Tom's E-mail address is: tom@gm4fdm.com

J20RR/J20MM QSLS. Silvano, I2YSB, informs OPDX that all the QSLs for J20RR and J20MM have been sent out (over 2300 cards).

QSL OH0B via OH2BH. Operators Toni/OH2UA and Martti/OH2BH were breaking ice when traveling to Brando, Aland Islands, to activate OH0B in the Russian DX Contest this past weekend. This is their first outing in 2007 to observe how all the antennas have survived the freezing winter at 60 degrees North.

SPECIAL EVENT. To commemorate the 95th anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic, ham radio operators worldwide will participate in a special event broadcast originating from the TITANIC Museum Attraction (in Branson, Missouri) beginning at 8 a.m., Saturday, April 14th, and concluding at 7p.m., Sunday, April 15th. Members of the Nixa Amateur Radio Club will transmit the news of the anniversary using the special event callsign W0S. Operators from Nixa, Missouri, have permission from the FCC to broadcast using this special callsign which stands for "White Star," the name of the company that built the Titanic. The worldwide broadcast will take place to honor the radio broadcasters working aboard the Titanic on the night she sank. ADDED NOTE: A UK group is also expected to be active. Details should be forthcoming.

SX5, DODECANESE (EU-001). Operators Theodor/SV1GRM, Sotirios/SV1HER, Nikiforos/SV1EEX, Cliff/SV1JG, Spiros/SV1RC and Lykourgos/SW1GZL will be active as SX5AS from the Rocky Islet of Astakida and lighthouse (WLOTA LH-0393, WW Loc. KM35JV), July 17-23rd. Activity will be on all HF bands, CW and SSB. QSL via SV1HER (QRZ.com).

TI, COSTA RICA. Operators Don/N6JRL, Sandra/N3TQU, Cliff/N0ZUQ, Lisa/KB0RLJ and David/WA6IFI will be active as TI5N in the CQ World Wide DX SSB Contest (October 27-28th) as a Multi-Single entry. QSL via info on QRZ.com.

TM4, FRANCE. Operators Jean-Paul/F6FYA, Genevi&#65533;ve/F5SQM and possibly others will be active as TM4Q during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi/? entry. QSL via F6FYA.

TM6, FRANCE. Operators Andre/F0ELK, Olivier/F1AKK, Stephane/F4DXW, Laurent/F5MUX, Xavier/F5TTU, Robert/F5VCR and Sebastien/F8DBF will be active as TM6M during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi/? entry. QSL via F6KHM.

YE1, INDONESIA. Operators Joz/YD1JZ, Terry/YC1KAF, Yoyan/YB1CCF, Heri/YB1KAR and Mohammad/YE1AA will be active as YE1ZAT during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi/Multi entry. QSL route was not provided.

YI, IRAQ (Stations Are Off The Air!). Several sources are reporting that the Amateur Radio in Iraq has been suspended until further notice. Details of the suspension, reportedly, are from a letter addressed to the world-wide ham radio community from the Iraq Amateur Radio Society (IARS) President, Diya Sayah, YI1DZ. He received confirmation from the office of Prime Minister Nouri Al-Maliki that all Amateur Radio activity in that nation is to be closed down immediately. This includes operation by Iraqi nationals, foreign visitors and even members of the coalition forces safeguarding that nation. This is apparently in an effort to increase security.

ZK3, TOKELAU ISLAND (Op Cancelled!). Members of the N8S Swains Island DXpedition have cancelled their trip to the Tokelau Island (ZK3A). The operation to Swains Island (as N8S) will take place April 4-15th. However, operations from the Independent State of Samoa (5W - formerly known as Western Samoa from 1914-1997) as 5W5AA (and possibly other callsigns) will take place between April 17-24th.

ZL8/ZM8, KERMADEC ISLANDS. Remember that Jacky/ZL3CW (F2CW) and Aki/ZL1GO (JA4EKO) are expected to be active this week as ZM8CW and probably ZL8GO from Raoul Island (OC-039) between March 22-27th. QSL via ZL1AMO.

ZY7, BRAZIL. Members of a PY7 team will be active as ZY7C during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 24-25th) as a Multi/Single entry. QSL via PT7WA.

The main difference between us (aside from weight obviously, oh and a basic knowledge of geography) is that our flag is burnt less often than yours... ;)

Sure you have.

Yes, you are delusional and a megalomaniac. You eat way too much and feign superiority to overcompensate.
And what do you have in ammo now that Len Anderson successfully got his Extra, hypocrite. Dave the dud will just whine again.

Oh, do tell? Did you get the super secret clearance, Mr. Bond? Did you get access to the "Cone of Silence?" Did the President have you on speed dial?

You mean you had it until you posed a security risk by marrying a foreign national.

P.S. Roger's had a security clearance in his lifetime, too. Mainsail, mainsail, do not answer......

Nope, you lost your security clearance when you married a foreign national. And why would a foreign national be subject to Federal background investigation, must be because of that terrorist cell she used to belong to when Finland was kissing Soviet ass. And she needed clearance to get by the INS.

Poor Davey, he's so untalented he takes a page from Tony Braxton's making up words
by adding "Un" to them like in that poorly written lame song "Unbreak my heart."

>I just had a wheel "bearning" replaced.

Yeah, just like you said he lived in a "velley" between two hills.

Dave Heil shows off his knowledge of Spelling as well as Geography in <h46If.238$VI6....@newsread1.news.pas.earthlink.net>:
"the one in a narrow velley between two hills"

> As it is, you're simply a private defective.

So is those defective wheel bearings in that shitty car, since this is the replacement set you just had replaced. If you were so successful with the State
Dept., one would think you'd be able to afford a better car than a Dodge Neon.

However, I and many others can see that you are simply a Major asshole, though, ASSheil.

Popular sweetener is toxic for dogs
Updated 4h 2m ago
USA Today

By Sharon L. Peters, Special for USA TODAY
A sugar substitute found in a variety of sugar-free and dietetic cookies, mints and chewing gum is proving highly toxic, even fatal, to snack-snatching dogs.

Xylitol, popular in Europe for decades but a relative newcomer to the U.S. alternative-sweeteners market, can be "very, very serious" to dogs when ingested, says Dana Farbman, spokeswoman for the Animal Poison Control Center of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

"It doesn't take a whole lot (of xylitol), and the effects are so rapid that the window of opportunity to treat the dog is extremely small," Farbman says.

The ASPCA sent an advisory to veterinarians last August warning them about the potential for serious harm or death. Veterinarians have used a variety of means to get the word out, including posting signs in their offices and making copies of the bulletin for clients to augment the caution the ASPCA has posted on its website.
Concerned that millions of people are still unaware of the risk, veterinarians with forums for widespread public announcements are spreading the word that way as well. Among them: Miami veterinarian Patty Khuly wrote about the problem on her doolittler.com blog, and Colorado Springs veterinarian Anne Pierce devoted her entire weekly newspaper column a week ago to xylitol.

Within 30 minutes of consuming a small amount of a xylitol-sweetened product, the ASPCA says, dogs can experience a dramatic drop in blood sugar, and they usually begin vomiting, become lethargic and can have difficulty standing or walking. Some have seizures, develop internal hemorrhaging and lesions and suffer liver failure. As few as two or three sticks of xylitol gum could be toxic to a 20-pound dog, the ASPCA says.

Immediate and aggressive veterinary treatment, which includes glucose drips and IV fluids, has proved effective in many cases.

The ASPCA's poison control unit is aware of 10 dog deaths from xylitol since 2002, and it has received scores of reports of dogs becoming gravely ill. But only a fraction of veterinarians and consumers alert the ASPCA when a dog becomes ill or dies from toxins, and there is no national clearinghouse tracking xylitol-suspected toxic reactions.

Moreover, it's not always entirely clear what caused the problem when a dog arrives at a veterinarian's office with seizures or liver failure. "I suspect that there are more cases than we know about because they come in with liver failure, and the owner is not aware of what has been ingested," Pierce says.

She believes that xylitol ingestion is "an emerging problem" and that the number of cases probably will increase with time, "depending on how widespread xylitol as a sweetener becomes."

Xylitol is an all-natural sugar substitute derived from beets, birch tree bark, corncobs and other natural sources. It's as sweet as sugar but has 40% fewer calories. Unlike sugar, xylitol does not require insulin to be metabolized.

Right now, xylitol is used mostly in cookies, candies, cupcakes and other sweets developed for people who have diabetes. It's also sold in bags of crystals for baking. Because of its bacteria-killing properties, it is put into some oral care products, including Tom's All Natural and Biotene toothpastes.

It also is beginning to be used in a broad assortment of products intended for the general public. Among them: Jello sugar-free puddings and a wide variety of sugar-free gums, including Trident, Orbit, Stride, Icebreakers and Altoids.

Makers of products with xylitol say their products are designed for people, including diabetes patients, who are seeking an alternative to sugar; they were never recommended for dogs and were never intended to be ingested by dogs. Owners should be careful because some dogs, Khuly says, "get into just about everything and eat everything they find."

There is no indication that any of the other sweeteners on the market adversely affect dogs. And there is no evidence so far that xylitol is toxic to pets other than dogs. But cats, for example, don't scavenge for sweets as dogs do, so it's possible there are risks that have not yet been discovered. For now, veterinarians advise pet owners to keep xylitol away from all animals.

Oh, and stupid, "bearnings" was a typo.
Another you'd think is you'd think if you don't like reading

He's so internet savvy he doesn't know how to use a killfile for posters he doesn't want to read.

As usual, the square can't understand only what is in his mypoic view what is funny.

Can't be, the bugs in your whore wife's vagina is still infesting your bedsheets.

when marqueer is on his back with his legs in the air, grabbing his cock as his man-puss is being serviced by a buck nigger, does he close his eyes and picture brian burp pounding away instead of the nigger?

Why would you even know of such happenings let alone bring the news to RRAP?

The Nim administrator said, "I have asked and asked for you guys to leave Steve's baby Michael off this board, yet you continue to post about him, so now you can find another place to post, good luck." And he shut it down.
Only the lowest of low-lives hang around that board anyway, but Roger and Mark somehow managed to sink even to the bottom of that sludge pit, thus proving, yet again, their complete and utter worthlessness.

The bipolar admin of that board reopened it, and now Woger can stop sobbing uncontrollably. He and "Mark in the Dark" can continue their war of pidgin words back on board one instead of adding to the din in this group.

Maybe hot-eggs-and-spam can join in the fun. Send him an engraved invitation, Mark; he'd be a natural there.

In message <460958efdfed53d39cf6e878fe497940@userbeam.net>, Secwet Woger bragged about his Extra Class examination fame with the claim: "If poor chronic alcoholic and drug abuser Gopher face wouldn't drink so much because he is womanless, he could spell 'retested', 'dumb' and 'Rogie' and could actually pass an Extra license exam."

As one in a very similar situation (Extra received 7-3-07) I got both HRO and AES catalogs, checked the websites of the Big3 (Icom-Kenwood-Yaesu), read the Product Reviews section on eHam.net, got some give-out sheets from the local HRO outlet. I decided on NEW because I could afford it...not all can. A whole new station at home.

Based on using an Icom IC-R70 for twenty years...and knowing what it inside it, repair of certain portions of such "older" designs may or may not be easy if you get a "fixer-upper" used model. Some of the legacy equipment's spare parts just aren't available now. Depends on how old the used design is. Special ICs are probably not available now and trying to substitute for those takes a lot more smarts and experience than the average ham.

From what I've seen of others' purchase of fixer-uppers, most of those fell victim to previous owners fooling around with the insides and results ran the gamut from oops-no-work to unknown-nodata-supplied results.

Buying new has the advantage of a long warranty period.
There's no "bargains" available unless the manufacturer is offering them direct. Note: The big dealers say "their" prices are "best" but those only reflect the manufacturer.
In some states, buying just outside the state may save taxes (check the mail-order pages on websites for both applicable tax and shipping charges). I got my IC-746Pro from AES in Las Vegas, NV, with only a three-day wait for UPS to deliver. So far it works fine. The 746Pro was offered with a free 12 VDC supply (PS-125, seprately $300) and a straight-off $200 price reduction plus a mail-in rebate of $50 good until end of March. It doesn't hurt to check for those things. :-)

The 746Pro is NOT my recommendation for mobile since it is heavy and has no detachable front panel...but the LCD everything-in-it display is (to me) wonderful, big enough and bluish-white instead of eyestraining amber or green back-ground. One looks at the front panel more than anything so it should be pleasing to the eye. The lil-bitty IC-7000 (in the same HF-to-VHF multimode) might be fine for mobile in size and weight, for example, except the display is way too small for many and as such not a good thing to use while driving. Regardless of the brand, if you have a local ham radio supplier/outlet, check them out first... if they pester you about buying, just say your are trying to make up your mind and don't give in until you are ready.

If you can buy a used radio private-party, ask for a demo if they are local. Since you are now eligible to operate fully on the bands, you can be the "alternate" control op if the present owner is a General or Tech.

Once decided on a radio, new or used, it needs an antenna of some sort. All sorts of those are available but where you use it, home or mobile, makes a big difference...plus any covenants or restrictions on home installations plus spouse approval (most important!). For mobile it is usually calling for a VHF radio to keep the antenna within reason. Hint: 70cm is 3 times the 2m frequency so a "duo-band" antenna for that is hard to tell from a monoband antenna. There's lots to see on many different antennas at eHam.net reviews.

It's a lot of "homework" to do a good job of selection, but well worth it, especially for a neat, compact home station. When I went from almost nothing to a new home station, I will be spending about as much on all the accessories, antenna, etc., as the all-mode, lots-of-bands transceiver. [I am not done yet...:-) ]

Have fun! 73, Len AF6AY

Buying new versus used can be a difficult decision. Many used radios are in fine shape and many are not. What often works is to buy from a local ham so he can demonstrate it and allow you to go through its paces before buying. As a new licensee, you probably don't want to have to fuss around repairing a radio before you can get on the air.

New radios have the advantages of warranties and customer support. They have the disadvantages of price and complexity. There is also the issue of selecting among the many different models. Every manufacturer has made different choices in designing their radios. For example, on my Kenwood TS-2000, I can set the internal keyer speed and see a digital readout of the speed. I don't have to guess at it. On my husband's ICOM, he can also set the internal speed but there is no readout of that setting so one is estimating their speed. Basically the same feature but implemented differently. As a new operator, you may not yet know what features you will like and what features you won't. There's a slight possibility that a particular new (expensive) radio might not suit you.

Used radios have the advantage of price. However, I'd recommend being sure that you know it is working before you buy. Either buy it from a dealer who has gone over the radio or buy one that you have seen to be in operating condition. If you go this route, I'd suggest getting something new enough that it is not a tube type radio but old enough that it doesn't have a complex set of menus and/or buttons. For example a Kenwood TS-440 or Yaesu 757GX would be good. You can find these for under $300 in working condition. The nice thing here is that since they are inexpensive, you really don't have to worry too much about doing something wrong and damaging them since you haven't laid out a large sum of money. And once you have operated a while and are familiar with the basics, you will be better able to understand what the ads and reviews are talking about when they discuss features and performance. This will make it easier to select a radio when you decide to get something new. And since you won't have that much in this older radio, you won't feel guilty about retiring it when you buy that new one. Another advantage of the older, simpler radios is that you can concentrate on basic operating without having to go through a major learning curve (some of the menus on the new ones get a bit frustrating).

Welcome to the hobby and above all have fun. Eventually you will look back at all this and realize it wasn't really all that hard. It was just new.

Dee, N8UZE

You are not a moderator. You don't determine which threads are "legt" and

Mark is finally receiving what he's been dishing out to others for two years, and Mark doesn't like it. Good.

Maybe when he has had enough of his own threads hijacked (and he hardly ever starts a topic of his own, so it will take a while) he will begin to understand how others feel about his behavior.

In the meantime, eat your own medicine Markie.

Comparing CW to digital signals and digital communication is much the same to comparing a toboggan to the space shuttle and claiming both are methods of transportation.

Idiotic if you ask me ...

re: ARRL's "Diamond Terrace" Memorial

I do NOT understand this "fad" of placing bricks on the GROUND to memorialize someone. I am not about to memorialize anyone about whom I care or whom I respect by placing their name on the ground where thoughtless people wipe dog-poop off their shoes and spit their gum. I don't know who first thought of this fad (and Lord, I hope it's a "passing fad"), but it's a bad idea and I would never, ever do it.
Build a wall with the bricks, or anything else
other than a "walk on you daddy" place.

Such a big spender, Not Dave. Think you can spare it? After all, that "The Diamond Terrace" scheme appears to be nothing more than just another big money grab for the ARRL. I guess if you stop your $250.00 annual contribution they just rip out your call sign brick and toss it in the trash. It seems that the ARRL is becoming more and more self-serving as time goes along. Its gotten to the point that I just throw those ARRL envelopes that come in the mail in the trash because I know they are just hounding me for a donation. I can't believe the ridiculously inflated saleries that are paid to some of the staffers, I heard that some are making in excess of 100K+ a year. The only reason I am still a member of the ARRL is for QST. I believe that the ARRL is slowly evolving to a pay for service organization. IMO even the LOTW is big rip off, you get to pay the ARRL to have the privledge of doing all of the work inputing all of your past QSO's into their system, so the ARRL can give out its awards. Recently, the ARRL sent me a notice that they wanted to renew my license as a "service to the members", but they wanted to charge me a fee. I did it myself on-line, it took a whole two minutes, what a rip-off.

Not hardly. You are the one telling others they are off topic.
You are taking it upon yourself to determine which threads are legitimate.

You have no right, nor the intellect. You are simply compelled to "get the last word".

Your O/C disorder shines through, Morkie.

Follow-up to a letter I received:

----- Original Message -----

Subject: RE: Diamond Terrace

Thank you kindly for your reply.

> A brick terrace (not a walkway or side walk) of this type are used > extensively by many universities and organizations for this purpose and it > is popular with radio amateurs as well.

If my understanding is correct, names will be on bricks which are to be walked upon. That many people participate in this latest fad in memorials does not make it a "good" practice.
Millions of people smoke. That does not make smoking "good."

I'm happy to report that, at least in some quarters, this practice is being rejected and the bricks are being used in creative, attractive fashions that do not include teenagers wiping filth off the bottom of their shoes on the name of your loved-one.

Placing the name of someone we claim to respect under the unavoidably dirty heel of passing observers simply begs credulity;
I am astonished that anyone finds this acceptable and, frankly,
I think it has it's roots in worshiping the false "heroes" of Hollywood and their "Walk of Fame." I find it fitting in Hollywood's
case, but not for my Elmer (or my father, or anyone else I respect). Basing something as meaningful as the memorial you propose in something as meaningless as Hollywood defiles the very idea of a memorial.
You folks will, of course, do as you please.
And I'm nobody.
But I'm a nobody who's going to speak out against this terrible dirty-ing of people we claim to value.

Respectfully,
David Stinson AB5S

[The final line says in rot13: "Prediction: This will be hijacked in spite of its null content."]

Now Mark has demonstrated to one and all that he is a liar. Mark said that he doesn't hijack posts which don't attack him, but he just attacked a post which didn't even mention Mark or say anything to attack him. It was a nonsense post.

Mark hijacked the subject anyway, thereby demonstrating his total dishonesty. That was the reason the post was put here in the first place, and Mark fell for it.

Never claim that you only hijack attack threads, Mark, because that has now been proven to be a bald faced lie.

Thanks for taking my lie detector test. You failed it utterly.

The new rec.radio.amateur.moderated news group is spam and flame free and is a much better place to ask your questions. If your news server doesn't carry rec.radio.amateur.moderated, you can go to Google Groups
and post from there.

Sadly, posts to this news group are much less likely to produce useful results for you.<

Then in the next post you (Mark Morgan) hijacked the thread, what part don't you understand about your thread jacking?

Evidence that you (Mark Morgan) hijack threads, and don't come back because it was related to the radio groups, and it was posted in the proper forum .misc, (meaning everything not covered by the other

You asked for proof, so I provided an example, you only think its spam because your twisted logic can't let you determine the difference. Larry's post was legitimate and consistent with the atmosphere on RRAP and RRAM, and it appears to be sound advice for the new no code amateurs who come her seeking advice.

Furthermore, I figured that since you violated the rules by thread jacking hundreds of times, that I could do it once to prove a point. Which was proven that, A. You are familar with the practice of thread jacking, and B. You finally admit that you do practice in thread jacking. Congratulations in taking that first big step to address your obsessive problem with the news groups, demonstrated by the 700+ messages that you have posted so far this month.

I've heard stories that it's possible to damage transceivers during use. Can anyone explain to me the kinds of things that can kill a rig? I'm thinking about buying my first one and I'm a bit paranoid that, in the process of learning the ropes, I'll damage the thing somehow. I'm from a fairly technical background so I understand things like...uh, don't run it without an antenna, or a decent ground, or without an antenna tuner....etc. But what else can happen? Can anyone offer a newbie some help/advice? Thanks.

Jeff,

You mentioned some of the obvious things, but other possible damaging things are releated to lighting, static electricity, running a mis-matched load for an antenna, or using under rated components such as wiring, coax or power supplies. Such examples are things like unscrewing the coax from a tuner without touching ground first. The possiblity here is if you touch the center conductor without grounding yourself first, static electricity can emit from your body and damage your radio, this is more of a problem during the winter months. During summer, lighting is an issue and it does not have to be a direct strike to cause damage. Case in point, I had a radio sustain damage when my neighbor across the street had a direct strike to a tree in their backyard. I did have the antenna connected but suprisingly, it was an indoor antenna mounted in my attic. Furthermore, I know of an incident where the antenna was disconnected but the radio was still plugged into the wall, in this example transist excessive voltage/amps occured to the house AC mains due to a strike to the power grid, which in turn caused damage to the internal supply of the radio. I usually disconnect my radios from the house mains and antennas when there are thunderstorms in the area or not in use. I don't know where you live, but I know from reading one ham's web site, that central Florida has some really bizarre lighting activity, like getting direct hits when the storms are 30 miles away. Furthermore, of course running a mismatched antenna without a tuner or running too small or mismatched coax may cause finals to fail if your rig does not have circuit protection, and if circuit protection kicks in, you should cease operation and repair the condition causing the mismatch. Running a power supply that is too small can also cause problems, such as to the regulation or other circuits in the radio, but you will probably notice poor performance before any actual damage occurs. Another thing to prevent damage is to ensure proper polarity when you hook up the rig to the power supply. Sounds stupid, but there are experienced people out there who have damage a rig by hooking it up backwards to the supply/battery. These are some of the more common rig damaging things, but I am sure there are others in the group who can give examples of issues that I have not considerd.

Jeff,

You mentioned some of the obvious things, but other possible damaging things are releated to lighting, static electricity, running a mismatched load for an antenna, or using under rated components such as wiring, coax or power supplies. Such examples are things like unscrewing the coax from a tuner without touching ground first. The possiblity here is if you touch the center conductor without grounding yourself first, static electricity can emit from your body and damage your radio, this is more of a problem during the winter months.
During summer, lighting is an issue and it does not have to be a direct strike to cause damage. Case in point, I had a radio sustain damage when my neighbor across the street had a direct strike to a tree in their backyard. I did have the antenna connected but suprisingly, it was an indoor antenna mounted in my attic.
Furthermore, I know of an incident where the antenna was disconnected but the radio was still plugged into the wall, in this example transist excessive voltage/amps occured to the house AC mains due to a strike to the power grid, which in turn caused damage to the internal supply of the radio. I usually disconnect my radios from the house

Dloyd

As a for instance. I have a friend whose several rigs were "taken out" by a lightning strike, but NOT a direct strike.
He realized that a storm was pending, so he did all the right things. He disconnected his antenna lead-ins, unplugged the radios from the AC power source and waited out the storm. When he plugged them back in, he had nothing. Zero. Three new Yaesu HF rigs were ruined.
What happened? He had not disconnected the rigs from the common ground line. There was a lightning strike, he said, about a block from his house, and the surge that traveled through the damp soil and into his ground was enough to wipe out his rigs.
It is with his experience in mind that I rigged up a knife switch for my common ground wires where they exit the house. I now can isolate my rigs completely and, if necessary, can easily remove the ground wire from the switch should I be concerned that lightning will "jump" the switch.

3173. For the newbie, a FAQ, "What is _REAL_ Ham Radio?"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

A necessary preface.....

(It is becoming increasingly difficult to fly the flag for decency and for civilised behaviour in Radio Hammery.
However, there still exists the fundamental basis on which Ham Radio is based, and that will never die.

This FAQ ("What Is _REAL_ Ham Radio?") will be regularly published and will not be shouted or bullied down. It is important that those of a technical bent, who are the natural seed-corn of Radio Hammery and who gravitate towards us to be the real novitiate, can still find us, (and know that we are still here), their fellows.)

-----ooooo-----

So,.....What is _REAL_ Ham Radio?

_REAL_ Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for those who are interested in the science of radio wave propagation and who are also interested in the way that their radios function. It has a long-standing tradition of providing a source of engineers who are born naturals.

Ham Radio awakens in its aficionados a whole-life fascination with all things technical and gives an all-abiding curiosity to improve one's scientific knowledge. It's a great swimming pool, please dive in!

This excitement causes a wish to share the experience with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio.

Radio Hams are in a unique privileged position in that they can construct and operate their own equipment! No-one else has this privilege. Users, such as broadcasters,
the po lice and armed farces, CBers and mobile phone users have to purchase ready-made gear. Manufacturers are not licensed to operate their gear. Radio Hams are qualified to design, build and then operate their own pieces of equipment. They do this with gusto, and also repair and modify their own equipment. This is a privilege well worth the effort to gain, and one to be jealously guarded.

The excitement that drives a Radio Ham starts with relatively simple technologies at first, perhaps making his own Wimshurst machine and primary cells. Small pieces of test equipment follow, possibly multimeters and signal generators. Then comes receivers and transmitters. It is with the latter that communication with like-minded technically motivated people takes off. The scope for technical development grows with the years and now encompasses DSP
and DDS. There is also a great deal of excitement in the areas of computer programming to be learnt and applied.

The technical excitement motivates Radio Hams to compete with each other to determine who has designed and manufactured
the best-quality station. This competitiveness is found in DXing, competitions and fox-hunts.

-----OOOOO----

However, beware! A Ham Radio licence is such a desirable thing to have that there are large numbers of people who wish to be thought of as Radio Hams when, in fact, they are nothing of the kind! Usually such people are a variation of the CB Radio hobbyist; they buy their radios off the shelf and send them back to be repaired; they are not interested in technical discussion
and sneer at those who are; they have no idea how their radios work inside and have no wish to find out;
they are free with rather silly personal insults.

-----ooooo-----

One infallible way to disambiguate the CB Radio Hobbyist from the _REAL_ Radio Ham is to solicit their view of the difference between CB Radio and Ham Radio. A Radio Ham will perceive Ham Radio to be a technical pursuit and will perceive CB Radio to be a social communications facility
no different in essence to a land-line telephone or a GSM mobile in the hands of a 6-year-old. Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line telephone, whilst continuing to regard Ham Radio as a separate technical pursuit.

A CB Radio hobbyist, on the other hand, sees no difference between a Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then tries to classify himself as the equal of the Radio
Ham when, in fact, he is nothing of the kind.

Ham Radio is not CB Radio and has no common ground with it!
Ham Radio is _THE_ technical pursuit for gentlemen; CB Radio is the name for the operating hobby for those who buy their rigs and equipment off the shelf.

-----ooooo-----

If you are the sort of person who is motivated by a technical interest in how things work; if you took apart malfunctioning clocks, toasters and the like and put them right despite never having seen them working, then a Ham Radio licence is your traditional route! There has never been a shortage of such people, and those who gravitate towards such an interest have always been welcomed into our shacks and their interests fostered. There is not today, nor has there ever been, a need to go out and encourage and press children, children who have never expressed an interest in Ham Radio, to come into our shacks. Such an activity should cause eyebrows to be raised - what normal well-adjusted adults seek the social acquaintance of children?!

-----ooooo-----

Please remember that this FAQ is a _POSITIVE EXHORTATION_ to you to exert yourselves to join our fraternity!

Unfortunately, NO ONE builds Wimhurst Machines as a prelude to becoming a ham these days. Maybe 80 years ago, but times change. So does technology. Times change, hobbies change.

It is CB that is the "hobby". Ham radio is a technical pursuit, a whole-life pre-occupation.

Technology changes, but it is still the essence of Radio Hams to remain interested in and be motivated by technology.

Well, maybe not a "prelude" but one of our local M3s (now an M0 one, of the many that have moved through the system) built a Wimshurst Machine and some other such beasts.

Dear All,

My kenwood TL922 has developed a strange fault. When I switch it on (via an Ameritron Soft Start module) I get a negative reading on the Ig meter of -50mA and a positive reading of around +100mA on the Ip meter with no key down.

Keying the amp has no effect and the relay does not energise. I have checked the ALC and relay connectors and the coaxial cables

I've tried starting it directly bypassing the soft start box and this has made no difference. Obviously I do not leave it on for more than a few seconds as there is clearly a fault. I have had the covers off and can see nothing untoward in terms of burnt components and there is no burning smell and the fuses don't blow. Also both valves (3-500zs) light up.

Any suggestions as to what may be up before a trip over to Castle, has anyone else seen similar

Jim G7NKS

My news server shows the following for the month of March, as of the date of this post:

- Posts containing "kb9rqz" somewhere in the From header and made to rec.radio.amateur.policy only: 679

- Posts crossposted or solely posted to rec.radio.amateur.misc: 380

Total posts as kb9rqz: 1059

Note: These totals do not include posts made under other nyms such as "konstans@ ..." Those are being tallied separately and will be listed later. Again, these totals are for the month of March only.

An average of 45 posts per day!

I was recently accused of "lying" when I said Mork posts 200 messages/day, so I'm definitely interested in the final tally!

204 additional posts have been found for the month of March under the address konstans@... That brings the total posts found so far up to 1263.

I am posting these results as I develop scripts to go through the news cache and count posts by kb9rqz under his various nyms. These results will continue to be periodically posted here as proof of Mark's Usenet and Google abuse.

Easy diagnosis: one of the two 3-500Z tubes has developed an internal grid-to-filament short (quite a common fault).

The short causes the tube filament to effectively stay at ground potential even during stand-by, and that is the reason why the tube conducts and the plate meter then shows some idling current.

The grid shows negative current because, due to the short, the positive DC voltage applied to the filament to keep the tubes interdict during stand.by founds a path to ground through the grid.

WARNING: you are running the risk to blow the service transformer (T2). This is a Kenwood design fault: when a grid-to-filament short occurs, the 80 Volt generated by T2 is shorted to ground. DO NOT SWITCH THE AMPLIFIER ON AGAIN until you have replaced the faulty tube.

Jim, I agree with Antonio's diagnosis of a shorted tube. However, you can also post at http://groups.yahoo.com/group/ham_amplifiers/

The Yahoo amps board is a good place to ask for info about improvement mods for the TL 922.

Mark, How did I thread jack? The thread is about you, and I posted about you. I can't thread jack this post because you hijacked this thread when you changed the name on the second post. Larry's post that I was responding to was not directed to an individual, hence no name mentioned, but I put a name in this post so others will know that it is directed at you. Now watch me restore the original name, now don't thread jack it again. But of course you will

You shouldn't be married and lusting after men, but you don't see me complaining.

Evans, knock it off with this crossposting of pretentious blabbering. Try confining it to uk.radio.amateur or maybe rec.radio.amateur.misc. It doesn't belong in HOMEBREW since it is nothing but YOUR OPINION...an opinion which "we" have all heard for years with little variance in oratory.

If you are "serious" about this "FAQ" then go to the new rec.radio.amateur.moderated and post. If you dare. :-(

3212. kb9rqz posting stats for March III (1389 posts counted)

I have now found other nyms Mark uses, such as "General Pace" <konstaan@hotmail.com>, and included them in my counting scripts. When the scripts scan the news cache for the month of March 2007, they now come up with

rec.radio.amateur.misc - 499
rec.radio.amateur.policy - 823
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest - 67

Total: 1389 unique posts

Crossposts have only been counted once and assigned to the first newsgroup listed in the Newsgroups line. For example, a post crossposted to both rram and rrap is counted only once and assigned to rram. That is also the way in which the files are saved internally by the news server, and that is the reason flame_fest is included (all posts counted there were also crossposted to rrap or rram but were not counted in those groups).

Mark's March posting frequency is approximately 58 posts per day.

Next, I'll be working out such things as the maximum number of posts on any given day. I know that during some months the daily frequency has approached 200 posts per day.

Perhaps a website similar to Speroni's, only showing Mark's posting frequency per day per month, with Bar Graphs and the like?

You have described the classic symptoms of the heater-grid short inside the 3-500 [at least one of them].

The heater is tungsten. Tungsten grows crystal 'whiskers' over time. It is well documented physics. These whiskers are thin as silk thread [or thinner]. In many instances they can be removed with a simple application of 110 VAC between the heater and the grid. Some people will charge a 10 uF capacitor to several hundred volts and discharge it into the grid/heater short circuit. This will 'cure' the 'whisker' issue [pop the fuze] in about 90% of the instances.

A second option exists. When you first power up the 922 don't panic over the current being drawn and jump to turn it off. Wait for 10 to 15 seconds to see if the filament heating and resultant thermal expansion will eliminate the short for you. [This is much less expensive than buying a matched pair of 3-500Z's]. I have been running my AL-80B with a transient [heating] grid/heater short for over a year. Once the transient state has returned the circuit to normal operation, the amplifier works 100% as designed. [BTW: I have a spare 3-500 that I will use if the short eventually becomes a 100% hard failure].

I'm not aware of the 922 design details that contributes to the 'transformer' issue.

The normal filament current is about 14 amperes at 5 volts. The grid/filament short generally draws less than 100 ma of grid current and less than 300 ma of plate currnet. An abnormal current of less than 0.5 ampere is not a problem for the major floating secondary winding of a filament transformer.

The design of the bias circuit can be a totally different circumstance. In Ameritron amplifiers it is a self bias through a series of resistors and/or zeners. My Al-80B uses about -15 VDC as cutoff bias. In the 922 ... I have no data.

Restated, remove the tubes and 'pop the short' if there is a concern in the 922.

In the TL-922, the filament transformer would burn after a short while because on that same transformer there is another secondary (80 Volts) which gets nearly shorted to ground when a filament-to-grid short occurs in a tube.

I'll take you at your word. There are eight of those posts, all of which were posted through AOL. That leaves 1385 posts to explain (as of this time / date).

In fact, I'll assume that any AOL post is a fake and cut them out of the tally. I'll have to add a line or two to the script file in order to take a look at the NNTP-Posting-Host line and eliminate such posts.

> there are severl dozen look kida alike addies being used by other to Care to list their ISPs? I can go ahead and eliminate them too. That's still going to leave a lot of posts that look like yours (right NSP, ISP and news reader).

Tera News is a rogue NSP which has been under active consideration for the Usenet Death Penalty because of all the spam which originates there (see news.admin.net-abuse.usenet). If the news server admins ever decide to take action, Tera News will be cut off from the rest of Usenet and that will be the end of that.

Google, schmoogle: It is a matter of simple common sense and netiquette. When you intentionally disrupt ANY newsgroup for long periods of time, you are by definition an abuser.

It's called common decency. That's the quota you fail to understand, because that's the concept you fail to grasp.

Only in your mind since you choose to view it that way. There are many fine CB operators. However the service has been trashed by the noticeable few. All must then suffer the insults engendered by the few.

Mark has no common decency, and is indeed incapable of same. His mental issues lie much deeper than meets our eyes, as is evidenced by his odd obsessive/compulsive behavior.
You may as well be talking a tree, for all the good it will do. It is no small wonder because it goes again the systematic order of nature and it is just wrong. So you basically admit that you cheat on your wife with men, and you say your not gay.

If your married and confine yourself to your wife, then how can you be bi-sexual/gay? Since you describe yourself as bi-sexual, it implies that your practice this type of behavior, which is cheating. However, if you are telling us that you don't practice bi-sex and it just arouses you, then I wouldn't classify you as bi-sexual. I think sexual devient or pervert is more accurate.

I'll have to ask you to read the entire thread for yourself. I've no reason or need to repeat everything. However my complaint was that the original article was derogatory towards both hams and CB operators.

Why receive gifts? Gav refuses to live with you, she won't take your name, and you spend your waking hours on Usenet. Some would be led to believe that you aren't even married...legally, that is. Of course perhaps your "artsy-craftsy" crowd of self-proclaimed artists and wanna-be performers feel that all you need to do is proclaim that you are married while dancing around a bonfire in front of a few spaced-out pot smokers.
You've lied about so much already that it is small wonder nobody believes you.

Yes but your not just in a relationship, you are in a marriage. There is a difference involving a higher level of commitment, including being faithful to your spouse.

No, but being married is supposed to mean that you won't cheat, you will only be with your wife, and that you have agreed to be faithful.

> mere sexaul atration does not automaticaly include sexaul action.

Maybe However, sexual action defines sexual orientation. Again, how can you be gay/bi if you are not practicing the sexual action which defines such.

No, as noted above sexual action defines sexual orientation.

The concept of marriage was put forth way before you or I was on this planet, and those who conceived the idea decided it was monogomous, unless you are a certain branch of the mormon religion, but they don't accept gays.

simple surely you accpet the premise all that oucurs in nature is natural

you surely can't dispute that homosexuality bisexaulity and heterosexaulity all oucur in narue, there all MUST be natural

Not raving about anything, you posted that you have so many friends, but your wedding registry appears to suggest otherwise. You had about 40 items on the wish list and only received four and one duplicate, and it was all the cheap gifts. So the registry suggests that you have about four friends, who are a bunch cheapscapes. I usually give a $1000 for weddings whether I attend or not. Your friends must be a bunch of cheap asses.

Not raving about anything, you posted that you have so many friends, but your wedding registry appears to suggest otherwise. You had about 40 items on the wish list and only received four and one duplicate, and it was all the cheap gifts. So the registry suggests that you have about four friends, who are a bunch cheapscapes. I usually give a $1000 for weddings whether I attend or not. Your friends must be a bunch of cheap asses.

Most of his "friends" are the voices he hears in the dark corners of his mind. The others, the ambulatory ones, are a few starving artists living on shoestrings and locally grown pot.
Perhaps Mark shoud have asked for a bong pipe instead.

No I don't accept that, "all that occurs in nature is natural" because even in primates there are examples of abnormal behavior. >

> you surely can't dispute that homosexuality bisexaulity and

I do dispute your rationale because it is not supported by facts.
I've seen those reports by so called scientist who profess this information, but as you dig deeper, you learn that nearly every report is financed by pro gay groups and the scientist are also gay, thus the information is biased to support this junk science from the start.

Ooh, I am scared, why don't you call the law? I didn't steal anything fat ass. Good luck getting past my security, I use quadualar hexadecimal encoding. BTW since you mentioned your wife, why is she buying books with lesbo themes, don't tell me she is also a homo. I tell you one thing Markie, once your wife turns to women you can't compete. Look at some of those Hollywood types who wives have left them for women. These guys are wealthy and famous and can't keep their woman. If Gav is turning to women, you don't stand a chance. LOL

P.S. I think the world of lloyd blog belongs to LLoyd Davies, the other two are mine but you still haven't found the other blogs I run, FYI I have no connection with I punce bog, that is not my handiwork. You will have to give credit to the rightful owner who ever he or she maybe.

Apparently you managed to find the soft spot in baby Morkie's head.

He is proving once again that he is not stable.

If you are not proud of yourself, you should be. I'm envious of your talent.

Not proud, just persistent. You just get tired of Markie's constant BS, he better be glad he doesn't live close to me, I would have driven him into a mental breakdown by now.

You know how Mark is. He often fabricates "rules" and draws his own "lines in the sand" depending upon his mood.
I rather enjoy watching him wig out. Apparently Gav is once again not home to soothe his savage soul.

I wonder what she did with those "wedding" gifts? Did she take them to her house, or leave them at Mark's father's house? Ah, heck. It is not important.

In my opinion, he's already reached that point and surpassed it.

His wife has posted all kinds of crap on the net, I just use a lot of the off the wall seach engines which seems to be better at finding the more out of the ordinary crap on the net. Mark thinks I somehow hacked into his wife's account, but he is too stupid to realize that none of that information is protected. He really is a "Super Idiot

The knives may serve a useful purpose, indeed. The books will be of little use to Mark since Gav will most likely take them from Mark before he colors all the pictures with his collection of Crayons.
I wonder if Mark is bouncing off the walls yet? You've apparently put his

Odd. I was under the distinct impression that he's already been lobotomized.
Of course I have no knowledge whether he has or not, I was merely judging by his behavior.

You've obviously succeeded in working him into a pitched frenzy. I see that he is responding en masse and is jacking the threads once again.
I will not look at his posts, since once you've read one, you've read them all.

Besides. When one ignores his posts he takes it as a personal affront. He NEEDS attention, seeks it out whether good or bad. I'm sure he is thinking, "How dare they ignore me?"

Now, Dloyd, you will keep poor Mark up well past his bedtime.

Could be, although considering his age he could have adult onset drug abuse hysteria. Between ages of 35 and the late 40's, a lot of males who have used illicit drugs during their teens and early 20's end up with severe mental condtions due to a chemical imbalance in the brain that occurs during normal age related changes in the brain. In a normal person these changes occur without little notice, but in a drug abuser, it cause severe mental problems when the change occurs, consistent with Mark's behavior. How about it Markie, where you a drug abuser when you were younger.

That would be fine, as a matter of fact why don't you send me an email so you can watch it bounce because I don't post though AOL and the account does not exist, such a foolish man you are. I only want you and others to think I do...just shows how stupid you and others are.
I give you a small sense of accomplishment when you look at the headers and you think you have discovers something by seeing AOL, when in fact, instead of just posting all of that fictious lines like the

You still haven't answered about the lesbo books??

Would those books be the ones with the hirsute female weight lifters?
There aren't too many of "those" in Chassell these days. Most of the man-haters in that area are sixties clones, Hippy wannabees, who think they are performing artists of one sort or another. Of course none of them make it past the local theater and most subsist by trying to pander homemade wind chimes, love beads, paisely headbands, and other "artsy-crafty" stuff while living on the cusp of poverty. Most, like Mark, are societal misfits.

Peace, Love, Dove. If it feels good, do it. Jimi Hendrix lives!
And keep that picture of Janis Joplin on your incense stand.

I can best deal with the Childish Broadcast (CB) of the rather silly and infantile child below by re-iterating one of the threads of the past few days....

"On a daily basis, this NG is a forum seemingly for escapees from the school playground, with gratuitous and offensive personal remarks
originating from even those who have not been part of a conversation and who could have no reason, other than uncontrolled infantile emotions, for interjecting as they do.

Is such public and international demonstrations really the way forward; the way for PR for the future of Ham Radio. I say, "No!".

I cannot see how something that is a technical pursuit with traditions of gentlemanly behaviour could possibly give way to the childish sneering that is typical of this NG."

I disagree. it is very complimentary towards _REAL_ Radio Hams. However, it if it is derogatory towards those who are really no more than CBers-masquerading-as-Radio-Hams (Possibly callsigns in the "N8" series fall into that category?) then that is good.

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for gentleman. Those who think that they are Radio Hams but send their rigs back for repair are "CBers-masquerading-as-Radio-Hams", no more, no less.

If you are one in that category, then I apologise that you were misled into thinking that you are a Radio Ham by others who ought to have known better. We have such others in Britland in the shape of the RSCB, "The Radio Society for Citizens Band" an organisation that provides premises for meetings of the British Citizens Band Confederation.

Putting this into its correct perspective, this came about
as the result of a malicious and perjurous complaint made by Brian Reay, M3OSN, and it is at Brian Reay's door
(and now also the RSCB's door) that any complaints of Bad PR must be laid.

Brian Reay subjected me and my close family members to a campaign of harassment wherein he published repeated racially-aggravated pornographic emails to these NG. He maintained this campaign over a period exceeding two years.
How his sick-minded obsession was ever relevant to Ham
Radio and to these NG has never been established.

Having put up with this for an extended peiod, I then discovered that not only was Brian Reay a schoolteacher, but he was publishing his sick racially-aggravated pornographic emails whilst under training at a Girls' School.

I did no more than to assert the right of reply in defence when I asserted that no-one with such a sick-minded history of international publishing should be a school teacher UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES.

I hold to that view today.

Brian Reay's infantile response to having the tables turned on him
was to make a malicious and perjurous complaint to his fellow
w*nkmasons to allege that I was harassing him rather than the oher way around which is obvious from the Google archive to this day.

Mike Gathergood is well aware of these facts, but it must be apparent to many of you from the way he hangs around every posting of mine that he is also a sick-minded obsessive.
best ignored.

I have not been able to establish the name and address of the

I would be grateful if anyone can furnish this information,so that I can make representations supported by evidence to the governors to seek that Brian Reay be dismissed because

Because I don't know too many woman who like violent movies, and besides Gav seems to be one of the artsy fartsy searching my soul/

Perhaps Mark was the one who wanted the cookbooks? Given his proclivities previously posted in various newsgroups, it wouldn't at all be an improbable conclusion that he is, in fact, the one who wears the panties in the family.

Dear All,

Update:-

Had the case open and indeed 1 of the 3-500zs was showing a grid/fil short, however a little inadvertent rough handling cured this and when reassembled the amp worked fine for an hour or so. Then it was switched off for lunch and after lunch the problem had returned and this time is persisting despite removal of the valve. I haven't yet tried the mains blast across the pins as I'm not that confident!

good news is that the filament transformer seems fine and hasn't been apparently damaged by the few very short excursions into short territory.

A new valve will be ordered. May try the whisker zap if feeling brave at some point

Learnt a bit today, I now have better understanding of the innards. Interstingly the previous owner had done some but not all of the Measures mods, e.g. cathode and low Q VHF parasitic suppresors.

thanks for all the advice

But with today's microprocessor, DSP and firmware laiden transceivers, would repair be both possible and cost-effective once the radio amateur has purchased a SMD rework station and expensive test gear, etc, that would only be used for the one repair, etc?

I've done surface mount repairs and /or modifications in the past without a SMD rework station so it can be done. I find it a bit more difficult now due to poor dexterity in my hand but, while I'd not take on a repair for someone else (in case it goes pear shaped), I'd probably have a try on some thing of my own- unless it was very high in value. I've picked up one of those illuminated magnifying lenses and, with practice, you can solder SMD stuff while looking through that. The key thing, assuming you want to replace a component, is to get it off the PCB without damaging the pads. For a multi-legged beast, you can snip the legs and remove them one at a time. A bit of heat on the body of the package will help if there is any glue under it. Ball grid arrays are more of a problem.

As regards the DSP side, if that goes bad the repair is probably more hardware related (ie a bad component) so the firmware doesn't really come into it. I've not checked, but some of the DSP radios may well use one of the "off the shelf" DSP devices that you can get the development environment for. If so, you could write your own code- assuming you Know what you are doing.

That is a bit unkind Mark. Not all amateurs can afford to scrap radios that, in real terms, are beyond economic repair. Equally, "fixing it" is more fun than buying a new one, or maybe paying someone else to fix it.

Fortunately I prefer non-DSP radios and ones where I can effect a simple repair - especially Icom 735 and Yaesu FT747 - simple and reliable sets and very flexible and forgiving with non-fancy aerial systems unlike some modern sets that 'freak out' when a high SWR is presented.

Thinking of adding DSP to the 747 sometime or maybe trying a PC based real-time solution.

the refernce to cost effective had noth what to do with the price of

Will, the IC756ProIII is a dream and works fine with a simple end fed for general HF use and a reduced size loaded dipole for 5MHz.

The SDR is a good place to start with this type of thing, there is a wealth of material around and lots of people experimenting.

Personally, I like a radio with a proper front panel, with knobs you tweak, switches you push etc.

3373. Mark jumps to 60 posts/day for March

I have now eliminated the counting of posts which originate at AOL, due to the forgeries which have come from there. Several additional tests are made on a post before it is counted in an attempt to avoid obvious forgeries (for example, Google posts must contain a posting IP address which belongs to direcpc). As of this date, the following totals were obtained

rec.radio.amateur.misc - 571
rec.radio.amateur.policy - 827
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest - 65

Total: 1463 unique posts during March.

Crossposts have only been counted once and assigned to the first newsgroup listed in the Newsgroups line. For example, a post crossposted to both rram and rrap is counted only once and assigned to rram. That is also the way in which the files are saved internally by the news server, and that is the reason flame_fest is included (all posts counted there were also crossposted to rrap or rram but were not counted in those groups).

Mark's March posting frequency is approximately 60 posts per day.

Better get to stepping, Mark, if you're going to make 2000 posts this month.

You can use a charged cap to "blast" the short, might be less dramatic than the unlimited current behind the mains.. This sometimes vaporizes part of the grid structure and affects tube operation..

I didn't steal or "hack" into anything. You have got to be one of the stupidist people I have ever had contact with on the internet. You act as if I stole your credit card information. If you don't want your personal business known, then don't make profiles about yourself in the public domain. None of the information I revealed was under any protection whatsoever and is not protected by any law in the U.S.A., no passwords were violated or user accounts breached to obtain the information. All you have to do is go to a search engine that is worth a hoot, and the information can be found quite easily.

The bottom line Markie, if you didn't screw with people on RRAM and RRAP all the time no one would bother you. Do you think were all going to just sit here and take your crap day in and day out without saying a word. Seems as though you got a little bit of your own medicine and you don't like the taste. Well cry me a river, Boo F'ing Hoo.

Mark merely reaped that which he has sown. Several of us warned him about using his name and callsign in the newsgroups, but did he listen? Does he ever?
You got what you deserved, Mark.

By the way. WTF is "magical Judaism"????

I still want to know what "magical Judaism" is. It sounds a bit whacky to me.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3B6, AGALEGA. Team leader Witek, SP9MRO, announced on March 22nd that the Polish DXpedition to Agalega Island has been rescheduled to take place between June 6-18th, provided that the team can obtain permission for staying, a licence and the right ship to take them there. For updates please visit the 3B6 Web page at: http://3b6.godx.eu/

3B8, MAURITIUS (AF-049). Starting April 5th, look for Mart, DL6UAA, to once again be active as 3B8MM for a few weeks. His activity will be mostly CW, but he will also try SSTV (on 14230 kHz). QSL via his home callsign, direct or by the bureau. Visit his Web site at: http://www.dl6uaa.de/indexa.html

4O3/YT6, MONTENEGRO (Late WPX Announcement). There was another contest effort from Montenegro by Ranko/YT6A (on 20m) and Martti/4O3B/OH2BH (80m) during this past weekend's CQ WPX Phone Contest. The OH2BN press release stated:
"They will be using many newly established stations and antenna concepts at Ranko's 'Premium Contest Resort' 600 meters above sea level near the city of Herceg Novi." ADDED NOTE: Visit Ranko's new Web site (still under construction) at: http://www.skycc.info/yt6a 7P, LESOTHO. Operators Tony/ZS1APB, Barry/ZS1FJ, Shaun/ZS1RA, Roy/ZS1ROY and Deon/ZS1ZL will be operating from the highest point in Lesotho (3000m ASL) on the north border escarpment of the Drakensburg Range between April 5-12th. The team has requested the callsign 7P8DX. Activity is planned for 80-15 meters with an emphasis on the lower bands. They plan to have three stations active simultaneously using Yagis and V-beams.

A2, BOTSWANA (UPdate/Ops Stilled Needed!). Frosty, K5LBU, reports that so far they now have 3 operators beside himself. He would like to find at least 2 more to join their group. The dates are still the same, July 5-21st. Frosty states, "It looks like we might be able to do some EME and LEO work also while there." If interested, contact him via E-mail at: frosty1@pdq.net ADDED NOTE: Frosty is already thinking about next year, possibly 3DA0 or 7P8.

A5, BHUTAN. Beginning in April, operator Kunio, JA8VE, is expected to be here on a two year work assignment through March 2009 as a JICA senior volunteer for Japan's Ministry of Foreign Affairs to coach the Bhutanese telecommunications ministry. He will be active as A52VE and will be operating from the capital city of Thimphu. Activity will be on all bands including 6 meters, SSB, Digital modes and some CW. Kunio states that he will use a Yaesu and Icom radio with ONLY 100 watts (amps are prohibited) possibly using a Spider beam and Inverted VEE or DP. QSL via JF1OCQ, using the QRZ.com address.

CU2, AZORES. Pedro, EA1FCH, will be active from Sao Miguel (EU-003) in the Eastern Island Group as CU2/EA1FCH, June 27th through August 5th. Activity will be on the lower bands and WARC bands, mainly CW and the Digital modes. QSL via EA1FCH, by the Bureau or direct.

DXCC NEWS.....
JUST A REMINDER (DXCC Honor Roll listings due)! The deadline for the next ARRL DXCC Honor Roll listing is approaching very fast. Just under a week to go! All submissions must be "postmarked by March 31st". The Honor Roll list will appear in the 2007 August QST. There are 337 current entities on the DXCC list, so you must be at 337 for Top of the Honor Roll or within the numerical top 10 to qualify for the Honor Roll (minimum of 328 entities; deleted entities do not count toward Honor Roll).

Reports indicate that the following operations are not yet approved for DXCC credit: E51PDX - North Cook Islands
E51PEN - North Cook Islands
Reason given: No documentation received for either of these 2006 operations.

Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager reports that the following operations are approved for DXCC credit:
1A4A - Sovereign Military Order Of Malta 2007 Operation
9M4SDX - Spratly Islands 2007 Operation
9U9Z - Burundi 2007 Operation
DX&#65533;JP - Spratly Islands 2007 Operation
YW&#65533;DX - Aves Island 2007 Operation

ER, MOLDOVA. Andy, RW3AH, is now active as ER/RW3AH until April 12th. This is his third DXpedition to the Republic of Moldova. He plans to pay special attention to the 160/80m bands and as usual on 20 meter CW/SSB (for USA General Class above 14260 kHz and for Russian amateurs around 14150-14180 kHz). Also mentioned is that Valery, RW3GW, may possibly join him as well as a second operator using the callsign ER0/R7C or ER0/NA1SA between April 8-12th. QSL direct using the address on QRZ.com.

GP8, GUERNSEY (EU-114). Chris, M0DOL, will be here for 7 days and is expected to arrive during the morning of May 26th. He plans to activate castles and forts on the island. He will stay in Richmond near Vazon Bay, in sight of both Fort Richmond and Fort Hammet. Chris states that he will also be at Vale Castle on Sunday, May 27th. Look for Chris, along with Tom/2E0TSW and members of the Norhampton Radio Club, to activate the callsign GP8LED/p for the first time ever from all locations. Activity will be on all bands. A full colored double-sided QSL card will be available only direct from M0DOL (information via QRZ.com). ATTENTION CASTLE HUNTERS: A list of CASHOTA reference numbers will be available soon on the following Web page soon at: http://www.cashota.org

HL, SOUTH KOREA (IOTA & LH Activity). Jean-Pierre, F5AHO, will be active as HL1/F5AHO from May 12-20th. His plans are to activate some IOTAs and Lighthouses. The following were mentioned: AS-081 (LH0304), AS-060, AS-026 (LH0686) and AS-085. Activity will be SSB on 20/1715 meters using his FT857 and a wire GP. QSL via his home callsign, by the bureau or direct.

INDIAN OCEAN TOUR. Gildas, TU5KG, will once again be portable maritime-mobile (/MM) around Kerguelen Island (FT5XP) and Crozet Island (FT5WL). This time Gildas will not go to Port aux Francais. He will, however, be on Reunion Island (FR/TU5KG) around May 15th. QSL via F4EFI, direct or by the bureau. No e-QSLs accepted.

KH8S, SWAINS ISLAND DXPEDITION (Update). It is a little over a week to go before members of the N8S Swains Island DXpedition will hit the air between April 4-15th. Then the team will move their operations to the Independent State of Samoa (5W - formerly known as Western Samoa from 1914-1997) as 5W5AA (and possibly other callsigns) between April 17-24th. Acim, YZ1EW, announced this past week that both the N8S and 5W5AA teams will be active on 60 meters (on 5403.5 kHz), 2m EME and 6 EME with WSJT65 A,B,C (on frequencies 50.375 MHz and 144.375 MHz). He also announced that the following pilot stations for the operation are: Toma/YU1AB for Western Europe, Lee/KH6BZF for the Americas and the Pacific, and Antic/YU1AA for the YU and Eastern Europe areas. Lastly, he stated that the DXpedition team is ready to go. All donations are welcome according to the data on their Web site at: http://www.yt1ad.info/n8s/

Acim also adds (edited): "The most wanted DXCC country needs HAMSPIRIT on the frequency, and please listen carefully to the operator on the current frequency."

LIGHTHOUSE ACTIVITY.....
Operators Jim/KA3UNQ, Dan/KD3CQ and Al/W3REG will operate as N3L from the Point Lookout Lighthouse ( ARLHS USA-628), Maryland, on April 14th, from 1400-2000z. Activity will be on 80/40/20/17 meters SSB, PSK31 and possibly CW. Certificate is available on request. QSL with SASE to KA3UNQ. Visit the Point Lookout Lighthouse's Web page at: http://www.ptlookoutlighthouse.com/

Operator Jim, KA3UNQ, will be active as a portable from some island in the IOTA NA-031 group (Aquidneck, Goat and Conanicut Islands), April 7-9th. He will also activate numerous Rhode Island lighthouses and U.S. Islands. Activity will be on 40/20/17 meters SSB. QSL with SASE to CBA.

ON50, BELGIUM. Look for special event station ON50EU to be active now through December 31st, to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Treaty of Rome (EU 50 years). QSL via ON7YX, by the Bureau or direct.

OX60, GREENLAND (NA-018). Look for special event station OX60AD to be active April 1-30th. Activity is to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the U.S. Air Force and the 56th anniversary of the Defense Treaty between the U.S. and Denmark for the Protection of Greenland. The "AD" suffix in OX60AD stands for "America-Denmark". Activity will be on 40/20/17/15/10 meters using CW, SSB, and RTTY. QSL via OX3UR.

PA50, NETHERLANDS. Members of the VERON-Leiden are now active as PA50EU until April 9th to celebrate the uniting of Europe from Rome. Activity will be on 80 meters through 70cm. QSL cards can be sent via the Dutch QSL Bureau (DQB).

PZ5A was operational this past weekend in the CQWW SSB WPX Contest. QSL DIRECT via PZ5RA (Ramon) as indicated on QRZ.COM. IMPORTANT NOTE: PZ5A was first activated in the 2003 CQWW SSB WPX Contest, and QSLs for that operation still go via W5UE (Randy). The second activation of PZ5A as a special callsign (2007 SSB WPX) goes via PZ5RA only DIRECT as indicated on QRZ.COM.

U.S. POSTAL RATES GOING UP! The cost of mailing a letter will go from 39 cents to 41 cents (first ounce) for letters on May 14th. Howvever, you will be able to lock in that price  no matter how rates rise in the future  by buying the new "forever" stamp. More details are available at: http://news.yahoo.com/s/ap/20070319/ap_on_go_ot/postal_rates

XT2C QSL STATUS. Bernard, F9IE, has reportedly put the first batch of QSL cards in the mail for direct requests.

YX0A, YX0LIX and YX0A/MM QSL STATUS. Steve, KU9C, reports: "Folks, After returning from a long business trip, I've now sized the YX0A/YX0LIX/YX0A-MM QSLs and can provide the following status:
- I believe all QSLs received at my QTH by mid-February will be in the mail back to you by April 9, 2007. The only exception I see are folks that have sent cards for several calls I manage in one envelope; these will be delayed and I cannot easly predict when I'll be done with those. By the fact that you included several in one envelope, I've made the assumption that you're not in a big hurry for these. If you've not received your card by mid-April, feel free to email me; at that time I'll be able to provide status..... 73 Steve KU9C"

RMD SPECIAL EVENT. Look for special event stations to be active from 1200z April 14th to 1200z April 15th to commemmorate Radio Maritime Day. ## 3397. Best antenna for a starter with an IC718 base rig?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.misc

I just bought an IC718 over the weekend, along with power supply, and antenna tuner. Now the only thing I have left to decide is what to use for an antenna. Basically, I plan to use the rig for DX'ing, ragchews, maybe (maybe) learning CW, mostly going to do SSB/voice. May at some point try out/experiment with some data modes (the rig will be near my computers afterall). So the question is, what is a good choice/source (hopefully high quality/relatively inexpensive) for antennas.

Thanks,
-Jeff

>I do feel threatend, I feel very threatend after you posted that you >are going to get me with so much malice.

then you lied when you said you did not feel threatened how I can not legal comit an actionable threat unless I have the ability to carry it out, given I lack any ability to find you at this point lacking you anem or call or even just what state of the unoi you live in (assuming of course you live in the USA

> I went and saw a physician >today through the emergency room and recieved medication to deal with >the stress and fear.

good for you to go and get some meds you have needed them for a long time, assuming as is rash that I beleive you but maybe you should thought of that before you expaned your stalking and harrassment to inculde interfering with my wifes abilty to to simply shop on line in peace, since I and she MUST assume you may have stolen more than we know of, prudence deamns we tkae precations

a rational man would have expected a response

> I demand that you stop stalking me.

I can't stalk you without even knowing your name

I wil continue to seek such data so I may press my complaint with the authorities and amazon or anyone else that will listen

> I demand
>that you Cease and Desist from any further threats against me.

you brought it by claiming you were going to harras me off the web like you did LLoyd Davies, indeed in the face of your threats to do that to me I have feel I might even have the right to use deadly force under Castle dotrine and recent changes in law here in Michigan, to maintain my freedom of action, if such could be effectively employed but you want to cease desist action against you You prety well have the power to stop me, would you like to know how?

it is simple you could mind you own bussness stop trying to interfere with mine and esp my wife's affairs

stop your hassment of me by means of USENET and your blogs so invasive cyber searches and efforts to spread sexaul inodeod about me my wife my familiy etc. the easiest thing for you to do is to drop the Dlloyd bit and create another secert ID and be carefull to not leave a any trail of bread crumbs. you would then prevent from being to threaten stalk or bother you in any way since I don't know who you are but I make no threats against you at all, I have made promises. I will seek to extract from you anything I can within the bounds of law. I will seek to make suffer to the extent it is within my power, subject ot the rule of law you not I have the power to disengage after all you can find I can't as easily find you honestly the advice I was given was a G5RV a basic anttena but serivable and as you find bands you realy like make proper anttenas for them

I have a G5RV sized for 160 thous 10 wa abale to get it up yet with the snow drifts but with the rain that might by morning I got a 20
Zepp becuase I could get it up even with the drifts

Expensive test gear?

Most useful is a magnifying glass to look for dry joints
I'd estimate that 90% of rigs given to me to repair are resolved by optical examination followed by solder re-flowing.

Soldering irons - to the bottom of one of your smaller bits, attach a chocolate box connector (& remove the plastic covering before it melts and fills the shack with toxic fumes!)

To the other half of the chocolate box connector, attach a range of obscure "bits" of metal that you've fashioned to deal with the various SMD shapes. Most Useful is an old Henley
"Solon" bit that has a slot filed in it to sit either side of an SMD R or C.

"SMD rework station"??? Fashion from bits left over from your Mecaano set - create an overarm with a spring loaded plunger to bear down onto the component to prevent tombstoning. Working end of plunger to be wooden, cocktail stick or chopstick serves nicely. Sacrificial 'cos slowly burns away. Only once had a problem with resins oozing out from wood.

Come on, chaps, this is simple mechanical bodging, a trivial matter for any self-respecting _REAL_ Radio Ham!
(Unless you fail to secure your PCB before rework, it ain't "Rock It" Science :-) )

"Only used for the one repair"??? Is that a CBer talking? Surely the essence of _REAL_ Ham Radio is that you're using this type of equipment all the time? (Not true for a CBer-masqueradingas-a-Radio-Ham, though!)

"today's microprocessor, DSP and firmware laiden transceivers"? All _REAL_ Radio Hams thrive on how thing work and how to modify them!

Indeed, if you're a _REAL_ Radio Ham, then your transceiver will have been designed, constructed and modified by you, so the " microprocessor, DSP and firmware" will be your design anyway and therefore not a problem.

"laiden"????? ITYM "laden". I'd advise you not to seek a job in education because of that!

I can best deal with the Childish Broadcast (CB) of
the rather silly and infantile child below by re-iterating one of the threads of the past few days....

"On a daily basis, this NG is a forum seemingly
for escapees from the school playground, with gratuitous and offensive personal remarks
originating from even those who have not

Au contraire! HOMEBREW is possibly the last

Therefore, rec.radio.amateur.homebrew is the

Putting this into its correct perspective, this came about
as the result of a malicious and perjurous complaint made by Brian Reay, G8OSN, M3OSN, and it is at Brian Reay's door
(and now also the RSCB's door) that any complaints of Bad PR must be laid.

Brian Reay subjected me and my close family members to
a campaign of harassment wherein he published repeated
racially-aggravated pornographic emails to these NG. He maintained this campaign over a period exceeding two years.
How his sick-minded obsession was ever relevant to Ham
Radio and to these NG, or how it was ever in response to anything that I had posted, has never been established.

Having put up with this for an extended peiod, I then discovered that not only was Brian Reay a schoolteacher, but he was publishing his sick racially-aggravated pornographic emails whilst under
training at a Girls' School.

I did no more than to assert the right of reply in defence when I asserted that no-one with such a sick-minded history of international publishing should be a school teacher UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES.

I hold to that view today.

Brian Reay's infantile response to having the tables turned on him
was to make a malicious and perjurous complaint to his fellow
w*nkmasons to allege that I was harassing him rather than the oher way around which is obvious from the Google archive to this day.

Indeed, in the months leading up to his orchestration of my arrest, Brian Reay chortled on several occasions that he was deliberately provoking me.

I've a feeling that some / most of the coarser new licencees will not have the staying power and we will not hear of them after a couple of years.

I disagree totally.

There is not now, nor there has there ever been, a need, desperate or otherwise, to get "new blood".

There are more licensees today than there were in the late 70's just prior to the influx of CB hobbyist operators.

If the "new blood" propaganda is allowed to develop, we will end up with a Mongolian Horde of non-techical turnip-brains, the perception of which by govt agencies will result in a faster regulation of the technical freedoms we enjoy.

It is far, far better to proceed with technical seed-corn and to retain our technical privileges, even with reduced numbers.

Why do people continue to propagate this myth? The Amateur Service is not dying, and never has been, and the numbers are not falling. Even the IARU quite clearly state this in their document "SPECTRUM REQUIREMENTS OF THE AMATEUR AND AMATEUR-SATELLITE SERVICES Revised August 2006" at http://www.iaru.org/ac-spec06.html

When referring to the 7MHz allocation, the IARU say "The amateur service requirement continues to be for at least a 300-kHz allocation. This requirement is even greater today than in the past, owing to the increasing number of amateur stations and the expanding diversity of modes of emission used in the amateur service". Note the phrase "increasing number of amateur stations"!

When referring to the 14MHz allocation, the IARU say "The growth of the amateur service and its heavy dependence on this band for international communication....". Note the phrase "the growth of the amateur service".

This doesn't sound like anything that is dying.

The only people who try to propagate the myth that the Amateur Service is dying are those who have a financial interest (national societies through membership numbers and equipment manufacturers/retailers). Don't listen to them. Instead, turn on your radio and listen to that instead.... you will find it is busier than ever!

The latest data available on the IARU website at http://www.iaru.org/statsum00.html (bottom of the page) shows the number of licensed amateurs from 1965-2000. In 2000 the number was at the highest ever, so where is the evidence to back up the 'dying' theory? However, the number of licensed amateurs who were also members of their national society was at the LOWEST number ever (19.6% in 2000 compared to 38.6% in 1965).

There are too many people with no real interest in amateur radio who are continually pushing to have the standards lowered so that they can gain financially from it. They do this by lying through their teeth that amateur radio is dying and use scare tactics that we will lose allocations. It is time to put a stop to this!

I think the reason many don't progress is because there is no need or incentive for them to do so.

Get an M3 and you have access to the HF bands which is what most want.

Many ignore power levels so even extra power allowed is not an incentive to progress.

The amount of AM being used on 80m is also a very encouraging sign; seemingly contacts can be had at almost any time, and on any phone-section frequency. Special nets need not be used to get contacts, if the onservations of my tuning around are typical.

Jeff,

A little more information would be helpful. How much area do you have available for antennas? Any available tall trees or structures that would be useful as supports and how tall are they?. What is the direction orietation for the area, such as facing north/south or east/west. Any power lines close by or other problems that may cause safety concerns?

No power lines....I'm planning to put it in my backyard (well, the backyard of the house we're renting). No really tall trees, unfortunately...the tallest is maybe 20ft. We have a garage with an attached office (a room approx 15' x 10', single story with all of my computer stuff in it, connected to ethernet, satellite TV, AC, and phone lines)...
Orientation is mostly open to northern sky. No other real supports in backyard (mostly dead grass and a couple small fruit trees)..but there is probably plenty of room for antennas...also we have a trellace (sp?) over the garage with some kind of vine-line flowering plant growing (not sure if that's useful, but I used it to hide some of the ethernet/satellite TV coax runs).

Thanx,
-Jeff

Does the installation need to be stealthy and is there any issues with installing semi temporary supports, such as a poles or a mast.

Where do these occur? I'd like to listen in- or maybe even join in.

I do join an AM net on 160m from time to time (school holidays, it may get noticed if I set up a shack in the back of the class room- although I know of one teacher who did just that!).

This probably wouldn't be a problem....I doubt my neighbors would care and it's an old enough development that there might not be strict CCR's (hopefully anyhow).
I probably can't build anything too high though maybe 20ft or so..

Try 3615 kc/s (UK) and 3705 kc/s (Dutch); both are monitored even when no activity is apparent. Also look at 3610 - 3640 kc/s.

Other UK nets can be heard in the 3660 - 3690 kc/s section; but AM can pop up anywhere in the phone section, as people do not necessarily limit themselves to the regular nets.

The sound of AM rigs is much different to those of SSB equipment even when the latter operate a form of AM, and military and homebrew gear have a cachet that modern radios just can't recreate.

Although before your time, it's rather like the situation with 2m after the war - Monday night was Activity Night, to encourage activity and increase band usage. That became a success, necessitating abandonment of the regional sections of the band in favour of a national system.

I'm sure ex-SOE and certain other people could advise you on stealth

Will do, in fact, the 756 will be on 3615 the rest of the evening.

Oh I know, we've a few "AM addicts" around here- and more power to their elbow (or perhaps PA).

There is a thought. We've not got permanent antennas at school yet (although permission has been obtained and a local has donated materials and effort for erection there of). At the moment, I use a simple indoor beast for 2m practice QSOs and an HF inverted V I "throw up" on an ex-MOD mast I have.

The permanent set up isn't in my classroom- the Technology department have provided the shack space and the roof space for the antennas. The maths building is a new(ish) specialist block that isn't was tall as the Tech block- although it probably is better placed for HF antennas.

The pupils respond well to the hobby- I stir some "real world" problems to maths lessons (eg formulae transposition at the lower end and some of the higher maths at A level). I've plans for some "code breaking" lessons for extra maths later this year, they will cover the maths in error correcting codes etc.

Based on what you have said with the height restrictions, lack of antenna supports, and if your budget will allow, I recommend one of the loaded vertical antenna from Hy-Gain or Cushcraft, like the R8 or DX-88, mounted on a short mast (15' - 20') feet off the ground. The overall antenna height will exceed you specification but usually verticals are not that problematic to install and aren't that noticable. Furthermore, as a second/alternate antenna, I would install the longest loop antenna I could get up. If you can put up four vertical supports 20 feet long in your backyard, use 2x4 wood construction, and then run the wire around the circumference of the yard, I've done this using #14 copperweld (sold by the wireman out of South Carolina) you can feed this antenna with ladder line, or coax with a balun, through your tuner.

Better yet, if you have an auto wire tuner like the ones made by SGC, feed it with coax and mount it right at the antenna feed point, works real well in this application.

Nevertheless, check around on the net for the exact diminsions of the largest wire loop antenna, which is resonant on an amateur band, that will fit on your lot.

Although recommended by another poster, I would not use the G5RV at this height because at the height restriction you mentioned, the radiated energy would just go straight up.

yes you are stalking in thread after Dloyd and in creating Blog and attacking my wife's account at amazon

whats next ? our ecomerance where my wife makes her living? my ebay account or my paypal account

your stolen phone number no longer works what next you going back calling eveyone in the UP named moragn and tell them they are realted to a child molestor.

what is next cyber stalker? just like to plan my week is all you take part in such stalking and wonder why I want you dead without even knowing your name?

You have the abilty to effectively stop me from taking anyaction aganist as in effective as any such action are presently, you operate from behind you wall of proxy and falsenames etc. I do not I live in open and I stand therfore behind my words and actions.

It is not a crime to want to kill you and your cadre of stalkers, this a fortunenate for the liberals that so desperately seem to want the president dead. One can even express such desires openly.

If one asumes you are truely just a fool that has blunged into the 10 years effort of Robeson, Wismen et all to stalk and harrass then prehaps you should take a lession that you need to know you enemy before you enage him this advice "know your eneimy know yourself and Victory shal be thine" is from SinTzu the art of war (don't have date this was written handy)

Under the Recently enacted "Castle Doctrine Laws of the state of Michigan I or anyone may use deadly force in defense of oneself in excerising one right to be where one lawfully has right to be. As I understand the matter that would certainly include the USENET. I further opine that I may most any method short of deadly force to defend that right. This I have done. this I will continue I am prepared to submit to due process of law.

I further opine that under the legal theory I must retreat where possible to avoid a confrontation poir to using deadly that prevailed in Mich till the new laws were enacted, well given that I can't move out of his way even by retreating completely off line, this does not stop his contiued ferreting out of info about me anf my wife and myfamily and spreading his effort to alrger and larger realms, thus I conclude if it were found that I was subject to some other juristction
where retreat if possible was the rule since I can not reat or avoid Dloyd Effort against my wifes account my phone number and internet access that retreat is not an issue and if threatened I may peotencaily use deadly force against "dloyd"

"dloyd" OTOH can reatreat and avoid me entirely since he has sheileded his existance to point I can't find who he is, he can simply shut down and leave and thus he can disengag e where the Honest man can't

Real Compaq Pro Signa Server. THIS IS a oldly Pentium 75 running NT 4 Server.

I was told these vintage machines were good for a Linux reload and to run them for IRLP.

9 gb SCSI drive. 64 mb or ram.

The computer is on Long Island. I am willing to trade for something I can use.

Maybe a kick around 2 mtr HT. something I can throw in my back pocket.

agreed but what is your point? I do not intentionaly disruprt USENET some disruption does occour as an incidental result result of my exercising legitmate self defence

you are arguing that if a Ham unintentional does interfer with another ham that is automaticaly jamming such dispurtion as a ocours mby action is inecedental to the primary goal

Dloyd has admited he has delieberatly provoked the response the intentional disruptor of the NG is therefore Dloyd who on his blog threatens further action if I do not exceed to his demands

No I make no such admission nor do I demned you disapear I point out it is one way you could choose to deal with the results of YOUR crimies

> I have a right to post here like you do.

I agree

you don't have the right however to demand I limit my rights to post or suffer further cyber attack on my wife or myself

I have to right to reply to any post I choose the problem s you refuse to accept that right and seem to suffer from the delsuion you have the right to control who responds to your post on USENET

your point being? after I only cause some dispurtion as a by product ofdefending myself I have dhad this dicussion before with Hughesnet your post and ldoyd and owgers sock have the sole of dispurting and harrassment of the poster they violate the ToS that is why you have to hide so well

at least one of woger has lost thier ISP for such actions I never have, indeed I am franlky amazed I never have. I am amazed that Hughes

I have never demanded that Dloyd cease posting although I have sugested that deep sixing the dloyd moniker would be an option

I have never dispurted the right of the person behind the dloyd nick to post. I never will what I dispute and what he threatens further action based on is his demand I stop comenting on his posts or else.

that is the problem dloyd demands I submit to blackmail. he insists my right to post is lessoer in some fashion to his own and he threatens further criminal action against me and my wife if I don't submit to such

Intentional or not, facts are facts.
Unintentionally running a stop sign doesn't mean you're innocent.
Unintentionally disrupting the newsgroups likewise doesn't mean you are not doing so.
1500 posts in a month say otherwise.

I need to grow up when you attack my wife compromise out security mange to time this atack to met with a series of phone to a phone number that was in the data at the site, and at shortly before our credit card company find the card used at the site you admit to lashing out at and you dare say I need to grow it is highly probalble you are responsble for these attacks or at least in league with whoever is resposble

you also make such an attack and then threaten if I don't do as YOU say you will make even larger attack

you do this and claim I need to grow up when your "alshing out " was over the fact I choose to coment on your USENET postsings?

you need to wake up and smell what you are shoveling

what propose? why my own of course.

when I have such data I will then decide how to use it, untill I know what the answer to that question is I can not rule out anything of course. If you happened to a certain person of my aquaintance living a certain state that being Texas why I might well show and inflict bodily harm upon you, it would be quite legal if I can show to a jury
"it needed to be done" Texas law still a bit ofthe wild west in, otherwise who and where you lived would determine my legal and practical options

itsn't that obvious

Thanks for the warning, but how exactly is telling anyone how tall the trees in my backyard are revealing personal data? It's not like 20 ft trees tells anyone my address, or is likely to prevent me from running for public office.
Then again,
it generally is a good rule of thumb to remain more or less anonymous.

It's getting down to the wire, but I think you have a real chance of reaching your 2,000 post goal for March. Keep on truckin' baby.

Mark really has been foaming at the mouth these past few days. I think he is in his manic cycle at the moment, and the lithium dose needs adjusted higher.

Nope it isn't. And is Avagaye a telling nickname since Gavi(n) is as gay as you are, or is it pig latin since neither you nor your "wife" are very creative.

Oh, so you are playing (well, maybe not "playing" at being stupid in reality) the typical illiterate, unread Middle ages citizen to the hilt?

You lack the brains to do anything but whine, queer.
No, stupid, you are the one making all those atacking blogs. You are the one spamming and attacking and stalking others. It won't be happening from you for very much longer.

Wrong, you are the stalker, you freak. You are so mentally ill you think others are stalking you when they make fun of you.

Ladeeees and Gentlemen! I looks like tonight's posting frenzy is off to a wonderful start! Mark Morgan is leading the pack as he dashes toward the 2,000 post goal. Will he make it? A few more days will tell, but the stands are going wild in anticipation!

The spam fans love him. He's their favorite, and they're pulling for him to win. If he should win, there won't be a dry eye in the house.

Go, Mark, go!!!

Apparently, after posting your wedding registry, you are the one know knowing whether they are coming or going, spammer. Of course, you had a big headstart in that from day one.

Oh, Mark know this full well. He's lying, of course, and we are all aware of that.
One thing that wedding want list was lacking though...an oat bag for Gav.

The "white spaces" announcement was a PR squib.

The FCC has been asking the electronics industry for interest in various uses of UNUSED TV channel space in localities for at least two years. Any use of unoccupied local TV channels does NOT directly affect US amateur radio.

Access BPL however DOES affect US amateur radio in the amateur HF bands. However, the FCC cannot directly ban any form of WIRED connections except in the case of telephone equipment or cable TV services. All that the FCC could legally do on BPL is to better define the quantities of permissible RF radiation from BPL systems. The FCC has done that.

N.B.: Some radio services have been allocated bandspace left vacant by the cutback of UHF TV channel allotments several years ago and there have been auctions for prospective users of the "700 MHz band." Once the changeover from analog TV to digital TV is complete, probably in 2009, there will be slightly more bandspace open. None of that will immediately affect amateur radio.

better define? has it in your view defend an acceptable defination

I don't have a firm opinion I like the IDEA of BPL but I am concerned the execution is well not up the hype and lets leave it at that and living where I do I don't hear it myself so i sit listen and read the prudent and logical thing to do is to make you pay as as high a this hopefully will serve as a deterrant of contiuing to go after the # 3639. FAQ - - "What is Ham radio"?

A necessary preface.....

(It is becoming increasingly difficult to fly the flag for decency and for civilised behaviour in Radio Hammery.
However, there still exists the fundamental basis on which Ham Radio is based, and that will never die.

This FAQ ("What Is Ham Radio?") will
be regularly published and will not be shouted or bullied down. It is important that those of a technical bent, who are the natural seed-corn of Radio Hammery and who gravitate towards us to be the real novitiate, can still find us, (and know that we are still here), their fellows.)

-----ooooo-----

So,.....What is Ham Radio?

Ham Radio is a technical pursuit for those who are interested in the science of radio wave
propagation and who are also interested in the way that their radios function. It has a long-standing tradition of providing a source of engineers who
are born naturals.

Ham Radio awakens in its aficionados a whole-life
fascination with all things technical and gives
an all-abiding curiosity to improve one's scientific knowledge. It's a great swimming pool, please dive in!

This excitement causes a wish to share the experience
with ones fellow man, and shows itself in the gentlemanly traditions of Ham Radio.

Radio Hams are in a unique privileged position in that they can construct and operate their own equipment! No-one else has this privilege. Users, such as broadcasters,
the po lice and armed farces, CBers and mobile phone users have to purchase ready-made gear. Manufacturers are not licensed to operate their gear. Radio Hams
are qualified to design, build and then operate their own pieces of equipment. They do this
with gusto, and also repair and modify their own equipment. This is a privilege well worth the effort
to gain, and one to be jealously guarded.

The excitement that drives a Radio Ham starts with relatively simple technologies at first, perhaps making
his own Wimshurst machine and primary cells. Small pieces
of test equipment follow, possibly multimeters and signal generators. Then comes receivers and transmitters. It is with the latter that communication with like-minded technically motivated people takes off. The scope for technical development grows with the years and now encompasses DSP
and DDS. There is also a great deal
of excitement in the areas of computer programming to
be learnt and applied.

The technical excitement motivates Radio Hams to compete with each other to determine who has designed and manufactured
the best-quality station. This competitiveness is found in DXing, competitions and fox-hunts.

-----OOOOO----

However, beware! A Ham Radio licence is such a desirable thing to have that there are large numbers of people who wish to be thought of
as Radio Hams when, in fact, they are nothing of the kind! Usually such people are a variation of the CB Radio hobbyist; they buy their radios off the shelf and send them back to be repaired; they are not interested in technical discussion
and sneer at those who are; they have no idea how
their radios work inside and have no wish to find out;
they are free with rather silly personal insults.

-----ooooo-----

One infallible way to disambiguate the CB Radio Hobbyist
from the _REAL_ Radio Ham is to solicit their view of the difference between CB Radio and Ham Radio. A Radio Ham will perceive Ham Radio to be a technical pursuit and will perceive CB Radio to be a social communications facility
no different in essence to a land-line telephone or a GSM mobile in the hands of a 6-year-old. Thus a Radio Ham could also hold a CB licence safe in the knowledge that such a licence says no more about him than having a land-line telephone, whilst continuing to regard Ham Radio as a separate technical pursuit.

A CB Radio hobbyist, on the other hand, sees no difference between a Ham Radio licence and a CB Radio licence. To him, they are sisters-under-the-skin. Wrongly, the CB Radio Hobbyist then
tries to classify himself as the equal of the Radio
Ham when, in fact, he is nothing of the kind.

Ham Radio is not CB Radio and has no common ground with it!
Ham Radio is _THE_ technical pursuit for gentlemen; CB Radio

is the name for the operating hobby for those who buy their rigs and equipment off the shelf.

-----ooooo-----

If you are the sort of person who is motivated by a technical interest in how things work; if you took apart malfunctioning clocks, toasters and the like and put them right despite never having seen them working, then a Ham Radio licence is your traditional route! There has never been a shortage of such people, and those who gravitate towards such an interest have always been welcomed into our shacks and their interests fostered. There is not today, nor has there ever been, a need to go out and encourage and press children, children who have never expressed an interest in Ham Radio, to come into our shacks. Such an activity should cause eyebrows to be raised - what normal well-adjusted adults seek the social acquaintance of children?!

-----ooooo-----

Please remember that this FAQ is a _POSITIVE EXHORTATION_ to you to exert yourselves to join our fraternity!

The Chassel PD probably has a special records management system (usually called a 'circular file' in other jurisdictions) where they file each of Mark's reports, given he's there on an almost hourly basis filing some complaint of a 'death threat', 'staking', and other miscellaneous crimes against his perpetual-victim status. No doubt this alternate RMS has an entirely different numbering system.

Now if that isn't a contradiction! I think the point is all were welcomed, because they were QUALIFIED. Now we have no-coders who haven't the vaguest idea of ohm's law, claiming the privileges that were once earned by study and effort.
Lazy slobs like that were not, and never should be, "welcomed."

Looks like Mark held true to his threat to get even with Dloyd. He has begun by stealing Dloyd's blog.

http://www.markmorgansucks.blogspot.com/

I guess it is wrong, wrong, wrong, to use easily found information about HIM in these groups, and accusing others of theft comes easily to the hypocrite. But when it comes to stealing from another...well, Mark clearly has a double standard.

You are a Cretin, Mark.

By the way. I DID listen to 28.470 just to see if anybody would attempt to get a round table going. As I said, Ten Meters is rather dead all across the band, so even if a few Techs tried, it is likely they met with dead air. I tried three seperate antennas, one of which is vertically polarized (a ground mount Butternut) and I heard nil on all.

I guess they gave a party and nobody came.

I guess I'll busy myself with cleaning my AR-15. I used to have a chamber brush around here somewhere...gotta find that. I'm also going to take a couple of the 30 rnd magazines apart (Colt) and clean the springs and wipe the gunk out of them. I've got a few of those new followers to install, too.

Geesh. If Hillary could only see me now! She'd probably force me to grind the bayonet lug off and confiscate my "more than ten" round magazines.

Hello all,

I am in the process of setting up a new radio room. The room is on the ground floor. My plan is to install an ABS access panel on the inside of the outer wall and perhaps one of those waterproof ABS plastic boxes outside (maybe 12" X 14"). House is wood frame with plywood/vinyl outer walls. Installation is going to be long term. Needs wil probably be around 8-10 runs of coax (LMR 400 or 600) and maybe a run or two of 600 ohm twin-lead. Any suggestions or better ideas???

Not sure how you propose to do that. Will this be a sort of a junction box?

My shack is in the basement, so I had to deal with getting cables in/out in the least obtrusive manner possible. My poured concrete wall was a hefty impediment.
I ended up using a concrete hole-borer to drill a three inch hole through the wall itself, a dusty task to say the least. I then inserted a piece of three inch PVC pipe through the wall and put a 45 degree down angled sleeve on the outside for rain runoff. I can now run my feedlines, 450 Ohm twinlead, and other cables through it.
Yes...there is always the worry about mice finding their way in via the pipe, and I took a page from another Ham who packed his feed-through ABS pipe with soapy Brillo Pads. He said that the steel wool hurts the mice when they chew on it and the embedded soap repels them, and so far, so good.
I might mention that my XYL was less than happy about the arrangement, but that goes with the territory.

As an aside. I 've always read that twin lead should be kept a minimum of two inches from other cables and other metallic objects, such as aluminum siding. In my case, I've found that my twin lead, though packed tightly with at least seven coaxial cables exiting this ABS pipe, works just fine and there are NO adverse effects to any of my rigs. Of course I run but 100 watts, so I cannot, by experience, say that this arrangement would be OK were I to run an amp.

Just my experience.

Name and call withheld.

My. What a peaceful group this has turned out to be with the absence of Mark.
This quietude is so nice that I hesitate to post more than once an hour for trepidation that Mark will, like a Ghost Who Won't Go Away, return to haunt us yet again.

I, for one, enjoy his absence. If he stays away, and I doubt he will, we can discuss radio issues uninterrupted...at least for the time being.

This is like a radio honeymoon! Mark is gone. Let's celebrate!!!

There are 10" X 12" plastic access panels for drywall that I can put on the inside, (finished basement). I plan on cutting a 10" x 12" hole in the outer plywood wall and then placing an outdoor utility box with a removable front cover made for electrical over the hole, of course the back of the box wil be opened up to allow access.

Yes, I know what you mean. I installed a stove in my basement and had to core drill through the concrete side wall (8" thick), very messy.

That is where I have my concerns, running ladder line thorough this type of arrangement at legal limit.

Luckily no concerns with the XYL, she tolerates my hobbies fairly well.

I can pass that test any day of the week WITH the cw.

Lardass the sweatlord admits he's too stupid to pass the written test. It was never about the CW for bloated Davies.

MUAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!
